

VINEYARDS IN OHIO.—A Cincinnati correspondent of the New York Commercial Advertiser says:

Our vineyard men are picking the grape berries from their stocks. Such lamentable sights I never saw before. Two or three good berries to about forty decayed ones! If each bunch never had more, one could stand it, but in spring there is always great promise which our summer effectually kills. Our vine dressers are giving it up, and every year diminishes the number of acres of vineyards and restores them to rougher vegetation, such as corn and grass.

A PRISON OUTBREAK ABOUT TOBACCO. The Toulon journals give accounts of a serious outbreak among the youthful convicts confined in a penitentiary in the Isle de Levant. A feeling of dissatisfaction was expressed among the convicts that they were not allowed longer periods of recreation and permission to smoke tobacco. The concession demanded being refused, the ruffians overpowered the warders, seized the director of the establishment and thrust him into a cell, plundered the stores of the establishment, and set fire to large quantities of petroleum and other inflammable materials which they found in the cellars. A costguard signalman succeeded in rescuing the director, but at the risk of his own life, for he was caught by the convicts, who revenged themselves by casting him into a deep ditch, where he lay for a long time with a broken leg. Upon the news of the outbreak reaching Toulon, a strong military force was dispatched, which speedily restored a certain degree of order, but the penitentiary buildings were almost destroyed, and fourteen of its late inmates were found to have perished in the flames. The principal leaders of the insurrection are said to be nearly all Corsicans, and none more than 16 years of age.

THE greatest depth of snow encountered at any time this season on the Pacific Railroad is three feet. The small snow plows have been found to clear the track of this amount with ease. An opportunity has not yet been afforded to try either of the large plows, two of different construction have been sent to the mountains to wait for something to turn up.—Sac. Union, Dec. 22.

IN the late yacht race from New York to Liverpool, between the Henrietta, Fleetwing and Vesta, for $90,000, the Henrietta came off victorious, making the trip in the short time of 13 days and 22 hours. The Fleetwing and Vesta had not been heard from at latest dates. The yachts were nearly of a size, and their tonnage was only a little over 200 tons.
