railroad securities?" Mr. Harriman was aded. "By no means," he replied, "for it is none of the people's business, to put it kiunty, how much stocks and in what form they are issued, as long as the people and so long as it gives the greatest possible unit of service. "I would begin with the Sherman anti-trust act, which is, and always will be, a menace to corporate prosper-ity. You can plainly see that the ideas of the people have changed in many respects. They are coming to take a different view of many of the problems which are involved in the maintenance and operation of our railroads, and the laws should be changed views. After all, it is the people who own our railroads. "This question of refulation will be worked out all right for everyone con-cerned. What the newspapers ught to do we is to stop taiking about the regulation of railroads and insist that the people begin regulating the govern-ment. They should insist, for example, that the first and chief aim of a new Montana, to prevent their acdulation by power companies seeking to acquire dam sites. Judge Callaway says the lands with-frawn callaway says the lands with-drawn callaway says the lands with Beaver Head county are those lying bigh on the bench grounds, on which eorea of dry farmers are now settling, and is continue the withdrawal order in effect at it pertains to these lands, will result in irreparable damage to Montana. The land withdrawn is ut-terly unfit, declares Judge Callaway, for purposes of power sites, and the grastic order can only result in the dis-satisfaction of the people with the ad-ministration in its efforts to conserve the resources of the country. The dief forester is auked to take up the matter with President Tait in an effort to have that portion of the with-drawal order reschnice where the lands embraced are such as will not afford power sites and are adaptable to culti-vation.
