LOCAL NEWS.

FROM TUESDAY'S DAILY, APRIL 13

Fine Paid.—Last evening, after Judge Zane had refused the writ of habeas corpus asked for, discharging John Connelly from imprisonment because of his inability to pay the fine of $300 and costs imposed on him, the amount was paid for Mr. Connelly, and he was discharged.

Another Arrest.—To-day Ludwig Berg, a dentist, of the 11th Ward, was arrested on the prevailing charge of cohabiting with his wives, contrary to the provisions of the Edmunds law. He was taken before Commissioner McKay, and placed under $1,000 bonds to await the grand jury's action; the witnesses also gave $200 bail each.

New Mines.—Parties from Sanpete give us accounts of new discoveries in what are known as the West Mountains there, the "finds" being veins carrying gold and silver. A number of men are on the ground, some working locations already made, others prospecting. The good people of that county look forward to a condition of things in which eggs will command more than six cents a dozen and butter more than fifteen cents a pound at an early date, and it would certainly be a very illiberal person that would not wish them a realization of their hopes in that respect at least.

Work on the Temple.—The work of setting stone on the walls of the Temple in this city was commenced for the season yesterday morning, the workmen being engaged on the towers on the west end of the building, which are not so high as those on the east. There is now sufficient rock on hand, already dressed, to carry the west end up about 20 feet higher and the east towers about 10 feet higher, and a force of about 80 stone-cutters are regularly engaged in preparing more blocks. The walls of the towers which at the height already attained are five to six feet in thickness, will, after being built a little higher, be reduced about one-half in thickness, when, of course, a great deal less stone will be required, but as the work will then be more complicated than now, it may not proceed much faster than at present.

A Base Wretch.—Last night a person who gave his name as D. K. Cohen was arrested by the police, charged with an attempt to entice some little girls to go off somewhere with him. The occurrence took place in the Fifth Ward, where Cohen met two little girls, six or seven years of age, and endeavored to persuade them to go with him to get some watercress, offering them money if they would do so. The little ones were frightened, and a young girl about fourteen years of age went over to them to lead them home, when the brute renewed his advances to her. Complaint was made at the City Hall, and after considerable search, Cohen was traced to a house at the corner of Third South and Second West streets which has long borne a bad reputation, and was there found lying on the floor, half drunk, his companions being two or three drunken women. He was tried in the police court to-day, and fined $75, which, for want of funds, he will work out at the gravel bank.

Fined For Disturbing the Peace.—Alex. Shannon was arrested last night at the instance of his wife, and was tried to-day in the justice's court for disturbing the peace of Mrs. Shannon, by using boisterous, abusive and threatening language toward her. Shannon is the man who was robbed last fall by one Joseph Larsen, who is now serving a term of imprisonment for the crime. At that time Mr. and Mrs. Shannon were separated, and Larsen was living with the woman. Shannon said his object in visiting his wife's home was to see their little boy, whom he wanted to take up town with him. This the mother objected to, and a row ensued. The owner of the house, a Mrs. Evans, apparently about 75 years of age, and very feeble, was called as a witness to the disturbance, and declared that she had never heard so much bad language and swearing in the house since her husband died, some ten years ago. Shannon was adjudged guilty of the offense, and fined $25, which he will work out.

Connubial.—The residence of Mr. and Mrs. G. Meyer, of this City, was the scene on the 11th inst., of a happy event—the wedding in marriage of Mr. S. J. Friedman to Miss Lucia Meyer. The ceremony was performed by Mr. Fred. H. Auerbach, uncle of the bride, in accordance with the ancient Jewish rites.

None but the relatives of the bride and bridegroom were present. A company of twenty-five ladies and gentlemen sat down to the sumptuous repast prepared for the occasion, the tables as well as the parlors being decorated with flowers and evergreens in abundance.

Mr. Friedman is the leading dry goods merchant of Hailey, Idaho, and the bride is the accomplished niece of the Auerbach Brothers, who, with her parents, Mr. and Mrs. G. Meyer, came here from Germany about a year and a half since.

The presents were numerous and valuable, consisting of silver service and beautiful ornaments.

Lost Boys.—Samuel Wolf, a native of Switzerland, who lives near the Wasatch Smelter, South Cottonwood, is very anxious to learn the whereabouts of his two boys, Alfred and Samuel, aged respectively twelve and ten years, who left home a week ago yesterday in consequence of the harsh treatment of their stepmother, and have not since been seen by him. He is willing, if he can find them, to have them adopted by some worthy families rather than have them subjected to any unkindness at home hereafter, but not knowing where they are, he is full of apprehension for their fate.

