THE SUN.

1878. NEW YORK. 1878.

As the time approaches for the renewal of the subscriptions, THE SUN would remind its friends and wellwishers everywhere, that it is again a candidate for their consideration and support. Upon its record for the past ten years it relies for a continuance of the hearty sympathy and generous co-operation which have hitherto been extended to it from every quarter of the Union.

The Daily Sun is a four page sheet of 28 columns, price by mail, post paid, 55 cents a month, or $6.50 per year.

The Sunday edition of THE SUN is an eight-page sheet of 56 columns. While carrying the news of the day, it also contains a large amount of literary and miscellaneous matter specially prepared for it. THE SUNDAY SUN has met with great success. Post paid $1.20 a year.

The Weekly Sun.

Who does not know THE WEEKLY SUN? It circulates throughout the United States, the Canadas, and beyond. Ninety thousand families greet its welcome pages weekly, and regard it as the light of guide-counsellor, and friend. Its news, editorial, agricultural, and literary departments make it essentially a journal for the family and the fireside. Terms: One Dollar a year, post paid. Thus price, quality considered, makes it the cheapest newspaper published. For clubs of ten, with $10 cash, we will send an extra copy free. Address,

The Press on Conkling.

NEW YORK, 10.—The Evening Post thinks Conkling's statements at the interview shows that he don't think that he won a victory in the late New York election. On the contrary, he evidently believes he has been defeated. He not only feels his defeat sorely, but shows that he feels it in a way that is unbecoming, not to a great statesman merely, but to a dignified and self-respectful man. His performances at Rochester were to convince most persons that the Senator was really a small, narrow man. There may have been an inclination to excuse his gross violation of propriety then on the ground of the sudden loss of temper. The very nearly unanimous rebuke which was administered to him by friends as well as foes, it was supposed, would make him regret what he had done, but the later performance is worse than the other. "Little Evarts!" "Little Roberts!" These are some of the terms with which he spitefully described his political opponents.

The Times criticizes Conkling with bitter severity, describing him as a remarkable actor and only successful in studied efforts, and when he can bring in play his truly wonderful histrionic ability, and keen sense of stage effect. In his recent inverview he shows himself in the natural light. The obvious result is that he sinks to a lower level than he has heretofore occupied. Conkling has always assumed to be the most courteous of men, the pink of chivalry.

An Important Decision.

The New Jersey supreme court has rendered a decision in the case of Mrs. Emma L. Stanley against John Chamberlain, the noted gambler. The suit was for the rent of the building which Chamberlain used in his business. The defense was that the premises were leased for immoral purposes. The circuit judge ruled that if the plaintiff's agent knew at the time of leasing that the premises were to be used for illegal purposes the plaintiff herself was chargeable with her agent's knowledge, and could not recover; so the plaintiff was non-suited. The supreme court, reviewing the case on a writ of error, reverses the judgment and says the defendant, Chamberlain, is not in a position to invoke in his defence this rule of law. The knowledge of the agent in this case cannot be regarded as knowledge by the principal. The plaintiff, upon discovering what her agent had done, had the right to disavow his act, and she is entitled to recover on a quantum valeat for the use and occupation.

Wool Market.

Wool is in very moderate demand at weak prices. California spring has sold to a fair extent, but fall is quiet, sales of 10,000 lbs. of spring at 20@26. Boston market is dull; California spring has sold more freely but at unremunerative prices to dealers. Stocks of this grade are quite large. White, fall, is arriving slowly, sales 298,000 lbs. at 23@35½ for spring and 15@18 for fall.

Bland's Silver Bill.

WASHINGTON, 10.—While the ultimate of Bland's silver bill is by no means certain, some of those who voted for it on Monday are ashamed of their hasty action and want the bill amended so as to make a charge for coinage and a reasonable limit to the amounts for which it shall be legal tender. As the bill stands it gives any holder of silver bullion the right to take it to the mints and have it coined free of expense. It is now urged that the only persons who will be benefitted by such provision will be the holders of silver bullion at the time it goes upon the statute book, the producers of it and those people in Europe or elsewhere who have large quantities to sell. An amendment to change this effect appears likely to be made in the Senate and accepted by the House. The Senate finance committee is so evenly divided on the silver question that prompt action is improbable.

Sherman on the Silver Question.

Secretary Sherman says: The silver question, entirely within the power of Congress, may be made a most essential aid to resumption if confined either in the amount or mode of issue, or in its legal tender quality. If issued without limit upon the demand of the depositor of silver bullion, it is the substitution of a single [silver standard instead of a gold standard. Whatever decision Congress may arrive at on the question, the resumption law must stand to prevent our paper money from falling below a specie standard fixed by Congress. At present paper money is worth more than silver because the market value of silver bullion is greatly depreciated. The expectation of the redemption of our paper money in gold, with our demonstrated ability to do so, has brought it nearly to the standard of gold. If silver should alone be adopted as the standard, the paper will fall even below that standard. Unless resumption of silver is provided for by law, as the Bland bill provides for unlimited issue and legal tender power, necessarily then the Secretary must approve it, and the President is unlikely to approve it without material modification. Democratic opponents of the measure cite with satisfaction the New York World's designation of it as the "Bland swindle," and the argument in support of it as "words of knavery and folly."

