

EXPLOSION OF CAR OF DYNAMITE

Thirty Tons of Powder Go up in Smoke on Rio Grande Near Goshen, Utah, Today.

WHOLE TRAIN THREATENED

But Crew, With Coolness and Courage, Cut Out Car and Waited for The Blow Up.

Expecting to be blown into eternity any minute, the crew of freight train No. 132 on the Rio Grande Western Tintic branch fought the flames that were eating into a carload of powder and finally cut the burning car out of the train at Goshen and raced away in time to witness a most dramatic explosion from a point of safety a mile distant.

The train was making its usual morning run today when one of the brakemen noticed smoke issuing from the car. Conductor T. L. Walters at once signaled Engineer H. G. Smith and the train came to a standstill. When they reached the car they found that it was loaded with a red card bearing the legend "Powder." Nothing daunted they proceeded to attempt to put out the fire. Seeing, however, that this was impossible, a quick run to a handy siding was made and the car was cut out. The explosion happened at 11:30 a. m. and when the dust and smoke cleared away there was nothing remaining save a hole in the ground and some trucks scattered along the hillside. Fortunately, although some of the horses and cattle in a neighboring ranch took to the hills while the farmer came out and addressed a tropical oration to the horizon as he gazed upon his shattered window panes.

In all there said to be 30 tons of dynamite and power in that car, and the tout ensemble was most recherche. The loss of the powder will fall to the shipper, and there will be some trouble for the car service agent to find any trace of the missing freight car.

Several rails had to be replaced this afternoon and by 5 o'clock it was promised that the road would be in good shape and there would be no hitch in handling the big Eureka-Park City excursion scheduled tomorrow.

MOST SERIOUS ACCIDENT.

Mortimer J. Cheesman Badly Wounded Himself at Brighton Yesterday.

Mortimer J. Cheesman, aged about 18 years, shot and seriously wounded himself yesterday morning at Brighton summer resort in the Wasatch mountains. Young Cheesman was summering at the resort in a cottage belonging to his family, and carried a 35-caliber revolver, just to show he was a typical American boy of 18. Like a typical revolver it went off when Cheesman wasn't looking and came near inflicting a fatal wound. The lead ball passed through the young man's left hip, but fortunately did not strike any bones. Dr. Belle Anderson Gemmell happened to be at the resort and gave the wound immediate attention. Cheesman is now resting quietly at the Brighton cottage, and unless complications set in he will be allowed to convalesce there, as weather conditions are so favorable. The wound is a bad flesh wound, and will keep the young man in bed for some time. Mr. Cheesman is a son of the former councilman, M. J. Cheesman.

DISMAL FINISH OF "COUNT" SVOBODA

Took $20,000 Worth of Jewels Belonging to His Employer.

BUT HE IS NOW IN PRISON.

Claimed to be Descendant of Noble Family of Austria-Hungary—Was in Salt Lake Recently.

(Special to the "News.") Chicago, Ill., July 28.—"Count" Jacob Svoboda, of Salt Lake City and San Francisco, and his big touring car, were corraled in Chicago last evening and a brilliant and even scintillating career was ended. Svoboda, among other things, had been second out of the Chestnut Hill mansion of Edward Lowber Welsh, Philadelphia. When he left the Welsh residence after a few days' service he took with him $20,000 worth of Mrs. Welsh's jewels. He since has been sought by the police of many cities. When he was captured Svoboda, who claims to be descended from a noble family of Austria-Hungary, that can trace its descendants back a thousand years or more, was locked up at the Central station. It was rather a dismal finish.

The police locked the big auto in the police stables and also have possession of interesting personal effects of the "Count."

Svoboda was arrested at a boarding house at 131 Pearson street. James Wallace, 20 years old, a former bell boy in a San Francisco hotel, who has been traveling around the country in the "Count's" auto as sort of a chauffeur, was arrested with him as a witness.

Suspicion was attached to the "Count" several days ago because he was peddling about valuable diamonds and other jewels in Chicago.

