Being part of our religious creed and having been so held by us for many years, it would be a suicidal and having been so held the suicidal many years, it would be a suicidal many years, it would be a suicidant policy now to reject it. But this pre-supposes that it has become an essential element in our religion, which is the fact, but which is also denied generally by our opponents in order to establish their assertion that it is criminal. Polygamy is that it is criminal. Polygamy is made criminal by legislative enact- 10. A new motor will soon be dis ment and judicial opinion. But this writer who seems BY TELEGRAPH so anxious to stir up the Government to improper action, acknowledges that it is a constituent of our religion necessary to its very existence, and yet he belabors the Government for not proceeding against it. However, we need not expect sound reason or even common consistency in an anti-"Mormon" newspaper article.

Taking the definition of constitutional religious liberty promulgated by the Supreme Court of the United States, with its singular limitations and peculiar arguments, we have left to us, the glorious privilege of thinking and believing and of expressing our thoughts and beliefs to others, who also are accorded freedom enough to become converts to our viewa. With our faith and proselytism, then, the Government has noth-ing whatever to do. "Mormon" Elders may preach polygamy and dering themselves amenable to the law. Those who become converts to "Mormonism" also have just as much right to come out into the West and settle on the public do-main, under the land laws of the United States, as the votaries of any sect or creed on the continent, or the disciples of atheism, social-inc. cellbary or free love. ism, celibacy or free love.