It is probable that the little fellows have found refuge at some house in the neighborhood, and it is to be hoped that some kind persons who know of their whereabouts will take an interest in procuring them a good permanent home and relieving the anxiety of their father by informing him as to where they are.

Alfred, the older one, is light-complexioned, and has a lump on one side of his face, caused by his jaw having been broken.

Samuel is dark complexioned, and has dark eyes.

Wholesale Millinery.—A friend writes to us from the country on the subject of patronizing our friends, and makes the following suggestions:

"Why not work up a wholesale millinery establishment in Salt Lake City? The sisters who are in the business complain that they cannot procure millinery goods at Z. C. M. I. or other 'Mormon' institutions—that is a full assortment—but are obliged to go to other stores to purchase a full line. This was the case with my wife the other day. After she returned I gave her a 'blowing up' for trading with such persons, and she put in the foregoing plea."

We were not aware but what the "Mormon" merchants of this city carried a sufficiently varied assortment of goods in this line to satisfy the wants of wholesale as well as retail customers, but if it be true that they do not, this reminder is quite timely, inasmuch as our sisters generally regard millinery goods as a necessity and must purchase them somewhere. Probably this hint will be sufficient to induce some of our friends to invest more extensively in this line and then advertise their goods, that it may be known by the Saints throughout the Territory, and especially by dealers, where they can make their purchasers.

Pleasant Grove Items.—The many friends of Brother Samuel Radnall, of Pleasant Grove, who, it will be remembered, underwent a surgical operation some time ago for the amputation of his leg, will be pleased to learn that he is progressing nicely towards recovery. The surgeons, Dr. Wadsworth, of Lehi, and his assistant in the matter, Dr. Addeleman, of American Fork, are to be congratulated on the successful treatment which the patient has received at their hands.

The good people of Pleasant Grove are ornamenting their cemetery. Last season they fenced the ground and planted quite a number of trees. This spring much more ornamenting has been done, which enhances the appearance of the sacred spot.

Tree planting is being done to quite an extent at the settlement also. Some of the nursery men of that place have given shade trees to their neighbors, all the charge made being that the persons to whom they were given promise to plant them. The brothers William and Joseph Wadley have been very generous in this respect.

Mrs. R. E. Driggs has established a millinery business at Pleasant Grove, and the Deseret Telegraph office will be transferred to her shop, North Main Street.

A Double Bereavement.—A heavy affliction has befallen the family of Brother George Hilton, of the First Ward, in the death of two of their number within two days. The first, a little boy two years and four months of age, died on Saturday from what appeared to be an attack of croup, and the other, a little girl of rather more than four years of age, died this morning apparently from inflammation of the bowels. Possibly that treacherous disease, diphtheria, may have had something to do with causing their death, as they appeared to have a slight touch of it a couple of weeks ago, at which time the quarantine physician erected a yellow flag in front of the residence, which, however, he removed two days subsequently, as he considered that all danger was past. It is well known that relapses from this terrible malady frequently occur very suddenly, and in many cases prove fatal, and lest it should be from this cause that the deaths mentioned have occurred, care will be taken to avoid exposing the bodies and to prevent the possibility of spreading the contagion.

The funeral of the two children will take place to-day, but it will not be a public one.

The bereaved parents have the sympathy of all their acquaintances.

THE GRAND INQUISITORS.

THE PANEL COMPLETED—TEN BELONG TO IRELAND'S "IMPARTIAL" CLASS.

The work of impaneling a grand jury for the April, 1886, term of the Third District Court was concluded to-day. Ten names were reported on the open venire, as returned by Marshal Ireland, who selects such "impartial" jurors. Two of those on the regular list accepted yesterday, were Oliver C. Lockhart, county surveyor, and Otis L. Brown, road supervisor-Summit County. At their own request these gentlemen were excused, as they were county officers. The clerk then called the following names from the open venire:

M. Lannan, Harry Haynes,
R. A. Keyes, George Barr,
F. E. Schoppe, Hermann Hill,
H. Denhalter, S. C. Ewing,
J. McVicker, W. F. Colton.

M. Lannan, brother of the Tribune manager, had nobody to run his meat market is he was called on the jury, and wanted to be excused. Mr. Dickson said the jury would not be wanted for more than two or three days this week, and then not for two weeks. Mr. Lannan was retained.

Harry Haynes was postmaster at Murray, Salt Lake County, and was excused.

The remaining gentlemen were examined as to their statutory qualifications and their non-belief in the practice of plural marriage, and were accepted.

This made fourteen, so another venire was issued for two more names, returnable at 2 p. m.

