MISCHIEVOUS CHILDREN.—We like mischievous children, and for this reason: they are apt to make old men. Good boys generally die in their fifth year, not because they are good, but because their quiet habits make them strangers to mud-puddles and oxygen, dirt-pies and out-door exercise. When a friend tells us he has a little baby who 'never wants to leave his books,' the knob of his front door immediately becomes an object of intense interest to us. We know, as well as if we were blessed with foreknowledge, that, in less than a year, a strip of black crape will be throwing a shade across his path that no time will ever eradicate.
