MARRIAGE BY PRIVATE CONTRACT.

IT is well known that people recognized under the term of "free-lovers" do not believe in marriage by State or ecclesiastical laws, but hold that it should be considered as merely a private contract between the man and woman concerned. The Boston Herald of January Sist states that Mary Florence Hull, daughter of Moses Hull, an avowed free-lovist, who demands that all marriage laws shall be repealed, and that parties may be allowed to marry and divorce themselves under a general law of contracts, has contracted) a "marriage" of that private contract sort with Horace Alvin Johnson, a leather store clerk, under the firm ame of Hull & Johnson, from which it may be presumed that Mary is the best business man of the firm, yet the two members declare that they are very happy and contented.
