Fish Commissioners Scholziger has just deposited 30,000 young trout in Laramie county.

A dispatch from Denver says it is now positively known that the man who committed suicide there last week was Melbourne the trampster.

Coyotes, badgers, wolves and marmots were never before known to be so numerous in Mason Valley, Nevada, while rabbits are very scarce. Huckleberries are still in full bloom, but the color of the decaying carcasses is a salience of the ranches.

Les Mackie, a laborer engaged in digging sand on the schon section northeast of town, was very severely crushed and injured by the side of the pit owing to his fall Wednesday afternoon. He was unable to extricate himself, and it is feared that he has sustained internal injuries.—Grangeville (Idaho) Free Press.

Daniel Morrison, a miner employed on the Zephaniah mine at Gringle Creek, Colo., was severely injured in one of the drifts, one of the shafts he had put in failed to explode and he was forced to examine the fuse when the charge exploded. His right eye was blown out and the left was badly injured.

Fort Collins (Wyo.) Register: A party of Denver men passed through the city last week bound for the plains leading on the Laramie river. They had with them a new pack of dry goods, and were going to examine the fields to thoroughly prospect the field in Larimer county, including North Park.

The title bond card and dam site, valued at $1,000,000, have been sold at Pueblo, Colo., by order of the district court's public auction. The purchaser was the Colorado Central and Laramie Valley railway company.

The amount paid was $800,000. A manager man from Los Angeles bid $975,000.

The sale was secured by the transfer of a certified check for $10,000.

William Launton, of Islay, sends word to the Cheyenne Tribune that he would like to give warning to all who go west that the Indians there are very unsafe. The savages are his own, and, knowing the usage, he placed a lock on the door at the opening, but this has been broken, and he has been compelled to leave the winter quarters from the side that has cost the state, and they may give way at any time.

Rich Jones has sold all his cattle on the side of Salmon river, amounting to about 300 head, to St. Helensburg & Walker, of Montana, at a price of $15 per head. The cattle will be gathered up and driven to market next month. The cost of range impairs our stock growers' disposed of all their surplus last cattle by year, and we observe the diminishing pasture for stock cattle.—Grangeville (Idaho) Free Press.

John Owen, a prospector, about 65 years of age, who was well known to all old-timers in the state, has died suddenly in a saloon in South Butte, reported to be the most frequented place in town. He was in poor health, having come in from prospecting trip a few days ago and about noon he walked into the saloon. Soon after he entered he was assailed with an attack of heart trouble and fell to the floor. Before the arrival of a physician, who was summoned, he died.

H. C. Crum, prominent rancher and cattle man, shot and killed, on Tuesday morning, with a small revolver, Antonio Leon. For several weeks Leon had been in trouble with Crum over cattle losses, and it was right. Tuesday evening Crum jumped the range of Crum and set up a tent, intending to work the land. Crum says that he fired only after Leon had threatened him with a knife and revolver. The shooting took place in the tent.

A boy named John Hussey was run over and killed between Palouse (Colo.) and Mt. Lincoln east of Union, Tuesday night by an extra freight train, east bound. He had been working at these mines since last November. He went to Grand Junction, Colorado, and returned Tuesday night in an exhausted condition. After the train left he started for the camp and was run over and killed about 200 yards this side. When found he was mortally wounded and soon expired. Both legs were cut off and he was bleeding from the head. He was an Irishman, unmarried and about 27 years of age.

A young man named George Sully, in the employ of George Putnam, of Clinton, Monroe, Mich., was a severe victim of the disease. He was sent to the British line feeding sheep on horseback when his horse stumbled and fell, catching his foot in the stirrup and dislocating the ankle. The wound was painful in the extreme, but he was unable to get it out of his shoe while in its proper position, and, having no one to relieve him, he continued to tend the sheep for five days in this suffering condition, until the limb under pressure of the weight of the sheep was amputated without painless. This case is unique, without parallel, and was finally taken in Clinton and is improving.

By the accidental upsetting of a candle on Tuesday night at Santa Monica, Cal., two children lost their lives in a fire which was burning in the northern part of the house. The children, one the five year old son of Mrs. H. R. Grimes and the other the three year old daughter of Mrs. Annie Dominguez, were asleep in the room where the fire started. The candle was in the pocket of Mrs. Grimes' brother, who was asleep in a rear room. When he was awakened by the crackling of the fire the house was a mass of flames and he had just time to save the little girl or that time his wife had collected all her nerves beyond recognition. Mrs. Grimes, the mother of the little boy, was the owner of the house where the fire occurred, and her daughter, Mrs. Dominguez, and her little girl were sleeping with her. They were gone out for a walk and were terror-stricken upon their return to find that their babies had suffered a terrible affliction and their home and all their belongings were in ashes.
