

ANOTHER FARGE IN POLICE COURT

Court and Youthful Mr. Rogers Kind to Pat Moran but Not To Poor Woman.

SOME BRANDS OF JUSTICE.

Supt. McGowan Appears for Champion Payer and is Listened to Respectfully—Worse than Pickpocket.

P. J. Moran, the man who paves the streets of Salt Lake, was a defendant in the police court this morning, his name being sandwiched in between two just plain drunks on the docket. The health board has forgotten that Pat Moran made a world's record in repaving Main street, that he is a wonder in his own line and has had something to do with the intercepting sewer. Maybe, according to the board or its emissaries, Pat has removed lots of debris, gravel and dirt from the streets of Salt Lake, but all the board or its emissaries know is that Pat failed to remove such stuff from his premises at 87 south third east street.

Unavoidably, of course, the defendant had to be absent from the city, but seeing that it was Pat an exception was made in his case. Usually either the defendant must be present in person, represented by counsel, or forfeit a bail paid by him, but instead it was his handy man Supt. McGowan, who while he has charge and supervision of Pat's numerous and varied city deals yet "can't read," who talked to the court. And McGowan's happy, persuasive way seemed to have its effect. Only a couple of days ago, Mrs. C. Gerogino, an elderly widow who, because she had been confined to her bed for a day or two and without help, had let her garage, perhaps a bucketful, remain on the premises for a day or two, was not given the chance even to explain, but was held off until Aug. 21, when she will be tried for the offense.

Mr. McGowan, for that is his official city street contractor, was given all the time he wanted to explain, which he used up in explaining to the court how Mr. Moran had been using manure and other material in the premises mentioned, and then as a concession he was given until Aug. 18 in which to enter a plea of guilty or not guilty. By that time, it is expected, under the rush measures of the term, the offending "fillet" will be removed and the plea of not guilty made.

VAG WORSE THAN THIEF. Crawling into a barn for a night's sleep is a heinous offense, compared with pickpocketing. James Kelly, arrested several days ago as a suspected pickpocket, and with a known past history, had to get out of jail on Monday morning. Francisco Ferdinand, a witless Italian, sought the way to a barn at 412 south First West street last night to find a bed in the hay, being for gentleness and not of a thieving nature. For that he has to leave Salt Lake by tomorrow morning.

KIND MR. ROGERS. After keeping a defendant in jail for a week awaiting trial because the prosecution had failed to obtain its witnesses, Asst. City Atty. Rogers, after stating that the earliest date for the trial now was Aug. 30, made a concession which permitted the defendant's liberty. B. W. Chon and S. Lee, two Japs, were arrested on the charge of having stolen $32 from Peter Glavin. Chon was able to put up $50 cash ball required, but Lee, less fortunate, had been confined in jail for over a week. When Prosecutor Rogers, after numerous delays on account of failure to have witnesses, called the case on Aug. 20. Atty. Judge Dana T. Smith installed that in that event some provision be made for giving the defendant his liberty. Mr. Rogers recommended to the court that the present bail of $50 in the case of Chon be allowed to cover Lee as well.

BLACKBURN FINED $10. After all the evidence was in today in the case of the city against Samuel Blackburn and his son Roy, a lad of about 12 or 13 years, both charged with having assaulted H. G. Meyer, foreman of the steel construction on the McIntyre building, the court found the defendants guilty. Blackburn, father, was fined $10, and the boy let go with an admonition. Meyer accused the father and son of having tried to throw him down the elevator shaft in the new building from the fourth story, because he had discharged the father. The father and son, with their witnesses, asserted that Meyer had been the aggressor and that they were only expressing the bloodthirsty intention of hurling somebody down the shaft. The court accepted the prosecution's version, in view of the testimony, and found the defendants guilty.

