

strenuous efforts five other stacks in the same field were saved.

The persons who are injured are: David Holman and Frank Openshaw, badly scalded about the face, breast and arms, besides having a number of cuts on various parts of their bodies.

Isaac Dana and Dudley S. Lewis, also scalded about the face, arms and breast, and bruised; their injuries are not dangerous.

John F. Lewis, scalded on right side and thigh; not seriously hurt.

Henry M. Lewis, bruised about the head, and severely shaken up.

Wallace A. McDonald was thrown about 30 feet and cut and bruised slightly.

W. Fellows and two boys, Elijah Allen and Ellis Johnson, were also burned and bruised slightly.

There were several others close to the boiler, but they escaped injury. Twelve or fifteen persons were within a few feet of the boiler at the time of the explosion.

A letter from President C. J. Robson, written two days after the accident, says that Brothers Holman and Openshaw had improved slightly. The others are progressing favorably.

J. F. MILLER,
Secretary.

Those Church Sheep.

Following is the order made by the Territorial Supreme Court in regard to the leasing of the Church sheep:

In this cause it is ordered that the receiver advertise in three daily papers published in this city and the Ogden Standard and Commercial published in Ogden, and in one paper published at Provo, Beaver and Nephi, for sealed proposals for the leasing of the sheep seized by him, such advertisement to be made at once and continued for at least three weeks, and that in such advertisement the receiver ask for bids for such sheep, stating the number approximately to be leased, such proposal to be under seal, and to state the number of sheep for the price to be paid per head, the leases to commence on the 1st of September, 1889, and terminate one year thereafter, the sheep to be returned at that time to be equal in number, quality and condition to those received, all losses and accidents to be at the risk of the lessee, and that such proposal state sureties proposed and all other necessary information; that such bids be required to be delivered to the chief justice of this court on or before the 15th day of August, 1889.

Water Meeting.

In the Ninth school district on July 10, after the election was over, a meeting was held to discuss the water question. S. W. Darke wanted the people to show their displeasure with the present City Council by retiring them all next February, but this manner of proceeding without inquiry was not adopted, and the meeting adjourned till next Monday evening, when further steps will be taken toward procuring a recognition of the water rights of those residing in the ninth district.

In the Tenth district there was also a meeting on the water question after the school election.

Mr. H. Barnes was elected chairman, and Mr. Fuller secretary. After speeches had been made by Messrs. Young, Fuller and Speirs, a standing committee, consisting of Messrs. Speirs, Fuller and Barnes, were requested to visit the City Council next night, and urge upon them the claims of the residents of the Tenth Ward to the prior and every legal right to the waters of Emigration Creek. An adjournment was then taken till the next Friday evening, when a meeting was to be held to hear the report of the committee and make arrangements to take any necessary steps in the matter.

Some people suppose that only those high in public office can send and receive mail matter on which no postage is required, but this is a mistake. There are four others, all elderly ladies at that, who enjoy the same privilege; these are the widows of Presidents, Mrs. Polk, Tyler, Garfield and Grant. Congress conferred the franking right on them by a special act.
