

WILL BE A RIVAL TO THE HILL LINE

New 'Round the World Transportation Line Being Arranged.

RAILROADS AND STEAMERS.

An Explanation for the Recent Advances in Certain Stocks on Wall Street—Railroad News.

A special to the Spokane Spokesman-Review from New York, says: A new 'round the world transportation route is being arranged to compete with the Hill-Morgan combination. This route will consist of the Pennsylvania and Atchafalpa railroads and the American-Hammond-American steamships, which will operate ships from Montauk Point, N. Y., and San Diego, Cal., in connection with these two roads, giving them access to all important European ports and also direct connection to the Orient.

This deal explains the recent heavy buying of Atchafalpa stock and also the advance of Hammond-American shares in Berlin. The buying of the latter was for the Americans who comprise the same clique that did the buying of the Atchafalpa. As the deal is yet in its infancy, it is difficult to get details.

As a result of recent conferences between Morgan, Hill and Hammond, plans for a closer alliance among the western roads will soon be put into effect. These provide for the distribution of traffic, maintenance of rates, and operation and co-operation in management.

The Union Pacific is expected to soon take over the large block of Northern Pacific stock held by the latter's last spring. The final financing of the Northern Pacific purchase would probably include valuable rights on Union Pacific stock. There are about $60,000,000 of Union Pacific convertible bonds which could be used for this purpose.

WRECKS ON SHORT LINE.

General Railroad News Gathered by "News" Pocatello Correspondent.

Pocatello, Idaho, Aug. 23.—A head-on collision between passenger train No. 10, south-bound, and freight train No. 21, occurred at Onyx, twenty miles south of here on the Idaho track of the U. & N., and O. S. L. railroad at about 3:15 today. So far as is known only the engines are damaged, the application of the brakes saved both trains from a awful disaster. The freight engine overlooked the meeting point, by his order, this being his first run since being promoted to engineer. A derelict and a force of men left here at once for the wreck. The freight engine, which was carrying a load of lumber, was wrecked yesterday afternoon. Another small wreck near Lima, Montana, is reported to have occurred during the day, damaging rolling stock only, as far as is known. Trains No. 1 and 7 were delayed nearly six hours at McCammon on account of the wreck of Nos. 10 and 21. The flagman on duty having to walk three miles back to McCammon to wire here for wrecking crew.

It is reported that the Short Line will reduce its rate on mileage to 4 cents per mile after January 1, 1902, which will be uniform over its whole system as now prevails in Utah.

The Short Line shops are expected to be built here this summer. During the past month engine No. 501 and last have been broken up here, having served their usefulness. No. 103 is undergoing the same fate. Mr. James Walton succeeds Mr. Charles Ray as head inspector.

Mr. William Price leaves for Blackfoot with a complete outfit for light repair work on the Blackfoot-Houston branch. He is not to be confounded with his namesake of this place, formerly Canada.

Shops at Pocatello.

Pocatello, Tribune: General Superintendent E. E. Calvin, of the Short Line, spent a few hours in the city today and said: "The Short Line shops will be built in Pocatello, the Salt Lake newspapers to the contrary notwithstanding." Continuing, Mr. Calvin said that the shops built at Pocatello would be on the plans already prepared and approved, if not better.

SPIKE AND RAIL.

Auditor Ernest Young of the Herriman roads has left for Omaha. Assistant General Freight Agent Reeves of the Oregon Short Line returned from the Denver meeting this morning.

The fourteenth infantry leave San Francisco for the Rio Grande this evening. They will pass through Utah over the Rio Grande Western.

Nothing official has yet been given out regarding the resignation of President Hayes or the appointment of his successor.

The employees of the Rio Grande Western general freight department are busy engaged in packing up the records for shipment to Denver.

Traffic Manager Schumacher of the Oregon Short Line is expected to arrive in Salt Lake and enter upon his new duties next week.

The Harriman roads are in no hurry to develop the oil fields of Wyoming and Idaho. At the present time they are hauling hundreds of tank cars belonging to the Standard oil company annually. Consequently the Union Pacific and Oregon Short Line are not anxious to set up as rivals in business, and as the majority of the oil lands are situated on Union Pacific lands the situation is interesting.

THE SMALL of the Back

That is where some people feel weak all the time.

They are likely to be depondent and it is not unusual to find them borrowing trouble as if they hadn't enough already.

The fact is their kidneys are weak, either naturally or because of sickness, exposure, worry or other influences.

"I am thankful to say," writes J. L. Campbell, of Sycamore, Ill., "that Hood's Sarsaparilla has cured me. For many years I was troubled with backache. At times I was so bad I had to be helped from the bed or chair. I am now well and strong and free from pain." What this great medicine did for him it has done for others.

The growing popularity of the organ recitals at the Tabernacle was well shown this morning when the entire gallery was filled with spectators. A conservative estimate of the attendance puts the number at 2,000 to 2,200. There was the most genuine pleasure over the program rendered by Prof. McClellan and immense applause followed each rendition. Miss Schulerberg of Chicago, the soloist of the occasional, showed that she is the possessor of a good voice, but that she is hardly accustomed to sing in so large an auditorium.

