

Although Frank Trash is a Swiss with but a limited vocabulary of the English, he is well up in the argot of the police court room. In his plea of guilty to the charge of burglary in the third degree, his only excuse was that at the time of the offense he "was kinda shot up," the bullets, in his vernacular, being "high-balls."

Trash entered the home of Gust Slavliotls on July 30, and was cught in the act of rifling a trunk. The Greek chased the marauder a couple of blocks before the latter fell into the arms of Patrolmn Pitts. This morning Trash was willing to plead guilty to anything charged against him, saying that he re-membered that he "was kinda shot up and when he saw an open door he went

Under his plea of guilty he was bound over to the district court under $500 ball. Unable to provide this sum, he was given into the keeping of Sheriff Sharp.

LACKED A SIGN.

F. Ensign's neglect to put a placard or sign on his wagon, along with his license number, telling what he used the wagon for, cost him $2 this morning. The charge against him was dig-nified by the title "violation of the license ordinance," and he pleaded guilty to the more pleblan "didn't have a sign on his wagon." Judge Bowman, assessed a fine of $2.

UNHITCHED TEAMS.

George Preston, T. A. Shanfelt, Eud Foreman all paid $2 into the city funds this morning for the privilege of leav-ing their teams unhitched on the public streets. They forfeited the money rather than make excuse to the court, which would have resulted in the col-lection of the bail money anyway.

PLAYFUL BRICKLAYER.

Harry Johnson's stomach troubled him so much yesterday morning that he had to quit his work of piling one brick on top of another, with mortar in be-tween, and then he really didn't know what happened. Asst. Clty Atty. Rog-ers refreshed Johnson's hazy memory ers refreshed Johnson's hazy memory by recalling the circumstance of how the bricklayer had gone home and chased his wife around the yard in a way that was hardly a playful romp. Johnson could hardly remember that part of it, or perhaps didn't want to remember, but the court gave him a re-minder in the shape of a ten-or-ten-meaning $10 or 10 days. Instead of laying bricks, Johnson will break rocks for 10 days. laying bricks for 10 days.

GOOD GUESSER.

Nels Eckstead "guessed" that maybe he had disturbed the peace of the vi-cinity of First South and West Temple streets last night. His guess was good, after Asst. City Atty. Rogers told what he had been told about the case, and Judge Bowman's answer was $10 or 10 days. According to the relayed story, and as told by the prosecutor, Eckstead had got drunk, in fact, very, very drunk, then "when they tried to get him to go home instead he went into a saloon and tanked up some more."

MAN WITH A PUNCH.

James Sandol paid for the door which James Sandol paid for the door which he smashed while showing his strong arm ability in a Commercial street ra-sort Saturday night and escaped a fine. Sandol with braggadacio humor, had undertaken to exhibit his "punch" by smashing the door, and when this was objected to by the saloonkeeper he turned on the latter. Sandol, however, was only charged with destroying pro-perty, the saloonkeeper counting his inperty, the saloonkeeper counting his in-jured feelings as nothing as against the glad to get off with that expense.
