their work in bringing him back to consciousness, and his wounds were dressed by Dr. Bowers. Mr. Burt is accused by the Tribune of being intoxicated, but this his fellow officers deny, and the same paper calls Cunninghan and Bodfish "peaceful gentlemen, highly spoken of by all who know them." The trial of Canningham-Bodfish and the others mentioned, and another man named John Ryan, arrested this morning for being implicated in the matter, was set for 2 p. m. to-day, before Justice Spiers. But the cases were continued until Monday at 10 a. m., and the defendants gave bonds for their reappearance.

It is said that pistols gleamed in all directions during the melee, and threats to shoot were freely made; for a time bloodshed seemed imminent, as it invariably must on such occasions, as long as there is no law against the cowardly and dangerous practice of carrying concealed weapons, so pre-valent throughout the Western ountry. tions and render them odlous in the cyes of an .element which, when roused is morally less responsible for its overt acts against peace and good order, than the contemptible scoundrels who stir it up tongue and pen to the commission of unlawful deeds. The only recourse left the police is to pay no attention to the malicious libels of these penstabbors, but containe to do inch duty fearlessly, manfully and with coolness and moderation, and they can rest assured that there is a preponder-ating sentiment of fairness and de-fency in this community, that will sustain them in so doing.
