Draper, Salt Lake Co., Feb. 27.—The 6th annual old folks day was fittingly celebrated at Draper. All the aged, with Father Osborne, 94 years of age, it the head of the list, gathered at the ward assembly rooms at 10 a.m., the aged and feeble being conveyed in carriages. Before the program was ren-dered the guests spent a pleasant hour renewing acquaintances and exchang-ing experiences of early days. The morning program was informal and consisted of the anthem, "Sweet is the Work,' by the Draper choir, after in-vocation by Elder Heber A. Smith, Bishop W. B. Enniss bid all a hearty welcome, with words of good cheer to the oracle Didney C. B. and were also presented. At the door the aged, Elder C. R. Savage of the Central old folks committee, was on hand and entertained the guests pleas-antly with comic readings, etc. Elder William Foster, leader of the original old folks' choir, entertained with ap-propriate songs. * Remarks were made by Pioneer Joshua Terry. Elder George Margetts of Salt Lake made a hit by dinging, "The Blow That Almost Killed Father" and "I Can't Change It." During the intermission in the proguests and visitors were gram served an excellent dinner which was prepared by a committee of the sisters. The afternoon passed in a most interesting "set" program, arranged by program committee. Included was the "Old Folks' Magazine," which was received with great laughter and reflects much credit upon the editors. In the evening a party was given in the Rideout Opera House,