WAITER WAS A GRAFTER. A Ship Cafe waiter did some grafting last evening, with an eye to turning a dishonest penny. He overcharged a patron $1.75, making out a notorious check for the overcharge, while he turned in a regular check with the right amount. The patron paid the bill, and all, and then made a complaint with the proprietor. The latter refunded the amount, but called up the waiter, and after giving him a vocal scolding that he will remember for some time, paid him out of the $1.75, and then threw him out of the cafe.

G. A. R. VETERAN ROBBED OF WALLET

Oklahoma City Visitor Relieved of His Pocketbook—He Gets His Ticket Back.

A G. A. R. veteran named Wiss, from Oklahoma City, was robbed of $50 yesterday afternoon by a couple of clever pickpockets who had scraped an acquaintance with the aged man. Wiss had a room on Main street below the postoffice above Viner's saloon. During the afternoon he met two men who claimed they came from Oklahoma City. They suggested that the three go to Saltair, which they did. Wiss was advised to check his valuables before going into the lake but when he went for his wallet found it had been stolen and the contents were missing. The wallet contained $50 in currency, three New York drafts for $20 each and a ticket for Los Angeles.

FALSE BURGLAR ALARM. Squad of Bluecoats Answer Hurry Call from Kearns Residence.

A frightened housemaid, waking up in the terror of seeing lights burning in the house, took a squad of policemen in a hurry to the residence of former Senator Thos. Kearns, 603 east South Temple street, shortly after 3 o'clock this morning. Upon their arrival at the house the police found the place well lighted, a badly-scared girl, but no evidence of burglars.

TRIALS OF HOTEL MEN. A roundup of the hotels today found the clerks and managers muttering softly to themselves and breathing softly, sentiments not found in good books, and almost at the point of tearing their hair. The reasons for the grip lie in the fact that many delegates who had telegraphed orders for reservation of rooms are coming in ahead of time and demanding accommodations.

OGDEN MEAT IS EMBALMED. The state chemist is having a great time with embalmed meats. From samples sent in from Ogden yesterday, were found to be liberally doped with the preservative, and several more received today, were found in a similar condition. Samples of meats sent in by the state food inspectors from various sections of the state have also been found preserved with antiseptics.

MRS. LYDIA ANN A WELLS.

Appreciation of Virtues of Departed Woman by One Who Knew Her.

The death of Mrs. Wells takes from us a noble woman, a heroic pioneer and a faithful Latter-day Saint. One of the finest natures and rich in all that tends to make higher and purer life. Born of goodly parents in the atmosphere of a New England Puritan home, and early taught habits of thrift, industry and economy, she was well fitted for the position she was to occupy in later years as the wife of Daniel H. Wells.

Her life has been a busy one in public life as well as in domestic life. She was 17 years counselor to President Rachel Grant in the Thirteenth ward Relief society, President of the Primary association of that ward five years, and counselor to Mrs. Ellen Clawson of Salt Lake stake until the division of the stake. She was called as a worker in the Salt Lake stake among the first and continued her duties there until her recent illness. It is impossible to tell in a few words of the beautiful life and manifold labors of this illustrious woman. Volumes might be written but her memory will live forever in the hearts of her friends and her children and children's children will rise up and call her blessed. Mrs. Wells was in all respects equal to the places she occupied in her home as a wife and mother; she was a pattern of excellence, and her children and just a woman who stood for the best, the highest and noblest at all times.

G. A. R. MAN LIKES THE STATE.

"I have frequently heard that Utah was not awake to its possibilities, and that its industries were decadent, and a G. A. R. visitor to the city yesterday. I expected to find the people indifferent to their advantages but I am most agreeably surprised to find the modern spirit of the people. You have a wonderful state here; your mining camps are great wealth producers, yet your state is not alone a mining state. The agriculture, the stock raising, the fruit raising and the farming and fruit-raising and I think I know what I am talking about when I say that your soil is the finest for apples I ever saw, and Utah farmers will soon find out that apples will not yearly $500 or more per acre.