At that hour Charles A. Tewksbury, of Park City, was called and accepted.

The court then appointed Mr. Tewksbury as foreman, and the grand jury now stands as follows:

Charles A. Tewksbury, Foreman.
Jas. G. Thompson, F. E. Schoppe,
Isaac L. Elkington, H. Denhalter,
James McKnight, J. McVicker,
Isaac Post, Geo. Barr,
Geo. W. Carter, Hermann Hill,
M. Lannan, S. C. Ewing,
R. A. Keyes, W. F. Colton.

The Court then charged the jury as to their duty to investigate all criminal offenses against the laws of the United States and of the Territory; if they knew of any violations of law they should bring such to the notice of the jury, and have them investigated; some of the witnesses before them might be actuated by improper motives, or be unwilling to tell all the facts, and in these investigations great care should be used; the various offenses were defined in the laws, and if there was sufficient proof of guilt to authorize conviction, the jury should indict, and not otherwise; their investigations should be impartial, and all ill-will or malice should be laid aside; they should rely only on legal evidence; some crimes in this Territory were common, and a portion of the people believed they had a right to commit them, but this should not influence the jury; they had no discretion in the matter; their only motive should be to ascertain the truth, and they should not take into consideration any feelings or fears of any threats to boycott or anything of that kind; if any would be so influenced they would be excused from the jury; their duty was plain and they had to walk in that path; their foreman would swear witnesses, and a clerk should be appointed to keep an accurate record of the substance of all testimony; the District Attorney would be with them to examine witnesses; the jury should keep secret all that occurred in the grand jury room, and should give no information to outside parties; the law imposed a heavy penalty for revealing the secrets of the jury room;

if any instructions were needed, the Court would give them.
The grand jury then retired to their room.

FROM WEDNESDAY'S DAILY, APRIL 14

Information Wanted.—George Greeves, of No. 1 Shaw Street, off Radcliffe Street, Oldham, England, desires to learn the whereabouts of and to hear from his son, Heber Taylor Greeves, who formerly resided in Bountiful, and who, when last heard from, stated he was removing southward 300 miles.

A New Paper.—John N. Dunning has commenced the publication of a newspaper in the capital of Garfield County, with the title of the Panguitch Weekly Register, which he invites the News by postal card to exchange with. Not having seen a copy of the Register, we are unable to say anything as to its merits, but with the hope that it may prove of mutual advantage, we respond to the invitation by placing the name of the new aspirant for journalistic honors upon our exchange list.

"Mormons" Sentenced at Provo.—Three Latter-day Saints have received sentence from Judge Powers for refusing to renounce a principle of their religion. Nephi J. Bates, of Mouree, Sevier County, was sentenced to imprisonment in the penitentiary for three months and to pay a fine of $1 and costs of suit. The judgment in the case of William Grant, of American Fork, Utah County, was four months in the penitentiary, and Bishop Wm. Bromley, of American Fork, who was convicted on two counts in one indictment, was given ten months' imprisonment and fined $300. He took an appeal to the Territorial Supreme Court, and was released on $7,000 bail. Brothers Bates and Grant will be brought to this city on this evening's Utah Central train.

High Water.—The present storm in this valley has opened a prospect for floods in some localities which brings anything but comfort to those whose property is subject to injury from the breaking of canals or the overflowing of the Jordan River. The heavy rain followed by snow and then rain again, has melted much of the snow on the hills, and the quantity of water flowing from the mountains has largely increased during the past two days. Last night it was found necessary to turn off the water from the 20th Ward ditch, and this morning all the ditches in that part of town were filled to overflowing, causing much inconvenience in the lower portion of the city all of the canals are full of water, and unless something can be done to strengthen their banks, a large area will probably be inundated, as has been the case several times in the past.

Court Proceedings.—In the Third District Court to-day, in the case of Henry Carrigan vs. R. G. McNiece et al., the demurrer to the complaint, argued and submitted yesterday, was overruled. A motion to strike out certain portions of the complaint was allowed in part.

In the case of the United States vs. F. A. Nims et al., the demurrer of the defendants was sustained.

The demurrer to the complaint of Matthew Orr vs. J. T. Rich et al., was argued and submitted.

In the suit of Geo. F. Culmer vs. A. McB. Timoney, a writ of attachment was issued, directed to the Sheriff of Beaver County, with authority to serve and execute.

In the cases of M. A. Harker vs. John W. Harker, and John M. Hurst vs. George Edgington, demurrers to the complaints were argued and submitted.

A motion of defendants for a new trial in the suit of B. B. Bitner vs. the Utah Central Railway Company, was argued before the court.

