ODDER OCCURRENCES.

More Victims for the Penitentiary—Indefinite Quashed—Horrible Infanticide.

JANUARY 8, 1887.

Saturday afternoon I went to the City Hall, where a

MOST HORRIBLE SIGHT

met my gaze. On the floor in an upper room opposite the marshal's office, lay the mutilated body of a female infant, right with frost and in a fearful condition. The first discovery of this horror was by Joseph Flygare, a youth about sixteen years of age. He lives on the west side of South Street, near Leather Park Square. He was standing near the house, when he saw a dog approaching from the northwest entrance of the square with something in its mouth, which he thought was a piece of raw meat.

The animal came up to the youth, who was then shocked by seeing it lay at his feet the body of the infant. He immediately went to the door and called the elder brother of the terrible discovery.

He had passed away between the time of the discovery and the time when the body was found. The officer accounted by his informant and officer James M. Brown, went to the place where the body lay, and took charge of it. He was then informed by the dog, then went into the square, and the animal soon arrived at a spot where it was evident that it had been concealed.

and from which it had been exhumed by the canine. The grave in which the infant was buried was just large enough to hold the body, and was only about eight inches deep.

A woman's shoe, No. 5, and some other articles were in the hole. At 3 o'clock a jury consisting of Joseph

Hall, Wm. G. Chapple and James M.

Brown, in company with the coroner examined the body as far as was practicable. The body was then placed in a coffin, and the body was interred in the city cemetery.

There was a wound over the right margin of the right side; one over the right eyebrow; one between the 5th and 6th ribs; one over the right hip; one over the right arm; one over the right leg; one over the right foot; one over the right hand; one over the DATE OF THE SAVIOR'S BIRTH AND CRUCIFIXION.

SALT LAKE CITY, January 8th, 1887.

Editorial Note.

I see in last night's EVENING NEWS,

Hans Jorgensen of Pleasant Grove asks a question about the date of the Savior's birth. Brother Jorgensen, in the discourse, delivered by him on the 10th of April, 1870, in the Tabernacle, says:

"We find in the Book of Mormon that the angel
