Experience This Morning.

Officer Palmer remonstrated with the butcher and intimated that his actions were not altogether proper. To his amazement Ward told him to mind his business: "I'll sweep the bloomin' sidewalk all I want to, and you can't stop me," said he. Palmer said not a word until the butcher dared him to arrest him and then the officer said, "I'll just take a chance. Ward was taken to the station and deposited $5 bail. After vowing that he would "get a lawyer and fight it," Ward hustled back to his shop to make sausage.

SCHOOL BOARD

HAS AGREED.

Resolved to Open School Without Vaccination Restrictions.

HELD MEETING LAST NIGHT.

Appeal of Cox Suit Will Not Be Relinquished - Board Desires the Courts to Settle the Question.

The board of education last evening resolved to open the public schools next Monday in accordance with the resolution adopted by the board of health. This resolution was unanimously adopted, but this action will not prevent the prosecution of the appeal in the Cox case before the Supreme Court.

Mr. Critchlow offered the resolution, which is as follows:

"Whereas, in obedience to the mandate and direction of the board of health of Salt Lake City, this board did by resolutions on the 4th and 12th day of January, 1900, extend the holiday vacation for a period of two weeks, on account of the prevalence of the disease of smallpox in this city, and afterwards by resolution adopted on Jan. 20th, also, in accordance with the direction of the board of health, did re-open the schools to such of the pupils as had complied with the request and direction of the board of health by subjecting themselves to vaccination; and afterwards, on Jan. 27th, in obedience to the direction of said health board, also in obedience to the decision of the district court, this board did close the schools for a further period of the week beginning Jan. 28th; and

"Whereas, by further communication received this day from the said board of health, this board is notified that the conditions heretofore existing in respect to the disease of smallpox no longer exist and the schools may with safety be opened, as usual, without restriction, on Feb. 5th; therefore,

"Resolved, That so much of the resolution heretofore adopted on Jan. 27th as relates to the closing of the schools to those persons who have been vaccinated, be and the same is hereby repealed."

Mr. Moyle made an effort to have the resolution modified so much, wherein it alludes to the circumstances controlling the school board's actions, but no one seconded his motion.

A short discussion ensued, with the final result that those who were not altogether satisfied with some parts of Critchlow's resolution, voted for it in order to effect the opening of schools Monday.

AGED LADY DEAD.

Mrs. Templeman of Big Cottonwood Passes Away at Home of Her Son.

The funeral of Mrs. Elizabeth Templeman, who succumbed Wednesday to the general debility of an advanced old age, will be held from the Mill Creek meeting house, tomorrow morning at 11 o'clock.

For ninety-two years this aged woman has fought the grim reaper, but at last the infirmities of old age disarmed her, and death the inexorable warrior against all flesh, laid her low.

Mrs. Templeman was the oldest resident of Big Cottonwood, and was well beloved by all who knew her. She leaves a numerous offspring.

THE HOODLUM NUISANCE.

Gangs in Various Wards Will Be Broken Up by the Police.

In nearly every ward in the city there is a gang of young hoodlums who are laying the foundation for a life of usefulness (?) by breaking windows in vacant houses, carrying off gates, etc., etc., and making the nights hideous by an unceasing din. The task of breaking up these gangs has been undertaken by Officer Ed. Davies, much to the gratification of peace-loving citizens.

DAVIES WINS MATCH RACE.

Bicycle Officer Sprints After an Ordinance Breaker and Gets Him.

It was in the neighborhood of seven o'clock last evening that Officer Ed. Davies observed a man riding along West Temple street on a bicycle, and it occurred to the officer that a certain ordinance was being grossly ignored, aye, and even being broken by the man on the "bike." He didn't have an arc light on his wheel. Davis muttered something under his breath and then out loud, "hold on there." "All right," answered the wheelman as he tightened his grip on the handle bars and put a little more knee-grease. "If I don't see you again I'll be soon enough," he yelled as he sped away. Then an open mile professional race followed. Away they flew, fugitive and officer. It was obvious in the third lap that the man in blue and brass would overhaul the other, and he did. Davies took his man to the station where he gave the name of C. E. Wolfgang, and put up $2 for his appearance on the judicial lineolium today.