On last Thursday evening a number of young men interested in minstrelsy met at the Rock Island rail office, and after a temporary management had been installed and some preliminary matters arranged, adjourned until Monday evening the 26th, at which time they will meet at the 1145 East Sixth South street. No name has as yet been given the organization, but this matter will come up at that meeting.

The company will comprise the best local talent to be had, and the twenty-five members, who are all prominent here, propose to give such a performance as will reflect credit upon themselves. Their opening dates here, while not yet definitely settled, it has been proposed shall occur in October some time and the proceeds are to be devoted to some charitable institute or society.

THE MELODIES OF WALES.

A Musical Subject Treated by a Master and Illustrated by Touching Scenes.

Last evening a brilliant audience met in the Assembly hall, attracted by the fame of Prof. Wm. ApMaddoc of Chicago, both as a vocalist and a lecturer. It was a large gathering of musical people, many of them natives of Wales of Welsh descent. They listened with rapt attention for nearly two hours, to the delightful dissertation on the beauty of the melodies that were brought into life on the strings of the triple harp. The lecturer went back through the centuries to a period nearly a hundred years before the Christian Era, and presented to the audience melodies produced in those early ages which are at least equal, and in some ways superior, to the productions of the present day. The speaker showed that Welsh bard-harpists had discovered the present diatonic scale, long before it had been set down by the great musicians of a more modern period. Prof. ApMaddoc possesses a sonorous and pleasing high baritone voice, and in the songs which he sang by way of illustration of his subject, the triple harp, which he brought forth every note with sweet expression and distinct articulation, so as to convey accurately the exquisite melody and the appropriate words composed thereto. That the musical audience present, both the lecturer and the vocal entertainment, was evident from the frequent applause which followed each of the gentlemen's efforts. A most delightful evening was spent and everybody was pleased at the promise of the professor that he would visit Salt Lake City again before very long.

The eminent lecturer was introduced by ex-Governor A. L. Thomas, president of the Cantabile society, in a very happy and appropriate speech, which was heartily applauded.

The following synopsis of the program will show the nature and scope of the work:

1.—Talk—The Bard-harpists as teachers and composers—Their mastery of the present diatonic scale—The story of 1200 beautiful melodies, etc.

Melodies sung—"Oh! Lays of my Land"—Ninth century.

"The Harp of Wales"—Ninth century.

2.—Talk—Where so much excellence in musical form—Modern music has been brought forth of it—The triple-strunged Welsh harp, and the crwth, a crude kind of violin.

Melodies sung—"A Gentle Maid," 1220.

"She was Mine," tenth century.

The first was composed by the harpist of Prince Llewelyn, and is a perfect melody.

3.—Talk—Melodies composed after battle—The defeat of Meddies of victory—The proper balance of the major and minor modes—What makes the scale major or minor?

Melodies sung—"Rhuddlan's March," sixteenth century.

"Black Sir Harry," sixteenth century.

The first was composed on the battlefield after Caradoc's defeat by Offa of Mercia. The second depicts the age of chivalry.

4.—Talk—Only 16 out of 1200 of the great Welsh melodies are in popular use—Many are waiting for lyric poets to write the words and songs, and the other two exquisites of great antiquity, and of excellent form were sung by the professor: "The yellow Cream," twelfth century; "Hob a Derri," (North Wales) first and second centuries. The last is a Druidic air, depicting love-making in the groves which were the temples of the gods.

5.—Talk—Melodies depicting incidents of disasters, and superstition—The first a Welsh lored, the second, though crude, yet showing the tendency toward good form—The third a masterful modern song using a tragic Welsh story, "Deep, O Deep the Sea," fifth century. "Disputing Couple (Humorous), century before Christ. "Des," a story of the fourteenth century.

6.—Talk—Another version of the Druidic lay—The solo and chorus form used in Wales centuries before the Christian Era, discovered harmonious choruses.

"Hob a Derri Dando" (South Wales) first century. "The Black Monk," 1602.

The last song a fitting close to a program of such unique, instructive and entrancing interest. By request, Mr. ApMaddoc sang with dramatic effect, "The Sword of Bunker Hill."

The accompanist of the evening was Prof. Giles, and with such a program, it is safe to say that the art of accompaning was put to its test. Better showing of the beautiful organ could not be made, than in the many colors of these old melodies. Whatever emotional moments were felt by the speaker or singer, the accompanist was of the mind and emotion. This is an art that is difficult, and Prof. Giles is master of the same.

Yesterday morning Mr. ApMaddoc was tendered a complimentary recital at the Tabernacle by Prof. McClellan, B. S. Goddard assisting. Mr. ApMaddoc being experienced a critic, his verdict will be interesting. He was very enthusiastic over Mr. Goddard's rendition of "Hosannah" and said he possessed a voice under magnificent control. He thought his attack of the throat, which had been the cause of the organ he could hardly say sufficient in praise. His language was that the imitations of a male chorus were the most perfect he had ever heard, while the imitations of the violin tones reminded him of the Theodore Thomas orchestra. His expression was that the old round melody tones of the organ had been retained in its fullness to his ear, and his opinion generally was that the organ in point of mechanism was a marvel.

