The so-called political assessment bill was then taken up and the republicans filibustered to prevent action. The morning hour was consumed in roll calls upon the dilatory motions made by the republicans, and the bill went over without action.

The House then proceeded to the business on the Speaker's table, which was disposed of as follows: The Senate amendments to the bill relating to the territorial as-sembly of Montana were concurred; the Senate bill for printing 12,000 extra copies of the report and pro-ceedings of the Paris monetary conference, passed; the Secate bilitor the benefit of the widow and children of the late General James Shields, and an increase of the pension of Caroline S. Webster, passed.

NEW YORK, 24.-Geo Taylor, colored, has been arrested for re-selving the goods stolen from Mrs. New York, to-night. To-day he was taken to the photograph galiery, and a large crowd followed him to and from the city hall. Cox told the officers he had no idea that Mrs. Hull was dead until 24 hours

Mrs. Hull was dead until 24 hours after the robbery.

This morning Cox, the murder of Mrs. Hull, gave the officers a minute description of how the morder was committed, saying that he smothered Mrs. Hull with his hands, and declaring he did not intend to kill her. Steinberger, the pawnbroker, visited Cox and identified him as a man who had pawned a cameo set of jewelry which led to the arrest. In conversation with an officer, Cox said:

A Trick of the Clairvoyants.

Political Talk. Washington, 24.—Speaker Ran-dall has been an extremist, and now favors the policy of "war to the knife" with the administration. the knife" with the administration. He expresses himself very decidedly in favor of immediate adjournment and allowing the judiciary bill to go by default, and if the President calls congress together again in extra session, to once more adjourn persemptorily. It is not probable that the Speaker's advice will be followed, as a number of conservative democrats are thoroughly disgusted with the way in which their leaders have managed the party, and these are ready to sente with the republicans in making an appropriation to keep the courts open. Immediate adjournment is out of the question, but if the advice of democratic senators like Bayard is followed, an adjournment can be had within ten days. Alexander A. Stephens has written a letter to speaker Randall, saying that the democrats have done all that could reasonably be expected of them in an effort to reconcile the differences between congress the differences between congres and the executive, but that after such a veto as was sent in yesterday there was an end to any further expectation of compromise, and that he is now ready to stand by his party friends in refusing to complete surrender, as desired by the majority of the democratic senators. The committee will draw up another bill and present it to the ators. House appropriations committee for action. A member of the advi-sory committee said, after the meetto debate. A yea and nay vote was taken, and the resolution was defeated—82 yeas, 103 nays. The New York Times, to day, says; It seems that the efforts of Secretary Sherman's officeholding friends to press him for the presidency and secure for him the votes in the autional republican convention are not to be confined to the tion are not to be confined to the south. In the west also representatives of the treasury department are traveling, if their own pub-lished statements are to be creditquite as much in the interests of their chief as for the purpose of serving the people who are taxed for their support. The I imes then quotes the case of George B. Corkhill, of Iowa, who was visiting that State officially as a special agent of the treasury, is only working in the interest of Sherman. It is stated that Sherman will open the campaign in Maine about the first of July, and that about every important republican speaker in the Hieroglyphics on the Walls of a Cavern.

A dispatch to the St. Paul Pio-neer Press announces the discovery of a remarkable cave on the farm of Grosse. The cave is 30 feet long, 13 feet wide, and about 8 feet high. Above the quarry sand, which has evidently drifted in and covered the floor to the depth of three to six feet, upon the walls, are very rude car rings representing men, animals, arms and implements, and some appear to be hieroglyand some appear to be hierogly phics. In drawing out the facts of personal or family history, clairvoy ants do not always ask direct questions, but rather make statements with an implied interrogation, to which the victim, oftentimes entirely unconsciously, responds by word or look or gesture, or perhaps by all three; and, at a later stage of the interview, these secret facts are artfully given back to the victim, who has no recollection of having previously imparted them, and will not believe that he has done so, but prefera to believe that naving previously imparted them, and will not believe that he has done so, but prefers to believe that he is in the presence of Divinity.

It is not only possible but easy for a practical adept to draw out in this way anisute and elaborate details of secret family history. A few years ago, while connected with one of the public institutions of this city, I made a number of experiments in this line. I told the patients afflicted with various forms of nervous and afflied disorders, not to tell med about their symptoms, nor give me any facts in their eases, but to let me tell them; and then I would proceed to indicate, after the manner of a clairvoyant; the locality of their troubest. A LADY who had had much ex-perience in teaching both boys and girls, speaking of the extraordinary obtuseness of a certain pupil, said: "In a physiology class, this young lady of fifteen inquired with languid surprise, '1s there not a straight passage through the head from one ear to the other?'—a somewhat natural conclusion," the teacher commented dryly, "If she had ever watched the processes of her own mind."
