Two Men Offer Prisoner Two Hundred and Fifty Dollars To Kill Them.

MAY BE BROWN'S MURDERERS

Placed on Trail of the Dynamite. Traced Them to a Buggy. Reward of $11,000.

Portland, Or., Oct. 3.—A special dispatch from Baker City to the Evening Telegram says: With an exhibition of audacity and contempt for the authorities almost unparalleled, two men, who, in all probability, blew ex-Sheriff Harvey K. Brown into eternity, last night climbed the western stockade in the rear of the county jail and offered Dr. Le Roy Fuller, the sole prisoner, $250 to kill Harry Draper's bloodhounds. The men came prepared with poison, and on Fuller's refusal to act for them said they would blow up the jail. The bloodhounds were placed on the track of the criminals and traced them to a certain point where they entered a buggy. Last night's performance proved the men were in the city yesterday, as indicated by the action of the dogs, which followed the trail easily to a certain point and then lost it. Harry Draper yesterday that the men who committed the murder of Brown were in the crowd which followed the dogs in their work.

$11,000 REWARD.
Baker City, Oct. 3.—Other than the attempt to poison Harry Draper's bloodhounds, there were no developments in the Brown assassination case today. The people of the town appear as if stunned by the outrage and the subject still occupies practically everyone's attention, to the exclusion even of business. A message was received today from Gov. George E. Chamberlain that offered in behalf of the state of Oregon $2,000 reward for the apprehension and conviction of the murderers, and Portland friends of Mr. Brown have offered $1,000 more. These amounts, with the reward offered by Baker county, total $11,000. The funeral of the victim occurred this afternoon, hundreds being unable to gain admittance to the church. The funeral cortege reached from the church doors to Mount Hope cemetery, a distance of a mile and a half.

HIGHEST HONORS GRANTED SECY. ROOT.

Mexico City, Oct. 3.—Secy. of State Elihu Root was today the recipient of the highest honors which can be granted to a foreign visitor of the City of Mexico. He was invited to be present at a special meeting of the chamber of deputies, convened especially to show the appreciation of the law-makers of this republic for the distinguished guest of the nation. The entire membership was present. After routine business was transacted, the president of the council, Emanuel Callero delivered a speech welcoming Mr. Root in the name of the legislature of Mexico. Mr. Root in reply, said, in part: "I am doubly sensible of the high honor which you have conferred upon me by this audience today. I am sensible also of the mark of friendship to my country involved in this reception of one of her officers. In this distinguished manner by the popular law-making body of this great republic I sincerely hope not merely that I personally may never show myself to have been unworthy of your consideration, but that my country may forever, in its attitude and conduct towards Mexico, justify your kindness. You will have gathered from my words which your president has been good enough to quote in the admirable and graceful address which he has just made, that I am one of those who believe that the old days when nations sought to enrich themselves by taking away the wealth of others by force, ought to pass and are passing."

Immediately after the session in the chamber of deputies Mr. Root went to the building of the Mexican academy of jurisprudence and legislation, where another honor was conferred on him, that of membership in that society. For this ceremony Mr. Root drove to the castle of Chapultepec, to prepare for the banquet tendered him by the City of Mexico at the municipal palace, at 8 o'clock. ON THE MISSISSIPPI.

President Enjoys a Leisurely Run Down the Great River.

New Madrid, Mo., Oct. 2.—The president spent the entire afternoon in a leisurely run down the Mississippi, now broadened by the addition of the waters of the Ohio, from Cairo to New Madrid. His boat, the Mississippi, slowed up, but the delay was very brief. This city is a place of historic interest, and not the least interesting feature of its history is found in the association with it of the name of Nicholas Roosevelt, a great uncle of the president, who stopped here in 1811, when he brought down the first steamboat that ever ran upon the waters of either the Mississippi or Ohio rivers. The run down the river was devoid of interest for the most part. The lower river banks were at places fringed with people, but they were generally too far removed from the boats to permit any demonstration except the waving of handkerchiefs. The fact that there have been several efforts by congressmen, governors and others to discuss the third term question with the president, since the beginning of the tour became known today, but the president has discouraged all such attempts. He was told of at least two delegations that would be instructed for him regardless of his attitude.

The president and delegations to the Lake Water convention accompanying him are scheduled to arrive at Memphis, Tenn., tomorrow afternoon about 4 o'clock, and the president will make his final set speech of his trip at that place.

ENOUGH EVIDENCE TO CONVICT S. P. OF REBATING

San Francisco, Oct. 3.—John H. Martin, one of the attorneys representing the federal government in the investigation being conducted in this city by Interstate Commerce Commissioner Franklin K. Lane, into the subject of secret railroad rebates and other abuses, said today that the officials have sufficient evidence to convict officials of the Southern Pacific Railroad company of such violations in at least 50 cases. It is understood the matter will be referred to the Washington authorities very shortly and that United States Dist. Atty. Devlin will be asked to present the facts to the federal grand jury.

Mr. Martin called attention to today's testimony of J. C. Struble, assistant freight agent of the Southern Pacific, who showed the discrimination and rebates in favor of the larger shippers. "When it comes to favoring the large shippers and discriminating against the smaller shippers, countless abuses are shown in California than anywhere else in the United States," said Mr. Martin. "I do not see how it is possible for the smaller concerns to exist at all under the circumstances."