LAURA MASON FREE.

"The Woman in Black" Will Return to Oklahoma.

Laura M. Mason, alias Noma Calahang, the "woman in black," was allowed to go today on her own recognizance. Her father, A. W. Roberts, an Oklahoma farmer, and Eva Roberts, her sister, a school teacher, appeared in court and promised to take Laura home with them if the court would allow her to go. Attorney Van Cott and Prosecutor Elchorn both counseled the release of Laura. Mr. Van Cott said that she was not naturally vicious. She had married in Denver ten or twelve years ago and her husband had turned out to be a scoundrel who beat her and abused her in his drunken rants. Two or three years ago he became deranged and died. Since then his widow had conducted a lodging house. The circumstances of the case pointed about equally toward guilt and innocence, and there was very little likelihood that a jury could be found to convict the woman.

SUITE OVER CONTRACT.

B. F. Saunders Sues A. Peterson Today in Regard to Livestock Deal.

B. F. Saunders has commenced suit against A. Peterson to recover $572.50 with interest and costs for alleged failure to live up to a contract made between Saunders and Peterson, whereby Peterson agreed to deliver to Saunders 200 head of cattle, 30 broke saddle horses and 400 head of cattle, and on which plaintiff claims that he paid $1,200 on Aug. 9, 1900. According to the complaint the horses and cattle were to be delivered at Soap Creek on the V. T. ranch in Cochise county, A. T. By June 3, 1901, Peterson had delivered 219 head of cattle, 15 head of saddle horses, and refused to deliver any more, and Saunders has brought this action under a clause added to the contract on April 29th last, by the terms of which Peterson agreed to pay him $2.50 for each head of cattle not delivered.

Plaintiff is represented by Peirce, Critchlow & Barrett.

ROASTED THE POLICE.

Timmony Does It and Gives Stiff Sentence to Rooming House Keeper.

This afternoon Judge Timmony denied the motion of Attorney Fred McGurkin to dismiss the case against W. H. Smith, charged with conducting a house of prostitution on Commercial street. It is the place wherein two young girls were arrested some days ago by the police. Mr. McGurkin then placed the defendant on the stand, and he testified that he had been conducting a "rooming house" for fifteen months, in the building referred to, and denied that he had any women of ill fame in the building.

On cross-examination he admitted that a girl in his mother's place down stairs boarded at times in his part of the building.

The court said that under the defendant's own testimony he was guilty, that he was sentenced to three months in the city jail at hard labor, and that he was to be released on parole.

The court then proceeded to take the police over the coals. Said he: "The wonder is that such a place as that is allowed to exist for months and months without the police making any notice of it. It requires something unusual like the arrest of these young girls to stir them up to a realization of their duty."

He then sentenced Smith to three months in the city jail at hard labor, and that he was to be released on parole.

Zon Graham and Harry Peterson, who took the girls to the place, entered pleas of guilty to the charge of resorting to the place, and Attorney J. M. Hamilton made a statement in their behalf. The court held that the case was nothing out of the ordinary and he fined them $10 each.

THREE OPERATIONS TODAY.

Two Sufferers From Appendicitis—One From Abscess in the Head.

John C. Griffiths, the well known mining man, was operated upon at the Holy Cross hospital today for appendicitis by Dr. King. The operation was very successfully performed and the patient is on the fair road to recovery.

Dr. Hosmer performed an operation on Robert Baird of Nevada for appendicitis, also at the Holy Cross hospital. The patient rallied encouragingly from the operation and the doctor feels assured that he will recover rapidly.

The other case was that of Morgan Blair, a son of Jed M. Blair, of Logan, and a nephew of Secretary of State Hammond, who was brought into Salt Lake City to undergo an operation, the removal of an abscess from his brain, which was performed at 11 o'clock this morning. The growth is the result of a severe fracture of the skull which he sustained about three years ago, and which was caused by a fall from his horse. Dr. Parkinson, who performed the operation, has discovered by the use of the X-rays a little strip of film growing across the old wound, and he assisted Dr. Root in the operation of removing this at St. Mark's hospital. The boy has been suffering from occasional severe spasms of late.

FRACAS ON A CAR.

Drunken Men, a Knife and an Exciting Scrimmage.

Park Deputy Sheriff Lester Stabbe came within an ace of being stabbed by an enraged drunken man on the last car running in from Calder's park last night. The weapon used is a large sized jack knife with a dirty, rusty blade. Naylor has a slight cut on one of his fingers, caused by grasping the open blade of the knife when the blade was aimed at him. The man made his escape from the car, but two of his comrades, Hans Hansen and Carl Erickson were lodged in the county jail.

The melee happened a few rods south of Twelfth Street. The trouble
