

The Man Wich Diden't Drink Wotter.

"Freddie Bunch" is credited with writing the following "cute" piece for the Middlebury, Vt., Register. Every one who has read it has roared, and it is reprinted here for others to do as they like about roasting.

Once there was a man wich didn't bleeve in drinkin wotter cos heed tuk a noshen into his hed that wotter was weeknin to the boddy, so he drank logger beer all of the time and told everybody that was the way to be a sentenarian. But one day he seen a piece in a paper wich said that logger was morn ninety per cent. wotter. He was mity tuk down and sed heed thot ol along that logger was to thin for the human system, and he lade in a big kag of wine. After heed drunk the wine most ol, he told a kolege professor he gessed a man wich drank wine wud live to be a hundred and 20 years old. But the kolege professor he told him that wine was aity per sent. wotter. Then the man he felt offe bad and he ast the kolege professor if he didn't kno of a drink wich didn't have no wotter in it. Then the kolege professor he laft and he sed he gest absloot alkeholl wud fil the bil. The man he sed hed get sum and fil his bil, so he went to a pothekerry and bot a pint of absloot alkeholl, and when he went home he drunk it ol up. Then he laid down on his bed and kolled his wife and children around him and he sed, "mi wife and children lme goin to die cos Ive drunk so much wotter ol mi life. Lurn from mi sad fait to eschu drinkin wotter." Then he dide and his widder and orfuns felt drefle bad cos heed ben a good husband and father.

A famous Judge came late to court
One day in busy season,
Whereat his clerk, in great surprise,
Inquired of him the reason.
"A child was born," His Honor said,
"And I'm the happy sire."
"An infant judge?" "Oh, no," said he,
"As yet he's but a crier."
