

DIVORCE SUIT OF KATHERINE GOULD

Justice Dowling Rebuked Her for What Appeared to be a Very Hazy Memory.

ATTORNEYS ALSO HAVE TILT.

She Ran Up Bills of Over $70,000 but Had No Idea as to Their Correctness.

New York, June 11.—What appeared to be the hazy memory of Mrs. Katherine Clemons Gould, on this, the second day of her testimony, in cross-examination, brought a rebuke from Justice Dowling, who is hearing her suit for separation against her husband, Howard Gould. There was a tilt between Lawyers Delaney Nicoll for the defense, and Clarence J. Shearn for Mrs. Gould.

"Please try to be polite," Mr. Shearn cautioned Mr. Nicoll, when the latter asked the witness a question sharply. "Oh, I'm sick of trying to be polite. I've been polite all day, and Mrs. Gould won't answer a straight question," retorted Mr. Nicoll.

"Yes, the witness has given Mr. Nicoll much unnecessary trouble," Justice Dowling interposed. Mrs. Gould leaned forward eagerly at this point to meet the next question, but just then the clock struck 4, and adjournment was taken until tomorrow, with the likelihood that she will remain on the stand throughout the day.

LADY APOLOGIZES.

Once Mrs. Gould apologized for her inability to tell whether certain restaurant checks were hers or not, saying she was not interested in knowing how her husband spent his money.

Again, she could not tell whether a diamond pendant, valued at $13,300, had been bought by her or by her husband.

Mr. Nicoll protested vigorously against this insinuation, and Justice Dowling, with some asperity, ordered it stricken from the record.

The accounts of assorted jewelers, tailor customers and bootmaker bills continued to make the spectators gasp and stare. The articles purchased included the pearl rope which the witness wore yesterday and today, listed at $27,000; the disputed pendant at $13,300; a diamond chain at $22,000; a diamond diadem at $24,000 and a sapphire ring at $6,000. Such little things as $500 worth of silk stockings at a time, or $1,523 for shoes, were trivial by comparison. Five tailor-made suits were ordered at a cost of $5,807.

"What was the total amount of the articles you purchased on Mr. Gould's credit in 1907?" began Mr. Nicoll, as soon as order was called. "I could not tell you," was the reply. "I have never seen all of the bills."

"Starting on Jan. 1, 1907, you did purchase a large amount of goods in his name?" "Yes." "That continued until 1907, or until Mr. Gould made a voluntary payment of about $2,000 a month?" "I don't know about the time, unless that was the time Mr. Gould advised he would not be responsible for debts contracted by me," replied the witness. Mrs. Gould identified a letter which had passed between counsel for both sides. It was dated Nov. 22, 1907, and stated that Mrs. Gould had run up $70,773.51 worth of bills in that year. "I have not the slightest idea of the correctness of these bills," declared Mrs. Gould.

There were bills without end, bills for finery and for necessities, jewels, lingerie and gifts for servants.

HAD NOTHING TO EAT.

In striking contrast to this glitter of luxurious articles was Mrs. Gould's testimony that at times at Castle Gould she was actually without provisions. "You told Mr. Shearn that while you were at Castle Gould it was impossible for you to have any provisions sent to the house. What period do you speak of?" she was asked.

"From the time when Mr. Gould left on July 16 up to August of the next year, when I left for the last time—when I was really forced to leave," was the reply.

"Are you prepared to swear that within that period you were not supplied with all the necessities?" "I am prepared to swear," was the firm answer.

Mr. Nicoll questioned Mrs. Gould about her residence in the St. Regis hotel in August, 1908. Mrs. Gould said she often had company in her rooms for luncheon and dinner, and that Duff Farnum, the actor, had dined with her there. On a motor trip in September, she said she met Farnum and dined with him in the restaurant at a hotel in Hartford, Conn. Mrs. Gould said she met Mr. Farnum at Castle Gould in the fall of 1906. This happened on a conveyance in which she was riding, collided with a truck somewhere between New York and Jamaica. She declared she did not go to a roadhouse with Mr. Farnum after that collision, but after visiting Castle Gould they stopped at a road house on the Vauxhall blit cup course and had some refreshments brought out, but did not enter the house.

Mrs. Gould said she could not recall whether she had anything to drink then, but declared that it would not have been unusual. With Mr. Farnum, Mrs. Gould said she returned to the hotel hotel about 11 o'clock that night, and Mr. Farnum accompanied her to her apartment for a few minutes and then went to his own room.

Mrs. Gould stated that she saw Farnum in Washington, Oct. 20, and that she often visited the Blue Gap farm.

GIRL COMMITS SUICIDE.

Chicago, June 12.—The mystery of the disappearance of Mary Snyder, 15 years old, who has been missing from her home since May 2, was cleared yesterday when her body was found floating in the Illinois and Michigan canal at Ashland avenue. The child had ended her life because she was ashamed to return to her home after having been discharged from her employment, under an assumption that she was a runaway.

The identity of the body was indicated by a factory employee tag.

TEAMSTER KILLS BULL.

SAVES FARMER'S LIFE

Hastings, Mich., June 12.—Cleveland Stow, a teamster, killed a huge bull and probably saved the life of David Purchis, a farmer living near Vermontville, by striking the animal in the head with a large stone, fracturing its skull.

