A CARD.

To the Inhabitants and purchasing Community of this Territory:—

Owing to the great decline in the prices of goods in the Eastern Markets (being determined to keep IN RATIO with them,) I have made a further reduction in the prices of goods, which upon examination will speak for themselves. I have also on hand a great many articles that have laid over for one and two years—which I will sell, REGARDLESS OF COST, even lower than the present rates in the Eastern Markets will permit of; viz: Table and Pocket Cutlery, Spades, Shovels, Scythes and Snaths, Bake Skillets, Locks and Latches, Tea and Table Spoons, Carriage Bolts, Cast, Blister and Plough Steel, Soap, Lye, Tobacco, and an immense variety of other goods, which are necessities for every day use. Farmers and Country Merchants would do well to call and examine the stock and prices, and as Greenbacks are scarce in the country, I will take for pay, Cattle, Wheat, Flour, Barley, Oats, Pork, &c., for which I will give a price that will guarantee satisfaction.

REMARKS

By Elder Wilford Woodruff, delivered in the Tabernacle, G. S. L. City, Oct. 7th, 1867.

REPORTED BY DAVID W. EVANS.

Yesterday morning when I came into this tabernacle it was some little time before I could tell whether what I saw was in vision, or whether it was real and literal; but I soon became thoroughly convinced that I was in the tabernacle of the Lord built here in the mountains, and saw before me some ten or twelve thousand Latter-day Saints.

I have been interested in the counsels and instructions which we have received here in this house, and when we, as elders, have texts given us to preach from I feel that we, in a measure, are bound to confine ourselves to those texts. In the few remarks that I may make I wish to speak upon them.

The first text was the emigration. We have been gathered together by the gospel of Jesus Christ. We have partaken of its blessings, and as far as lies in our power we should extend those blessings to our brethren and sisters abroad. It is our duty to do all we can to assist in emigrating the poor from the nations of the earth, for the Lord requires it at our hands.

The second text was the education of our children. The subject was addressed to mothers; it applies also to the fathers. This is a subject of vast importance to the Latter-day Saints. If any one were to ask me when the education of our children begins; I will not tell you what you believe, but I will tell you what I believe—I believe that education begins when the spirit of life enters the tabernacle of the child. That is the way I view it. If the mother has the spirit of God upon her, when she prays and calls upon the Lord for his blessing, I believe that that power and spirit affects her child, and will do so until the day of its birth; and will affect it from that time henceforth and forever. While the mother lives her influence, example, and teachings will affect her child through life. If she teaches her child virtue, honesty and righteous principles, if she teaches him to pray, these teachings will have their effect upon him through life. If parents know the effect of their example on their children, we should many times do very different from what we do. When a father gives counsel to his wives and children about anything he desires done about his place, his orchard, his garden or farm, and the wife teaches her children to obey their father, that has its effect upon the children—they work together. But let the mother, as soon as the father's back is turned say to her children "your father is gone and you may go and pick those apples or grapes, or you may go and gather this, that and the other, your father will not know anything about it, and it will be all right," she sets a very bad example before her children, she teaches them to steal and to take an evil course; but let the mother carry out the counsels of the father, and they both work together in teaching their children righteous principles, and their children will grow up having learned to obey their parents. Mothers in Israel should remember that, unless they do their best to carry out the counsels of the head of the family, they set a bad example before the children and take a course that the Lord will not approve and bless; but let them be one with their husbands in carrying out his counsels and the Lord will bless them and their children. Many a time, when in the vision of my mind, I contemplate the great duties and responsibilities that will yet rest on the rising generation among the Latter-day Saints, I feel that we as parents are too slow in our duties towards our children. No better legacy can we bestow upon them than to teach them every truth which we ourselves are in possession of; then they will honor us, honor the priesthood, magnify their callings, and carry out the great purposes of our God.

The next subject referred to by the President was the call for a certain number of teams to haul rock for the temple. I need not say much in relation to this. The people have