President Hayes Talks to the Ponca Chiefs, at the Executive Mansion

Ponca Indians, at the Executive Mansion, this afternoon, heard the response of the President to their statements. The President said:

"My friends—I have carefully considered what you have said to me. I know you have always been good friends to the white people. There is none of their blood on your hands. You have always listened to what the government of the white people have said to you, and you have done what you were told to do. You have therefore my sincere sympathy, and I will do all I can to help you. You were removed from your old reservation to guard you from collision with other Indians who were unfriendly to you. I desire that you should live in peace and security; for this reason you were taken away from the Missouri River, and for the same reason I think it would not be good for your own welfare that you should travel back so great a distance to the same place. Your people are now in the Indian Territory, together with other Indian tribes who are friendly to you, and with whom you can live in peace and in a good neighborhood. You complain that on the land you now occupy you are exposed to much annoyance from bad men, who steal your cattle and ponies and demoralize your people with whiskey. Mindful of your conduct I desire to constrt your wishes. There is much good land in the Indian Territory, further away from white settlements, where you will not be exposed to such annoyances. For the land which you left on the Missouri River you shall have a tract as large and fertile, with plenty of timber and many water courses. I will permit you to send out some of your chiefs to make selection from your people of the lands, which still belong to the government, in the Indian Territory. The lands so selected you shall have, and cultivate it and raise crops and cattle for yourselves and your children. I know you left behind you on the Missouri River log cabins and agricultural implements. I shall see to it that on the lands you are to occupy houses shall be built for you as good as those you had on the Missouri river, and you shall yourselves be employed in building them and paid for the work you do. I shall also ascertain what agricultural implements you left behind you, and you shall be supplied with a like quantity, and also with cattle, so that you shall lose nothing. I will see that you have schools for your children to give them a knowledge of many things that are good for them and bring them up in industrious habits. I know that the first settlement in a new country is attended with much hardship, and I sympathize with you, but if you go to work with good hearts, making good use of your time in planting fields and raising crops, your condition will soon be better and you will be prosperous and contented, and the many thousands of Indians who have settled there before you. I have been glad to see you here, and my best wishes will be with you in your new homes."

When the President concluded his address, the Indians all expressed a desire to confer further with him next week, saying they had additional complaints to make.

Standing Buffalo said he was only afraid of the whites in his present location, not of the Indians.

Before closing the interview the President said: "I want to say a few words more to my good friends. I understand they do not quite know whether they may get back to the old Ponca agency that they came from. That land has been given up to other people, so they cannot have it again; but I want to give them as good land as the Government has in the Indian Territory."

Rifle Match.

BOSTON, 10.—Under the terms of the rifle match between the Oakland Guard of San Francisco and the Roxbury City Guard of this city, the team of the latter shot at the Walnut Hill range this evening, making 273 out of a possible 400.

Another Walk.

CHICAGO, 10.—O'Leary, pedestrian, beat John Ennis in a hundred miles walk, closing at midnight, having made the distance in twenty-two seconds less than twenty hours, and coming out fresh and rosy. Ennis made only fifty-four miles, walking eighteen hours, and was badly used up.

Holding a Mine for Non-Payment of Taxes.

DEADWOOD, D. T., 10.—On Thursday the miners employed in the Keets mine, under contractor Conleer, took forcible possession of the mine on account of the non-payment of their wages by the contractor. The miners are still in possession of the mine, and refused a compromise of any kind, except the full and complete settlement of their claims. They are securely fortified, well armed, and provisioned to stand a month's siege. The citizens of Central City, near which the mine is located, are in sympathy with the miners. It is feared that blood will be shed before a settlement can be obtained.

At six o'clock this evening the miners issued a printed circular, invoking public sympathy in their behalf, and explaining their position, which is briefly, that the contractor owes them $2,500 for labor; that the contractor will not pay them, and they hold the mine for the same. Considerable excitement exists over the situation, which is the main topic of conversation throughout the gulch.

Murder—Robbery—Lynching.

ST. LOUIS, 10.—Carl Stahl, alias Joe. Engeler, who was arrested here yesterday, for the murder of Mrs. Goetz, near Columbia, Ills., was lynched there, to-day, by an infuriated mob of citizens.

A reporter just returned from Columbia says Carl Strahl made a confession to the officers who took him from here, last night, the purport of which is that he first shot and killed Henry Goetz some distance from his home. He then went to the house and killed Mrs. Goetz; took Goetz's mules and wagon; robbed the house and premises of everything of any value, and started for St. Louis. When this was made known this morning, about 100 citizens determined to lynch the fiend, and after compelling him to show them where he had secreted the body of Goetz, they took him to the woods and suspended him to a tree. Robbery seems to have been the man's motive.

The Timber Seizures.

JACKSON, Miss., 10.—The seizures of logs, lumber and turpentine in Mississippi by special agent Carter, of the Interior Department, has suddenly come to an end. It seems that sweeping and indiscriminate seizures have been made at Pascougala by a deputy United States Marshall by virtue of a writ of sequestration sued out by special agent Carter, which turns out to be illegal. Major Thomas H. Price, of the Mobile bar, representing the victims, argued the motion to-day, to quash the writ before the United States Circuit Court, Judge Hill presiding, on the ground that the writ was unconstitutional and was not due process of law. The Judge sustained the motion and ordered the deputy marshal at Pascougala to release the property. He reserved judgment, quashing the writ until Monday, to give the District Attorney an opportunity to produce authority in favor of the writ if he could. This decision gives great relief to a large community in South Mississippi who have been greatly damaged already by the wholesale seizures, which in effect, crushed the guilty and innocent.