INFORMATION WANTED.

Mrs. Murdock Baldwin, daughter of Silvey Kelsey Murdock, desires information concerning her relatives, who went to Utah several years ago. HE STOLE A HAT.

Gardner Caught the Thief-Troubles of Joseph Dusseldorf.

Joseph Dusseldorf may or may not have been in actual need of a new hat last evening, but that is not the manner of securing one will at once be conceded as being exceedingly unique. It is said that Dusseldorf is a foreign count traveling incognito, but as a man is presumed to be innocent until proven guilty in this country, that point will not be contended. One thing is certain, he is a transient. Last evening he went into Gardner's store and asked the cashier for the price of a meal. It was denied him and he started to leave the store. Mr. Gardner concluded to watch him.

Dusseldorf picked up a soft hat and thrust it under his coat. In a pair of seconds Mr. Gardner had the fellow by the neck and held on until Officer Johnson arrived. Dusseldorf was booked on the charge of petit larceny, and locked up in the bastille.

Schopp and Company, and a notion store, both of whom have received notice to vacate. It is Mr. Houston's intention to shortly begin the erection of a modern business block, which, according to the terms of the lease, will not cost less than $5,000.

The Houston Real Estate and Insurance company, now in the Walker House block, will occupy part of the building for offices. The contemplated improvements are to be part of the property. Mr. Houston may assign his lease to the Houston company within a year, and has the privilege of purchasing within the next ten years for $40,000.

Mr. Spafford recently purchased the property from the S. S. Walker estate for $30,000.

JUDGE KING'S HOME ROBBED.

Burglars Enter Through the Basement—Secured Over $40.

Several nights ago the residence of Judge W. H. King, on Military avenue, was entered by burglars and $41 in cash stolen. As the robbers were partial to cash, nothing else was taken. The keys of the basement were lost several days ago and the door being unfastened, entrance was made in that way. Mr. S. A. King, the judge's brother, had come up from Provo that day, having in his pockets $250 belonging to a client. He had $75 in gold in a hip pocket and $175 in bills in his coat pocket, all of which was overlooked. The thieves took $150 from his trousers pocket, and $3 from Mrs. King's purse.

GROSS CRUELTY TO ANIMALS.

Men Handling Sand to University Building Are Accused of It.

Dr. T. B. Beattie secretary of the society for the prevention of cruelty to animals, called at police headquarters this morning and asked that an officer be sent to Thirteenth East and watch the men who were hauling sand up the hill to the University building. Dr. Beattie said that there were seven teamsters hauling sand and each compelled his horses to pull "a yard and three-quarters of sand up the hill. It is said that one of the men beat his horse with a shovel until the poor beast fell to the ground exhausted. Dr. Beattie said that he was seriously thinking of swearing out complaints against the teamsters and having them punished for cruelty to animals.

DOGS TO BURN.

Fifty Canines at the Crematory Ready for Incineration.

Mr. J. Gordon McPherson, the dog catcher, who with grace and dignity bears the names of those illustrious military chieftains, is trying to emulate their examples in warfare, but unlike those for whom he was named, is directing his onslaught against poor canines who have the criminal audacity to slink across his path, and now this able enemy of dog-kind has rounded up fifty and placed them in the canine detention house, before incinerating them upon the altar of the dog-tax law.

Many of these unfortunate animals look as if they had been well brought up, but like poor Tray, had fallen into bad company. Any one wishing a dog is at liberty to go out to the crematory and look over the lot, and he is sure to be suited, as there are a series of them, from the handsome, intelligent New Foundland, whom some one has the misfortune not to own, down to the mongrel "cur of low degree," whose nature has been soured by hunger and the enmity of man, who occasionally gives vent to pitiful snarl as a protest against his hard lot. Let the lovers of honest dogs go to the rescue of these unfortunates canines.
