

Correspondence.

OGDEN, July 30th, 1899.

Editor Evening News.—The trip between Salt Lake City and this point reveals to the traveler the wideness of a bountiful harvest being rapidly gathered. Though the grasshoppers some little time ago were more plentiful in the neighborhood of Bountiful and Centerville, their rapacity in that locality does not seem to have resulted in as much destruction as usually attends their visitations.

One thing is very observable in traveling by stage between the points named: A person can make the distance now much oftener without his ears being flooded with such a continuous stream of profane and blasphemous language as was formerly heard. The reason for this agreeable change is unquestionably found in the different class of people who are now more frequently met with on the road. The nature of the travel is changed. Rough, reckless, loud-mouthed, vulgar men are not so numerous. The eastern and western visitors who make up a large portion of the travel, are generally men of refinement and culture; their society is extremely pleasant when compared with that of a numerous class that were at one time nearly always on the wing on this road, while passing between various points of the mining regions. A great number, too, of the citizens of the Territory avail themselves of the stage facilities and prefer them to the more tedious locomotion of their ordinary wagons. But the change is manifest and agreeable.

Utah is a lively place! Fate would it that your correspondent should spend a few hours there a day or two ago, and it seemed as if the principal occupation of the inhabitants was swapping leisure with an occasional forage into the nearest saloon "for their bitters." Possibly they may be making money, and if they are they would unquestionably amass a rapid fortune by patenting the discovery by which they do so. When a stage arrives or a train starts within hearing, the "city" turns out en masse, and the good natured souls who compose it, and who while away their time pretending to play at merchandizing, range themselves—wall flower fashion, and prepare for a steady gaze at the arrivals.

The art of running trains off the railroad track is being perfected on the Union Pacific. The genius who discovered, after three attempts and as many failures, that he could not run his train past another train meeting him on a single track, must have infused a portion of his experimenting desires into the minds of some of the U. P. engine drivers; for they seem to be trying how often and in how many places they can run off the track without making themselves subjects for a coroner's inquest. From the success attending their efforts in this direction it is presumable they must be more than satisfied. On two consecutive days of this week they accomplished this feat in the most masterly and scientific manner, a distance east of this point.

Ogden has lost the Daily Telegraph, and will immediately rejoice in a broad sheet of its own, to be owned and conducted by gentlemen of this city. It is probable the new paper will bear the once-talked-of title, The Ogden Times. I understand the type, press and other material are on hand; and you will most likely have a copy of your table at an early date with a "please X" on it. The paper will be mainly devoted to the interests of Ogden and surrounding country, and will aim to be a journal useful and interesting—valuable to all. It can scarcely fail to secure a large circulation.

The pile-driver is at work at the south of Hotel street, for the Utah Central bridge over the Weber, and work on the grade is progressing. Everybody is wishing the line were finished; and that there will be a very large passenger traffic on it, is beyond the shadow of a doubt, as well as a heavy freight traffic. General C. W. West and lady returned from California in the beginning of the week. He enjoyed the trip and looks the better for it.

A large class has been formed here for instruction in elocution, under the direction of Geo. W. Ciprico, Esq., and is attended, I believe, by all the former members of the Dramatic Association of this city, with some others. They are preparing for future and increased usefulness in connection with the drama.

Yours,

URSA.

ARTIFICIAL ICE MANUFACTURE.—The Evening Telegram says that the ice factory at New Orleans, situated in one of the elevators, is a great success. It consists of six retorts of a chemical freezing mixture. From these six retorts six pipes descend to six high chests, which chests in turn radiate severally off into four compartments. In each compartment are long, thin, tin cases, seven on one side and seven on the other. This making by all the rules of arithmetic a total of fifty-six cases in a box, and there being four boxes to a chest, and six chests to a factory, it follows that at full blast this Southern ice factory can turn out 1344 cakes of ice, eighteen inches long, twelve broad, and two thick, at the completion of each process. The ice is much harder than that frozen naturally, and lasts much longer. The factory is a joint stock enterprise, and the property is exceedingly lucrative.

"We don't sell spirits," said a law-evading beer-seller, "we will give you a glass; and then, if you want a biscuit, we'll sell it to you for three ha'pence." The "good creature" was handed down, a stiff glass swallowed, and the landlord handed his customer a biscuit. "Well, no, I think not," said the customer, "you sell 'em too dear. I can get lots of 'em five or six for a penny anywhere else."