Purchis and Bert Hopkins were leading the bull down the road near their home, when suddenly it attacked the former, knocking him down and trampling him. It had no horns and could not hurt him, but Hopkins was unable to drive the animal off.

Purchis was being roughly used when Stow came along and picked up a stone, hurled it, striking the animal between the eyes and it chest fell dead. Purchis will recover.

STARVATION COULD NOT REDUCE FAT MAN'S WEIGHT

New York, June 12.—Not even starvation or fatal illness could reduce the weight of James Mills who died in Bellevue hospital last night, weighing 510 pounds. Mills had been in charge of the dining room at the municipal lodging house and his friends said his ponderous proportions were due to the accessibility of food. But this was disproven after he had been in the hospital three weeks suffering from heart disease and during which time he ate almost nothing, but his size continued to increase. Before going to the hospital Mills said that he had never been weighed in his life, and that nothing could induce him to get on the scales. At the hospital, the doctors and orderlies had a severe fight with him to get his weight, which was necessary for the hospital record.

The physicians were unable to understand the cause of the increase in his size when he ate comparatively nothing.

Par he starts at early morn.

FRANCE CONFERS GOLD MEDAL ON JACK BINNS

New York, June 12.—"Jack" Binns, the wireless operator whose "C. Q. D." brought such quick relief to the White Star steamship Republic, when it was rammed off Martha's Vineyard, Mass., by the steamer Florida, has received a gold life-saving medal voted to him by the French government for his heroic work on that occasion of disaster. The medal was presented last night through the French embassy at Washington. Binns is now giving a demonstration of wireless telegraphy at an amusement park at Coney Island.

GEORGIA RUG FOR TAFT.

Atlanta, Ga., June 12.—A handsome rug made of Georgia cotton by the textile students of the Georgia school of technology, will be forwarded to President Taft Monday. On the occasion of a visit to the school last winter, the president suggested that he would be pleased to have some appropriate memento of his visit to the school. The rug was placed on exhibition today.

FOUND A FORTUNE HIDDEN IN HIS OLD BIBLE

New York, June 12.—When Stephen Marsh started for Denver yesterday where he will make his home with a prosperous son, he had nearly $5,000 which had come to him unexpectedly and declared his conversion to a strong belief in the Bible. When his splintered aunt died 35 years ago she left him only a Bible with the board backs fastened by a gold clasp. Marsh was not of a religious turn of mind and cast the Bible into an old trunk where it remained untouched until yesterday, when he started to pack for his journey west. On opening the Bible he found that between the leaves had been stored $4,887.30 in paper money, much of it in fractional currency, on which there may be a premium now. As Mr. Marsh had lived for many years on a pension of $12 a month the finding of the monetary manna in his financial wilderness immediately converted him to a strong believer in the Bible.

JURY SAYS DOCTORS

KILLED THE MAN

Butte, Mont., June 11.—J. B. Sullivan, a well known saloonman of Butte, was acquitted by a jury tonight of the murder of Joseph Sailer in this city. Sailer was shot by Sullivan Sept. 8, 1908, and died two weeks later. The defense set up by Sullivan's attorney was that Sailer's death was not due to the wound inflicted by Sullivan, but to defective surgery and medical treatment. This defense involved number of doctors and nearly disrupted the Silver Bow

MONTANA WILL NOT QUARANTINE SMALLPOX

Butte, Mont., June 11.—A flat statement of a new state law abolishing smallpox quarantine was made today by City Health Officer Sullivan. After Jan. 1, 1910, he says, a statute passed by the last assembly will go into effect repealing the law which required that smallpox be quarantined or even registered. "It will be up to the people," says Dr. Sullivan, "to protect themselves by vaccination, and those who do not vaccinate must take the consequences." Montana is believed to be the first state in the Union to leave control of the scourge to popular opinion.

TEAMSTER STRIKES OIL.

New York, June 12.—Great good fortune has come to Anthony Meyer, the struggling teamster of the Bath Beach section of Brooklyn, in the last few days. He will start for Seattle next week as the owner of a gushing oil well in Ohio and to become the partner of his newly discovered millionaire brother in Seattle and Alaska. Meyer's brother Charley was adopted by a western family many years ago, when their parents died and the brothers lost track of each other. Anthony invested $100 in oil well stock 10 years ago and until a few days ago, he considered the money lost. But now a big oil well has been located on the property and the same day that he was offered $40,000 for his stock, he received a letter from his brother Charley, saying he had made more than $1,000,000 in the Alaska gold fields and inviting Anthony to join him. On his western trip Anthony will stop at Chicago to visit his grown children.

COME IN TO THE GARDEN.

MAUD, AND GET $10,000

New York, June 12.—Somewhere in the west there is a 12-year-old gold going under the name of Maud Williams and who will receive $10,000 in cash just as soon as she can be located. When she was a little baby, her parents separated and Maud, whose real name is Margaret Gough, was found on a doorstep and sent to a foundlings home. A few years later she was one of the many little children who were sent to homes in the west. Her grandmother has just died, leaving her a legacy of $10,000 in cash.