He pawned a number of articles. The "Count" first came to Chicago from Salt Lake City last March. He shipped his touring car from Salt Lake to Tapeska, Kas., and from the latter place rode on to Chicago in the automobile. The machine was shipped by rail from Salt Lake in order to avoid the desert. The man is believed to be a notorious crook and the Chicago police have communicated with the police of Salt Lake to learn if he has committed any depredations there. He appeared at San Francisco as "Dr. Svoboda." At the Baldwin hotel in that city he became acquainted with the bell boy, James Wallace. Svoboda last night expressed great concern over the boy. Letters among his effects showed that the prisoner was a native of Budapest. His sister addressed him as "Count."

When the above information was conveyed to Chief of Police George A. Sheets this afternoon by the "News," Chief Sheets stated that it was all news to him and that he had never heard of Svoboda.

"If the man was in Salt Lake last March or any other time," said Chief Sheets, "I did not know it. This is the first I have heard of the fellow. If any communication has been sent to us from the Chicago authorities I have not received it as yet."

COLLEGE ROMANCE COMES TO AN END

Max Brown, Son of Ex-Senator, Is Seeking For Divorce.

MAKES SERIOUS CHARGES.

Declares Young Woman Got Him to Marry Her by Fraud—Too Friendly With Other Young Men.

(Special to the "News.") Chicago, Ill., July 28.—A college romance came to an end yesterday, when action for divorce was filed in the superior court by Max Brown, a University of Chicago student, who asks to be freed from Rosamond Brown, whom he met, courted and won, when he was a student in the University of Michigan. The defendant still lives at Ann Arbor. Brown's home is in Salt Lake City, and his father is said to own a large ranch at Bellevue, Ida.

The young man came to Chicago two years ago, and two months later the young woman followed him here, and they were married.

In his bill for divorce, Brown declared the young woman got him to marry her by fraud and that, although she said nothing to him concerning it, she was too friendly with other young men while they were in Ann Arbor. In her answer she denies the charges.

Max Brown, son of ex-United States Senator Arthur Brown, is quite well known among the young people of this city. He resides here at present with his father. Those acquainted with the facts concerning the romantic marriage of the young man will probably not be surprised at the sudden termination of the affair which began so suddenly. For some time the health of ex-Senator Brown has not been the best, and his son Max has been with him almost constantly. Before the divorce case is finally settled some sensational disclosures may be expected.

OLD SALT LAKE

ENTERPRISE.

Returns After an Absence of Thirty-five Years.

In 1861 among those who tramped across the great plains to found a commonwealth in the mountains, was a young English confectioner. The materials from which candy was made were so high, in common with other commodities, that a few attempted to earn a livelihood by producing sweets. But W. D. Startup was not daunted, although compelled to charge $1.00 per pound for common candy. With the advent of the railroad Mr. Startup was the first to give the public the benefit of cheaper transportation by immediately reducing the price of stick candy to 50 cents per pound.

Many old Salt Lake residents will remember Will Startup. In 1875 he moved his candy business to Provo, and a few years later met death in an accident. For many years his enterprise rested, awaiting the growth of his sons. In 1895, with the same vigor and public spiritedness that characterized their father, the Startup boys reinstalled the meagre candy appliances of their father and "started up" the candy business again, with practically no capital. "Startup" candy had been made in London, Birmingham and other English cities for many generations, so the American boys had the advantage of heredity, as well as all the other qualities necessary to success. It has been the constant aim of the Startup Candy Co. to produce such goods as it has been the custom of others to import from New York or Europe. This creditable undertaking has resulted in the employment of a great many more people than is necessary where only staples are made. They operate their own embossing, printing and folding box plant, machine shop, chewing gum factory, etc., all of which has enabled them to draw trade from the centers of commerce of the United States, the largest candy concerns of the country buy their many special productions; thus Utah candies have been given a place of great prominence in the country. Their business heretofore in Salt Lake City has been only with the large buyers who handle original cases, but with their branch house here all the trade will receive due attention. We welcome this enterprising firm into our city. Mr. David Andrew will be manager of their Salt Lake branch.

LADIES' DAY AT SALT AIR.

Monday will be Ladies' Day at Saltair. All ladies will be given FREE TRANSPORTATION to and from the resort on that day. Trains will run every forty-five minutes after one o'clock.