Ashley Fork.—Brother C. C. Bartlett, writing from Ashley Fork, Uintah County, says:

"The winter here has been very long and farming did not commence until the last days of March. There has been a good deal of sickness during the winter—a very serious cough, resembling the whooping cough—from which several little ones have died, but there is a slight abatement here. Everything is quiet here at present. Many of our people are trying to do better than they have in the past, and some improvements are going on.

"A conference was held here April 6th and 7th, presided over by Presiding Bishop J. Hatch and Counselors. The local and general authorities of the Church were sustained unanimously and the reports from the various wards showed the organizations therein to be generally in a flourishing condition; especially was this the case with the Sunday schools, which, as represented, have an average attendance of 440 officers and pupils. Instructional remarks were listened to from the leading Elders. The conference was held in the large and commodious school and meeting house of the Third Ward, and was adjourned until July 10th and 11th.

A Successful Student.—We were much pleased to meet and greet Brother L. W. Snow, son of Apostle Lorenzo Snow and grandson of Apostle Wilford Woodruff, to-day, just after his arrival home from a two years' absence in the East. From being a student at the Deseret University in this city, he became a successful school teacher, and was so engaged for some time in this city. Having decided to adopt the medical profession he left his home here in August, 1884, and proceeded to Philadelphia where he entered upon a course of studies in the Jefferson Medical College, to qualify himself therefor. He devoted himself very closely to study during his absence, not even taking the usual vacation of four and a half months allowed to students during the summer season, but spending the time instead in taking a number of private courses and practicing in the Philadelphia Charity Hospital, and was successful in graduating with honors on the 1st of the present month.

He was the only student from Utah at that college, but he had for a room mate and companion when not engaged in study Brother A. M. Musser, Jr., who was pursuing the study of dentistry in the Pennsylvania Dental College, where he graduated last month. The latter is now engaged in practicing dentistry at Ocean Grove, and will not return home until autumn.

The young brethren while staying in Philadelphia attended the meetings of the little Branch of the Church there, composed of Saints living in that city and Camden, numbering about fifteen in all, who are presided over by Elder Samuel Harrison. Quite a number of new converts were added while they were there, but about as many emigrated to Utah, so that the branch remains about the same. The meetings last year were held in Camden, but this year they are held in Philadelphia.

Since Brother Snow graduated he has visited the medical colleges of New York and Boston, with a view to gaining all the additional information he could to aid him in his chosen profession, and returns home feeling well repaid for his absence in that which he has learned, but glad to be once more in the valleys of the mountains, and appreciating his Utah home and the religion he has been trained in all the more for the experience he has gained, and the contrast he is now able to draw between things here and elsewhere. He is yet undecided as to whether he will locate here or in Brigham City for the practice of his profession.

Arbor Day.—Governor E. A. Stevenson, of Idaho, following the example established in many of the States and Territories, has issued a proclamation to the people of that Territory, in which he says:

"In recognition of the value of trees and forest to every land; and of the special lack thereof in portions of this Territory; and wishing to popularize the habit of devoting some one designated day every year, to sowing seeds, or cuttings of desirable trees, or shrubs, or transplanting the young growth of the same; and in the hope that many will accept a designation of a day for all to devote to that object; and that the practice may become a day of general habit, in accordance with a growing custom in other States and Territories. I hereby appoint Thursday, the 29th day of April, as Arbor Day in Idaho. Particularly I request the co-operation of directors and teachers of public schools, and boards of management of our public institutions in the work—not only for the sake of improving the grounds under their control; but that they may thus contribute to the adoption of a most advantageous practice."

The same necessity may possibly not exist in this Territory as in Idaho, or some other places where an "arbor day" has been established by proclamation, for calling the attention of the public to the necessity of planting fruit or shade trees, as the people of Utah are somewhat noted for the interest they take in the propagation of these adjuncts to the attractiveness and comfort of our mountain homes. However, a great improvement in the matter of tree culture might be made here, and without waiting for any gubernatorial reminder of our duty in this respect we would suggest to our readers to make a general and extensive exertion during the present month to plant out more trees and not confine their efforts merely to providing fruit and shade, but to set out forest trees, and that may not be specially needed for other purposes. Many persons have small patches of land that are not available for cultivation, but upon which, if they were to take the trouble to plant trees thereon, they might raise fence poles or fire wood to good advantage.

If the children of a family or a day or Sunday school were encouraged to devote a day or two, now or during the summer season to care for them, they would doubtless take pleasure in doing so and add thereby to the wealth and beauty of their home and the Territory. The plan is altogether worth trying in a family and public capacity.
