teneral Riley, a temperance lecturer, north addressed the congregation on his factite subject,—abstinance from intoxicating drinks. He stated that he had been a imperance lecturer for the last forty pars. He referred to the great changes but had taken place in public sentiment laring that time. Forty years ago everyody drank whiskey; children were trained to do it, and if they did not like it, the head of the family would awesten it for them to make it palatable. Now, no father a mother thinks of giving the children whiskey. This change was the result of e labor of temperance lecturers. Then, so, it was no disadvantage to a man, who rank hard, so far as obtaining responsible contions; but the change that has taken lace through the labor of temperance lecters, is so great that no man who is nown to be given to drink is eligible for the contion now but that of a city aldermy position now but that of a city aldercan or a Congressman. The General diand at some length on the importance of tal abstinence, and urged the signing of to temperance pledge as being the great hing necessary to induce those addicted to solution to do so.

The next speaker was Elder George Q. who spoke with considerable sodom and force on the benefits of temerance in eating and drinking, and said at it and every other good thing, necessto reform society and regenerate human sture, were included in the gospel of Jesus -brist, and it, and it only would be affectual in bringing about the change in enety which temperance and every other and reformers desire. President Young closed the services in nacks which will probably appear in or Saturday's Naws.

bursday night five horses were killed a C. P. train on the track west of Wilini. A large number of animals were on no line at the time and the question arises low did they get there? Fifteen miles of ence have been made on each side of the line let ween Brigham and Ogden, and bars have been set at the crossings. Some one must have left the bars open, either wilfully or arelessiy, and the loss of these animals i fall on the owner."
