Washington Notes.

WASHINGTON, August 30.—By the retirement of Rear Admiral Davis, announced to-day, the following promotions will be made: Commodore Braine to be rear admiral; Captain George Brown, commodore; Commander Wm. Whitehead, captain; Lieutenant-commander G. A. Sketty, to be commander; Lieutenant D. F. Dilly, to be lieutenant-commander; Lieutenant J. O. Nicholson (junior grade), to be lieutenant; Ensign G. W. Denfield to be lieutenant (junior grade).

THE PRESIDENT

to day appointed Prof. G. Brown Goode, assistant director of the National Museum, to be commissioner of fish and fisheries, vice Prof. S. F. Baird, deceased.

Judge McCue, solicitor of the treasury, who was first tendered the office, declined because of his lack of scientific knowledge.

The office was also tendered to Gov. Thompson, acting secretary of the treasury, but he too declined it for the same reason.

Prof. Goode is a well known scientist and was associated with Professor Baird in many important duties of a scientific character.

THE CABINET

meeting to-day was attended by Secretary Bayard, acting Secretaries Thompson and Macleely and Muldrow and acting Attorney-General Jenks.

A party of Dutch naval officers attached to the Queen Emma, now lying at New York made an informal call this morning upon the President.

The President will issue to-morrow a proclamation allowing the free entry of the arms, munitions and baggage of such foreign military organizations as may desire to participate in the national military encampment next October.

Eastern Fight.

CAIRO, August 30.—The Kabbabish tribe defeated the Dervishes in Bagara County, killing 1,300. The Abyssinians are moving against the Dervishes via Sennar.

Murder over a Mine.

DENVER, August 30.—The Republican to-day has the following special from Santa Fe:

Two years ago Albert A. Mead came from Iowa and located some mines at Good Hope, near Trespiedras, New Mexico. A short time after locating the claims, Mead, in company with Fred and Harvy Mead, his kinsmen from Aledo, Illinois, Frank Reidel and G. Smith, of Chicago, incorporated the property under the laws of Illinois, under the name of the Las Lucas Milling & Mining Company. A mill was erected and the mines worked, until a few months ago, when Albert Mead became dissatisfied, claiming that the company was attempting to

SWINDLE HIM

out of his share of the property. He brought suit to regain possession of the property and went to Santa Fe to live. On Wednesday he left Santa Fe for Meadville Camp, for the purpose of securing some papers that he had left in the company's brick house and which were needed in his suit. Mead first made known his presence, while Fred and Mr. Hands was in Trespiedras, on Friday morning, and, returning to camp, when their team was within about fifty yards of the company's cabin, Albert stepped out from behind the bush, Winchester in hand, and demanded a halt. Albert then called Hands and ordered him to call Harvey Mead and Joe Downing out of the cabin, saying he desired them to keep out of the cabin until he, Albert, could search for and money which he had concealed therein. About this time Harvey Mead and Downing heard the commotion and both came out of the cabin. As they appeared Albert fired, and Downing fell dead. A second shot from his Winchester killed Harvey Mead. Turn-toward the wagon Albert then opened fire upon the occupants thereof, his third shot fatally wounding Hands. By this time Fred Mead had secured a six-shooter which Hands had and attempted to fire at Alfred Mead, but the weapon snapped and could not be discharged. Albert fired at Fred five times in rapid succession, and while he was thus engaged Fred Mead was running toward him. Finally the two desperadoes clinched and a for the possession of the weapon of death. At last Fred Mead got the Winchester from Albert, and with it docked him through the heart. Hands died five hours later. Albert A. Mead's body was buried face downward, and the remains of the other three were interred at Trespiedras. The coroner's investigation resulted in the acquittal of Fred Mead.

SOME PAPERS

STRUGGLE ENSUED

Irish Affairs.

LONDON, August 30.—It is reported that the cabinet has decided to modify the proclamation against the league so that it shall apply to certain districts only.

DUBLIN, August 30.—The evictions on the O'Grady estate began to-day. The bailiffs were enforced by a hundred soldiers and three hundred policemen. The house of Mrs. Crimmins, a widow, was first advanced upon. The widow and her friends were armed with paving stones and

BOILING WATER.

The bailiffs were repulsed four times. The sheriffs attempted to crow-bar their way through the walls and roof. Mrs. Crimmins had the scalding water poured over their heads. After the fourth repulse the police attempted to storm the house, but were driven back. Finally the house was broken into and the captured inmates were taken prisoner.

DUBLIN, August 30.—The fortnightly meeting of the National League was largely attended. Wm. O'Brien presided. He said the first branch of the league, against which the government should issue a proclamation, would hold its meeting with closed doors and refuse to open them for the police.

A COMMONS DEBATE.

LONDON, August 31.—In the House of Commons this evening in the debate on the vote for the Irish secretary's office, F. M. Healy denounced Balfour as an ignorant Scotchman; he made a violent attack on Col. King Harmon, the under-secretary, and was called to order for referring to him as a convict. He also said King Harmon had committed 500 murders to the Orangeman's one. At this point Col. King Harmon fled the house and denied the allegations made by F. M. Healy, the debate becoming so heated that the chairman called them both to order. Mr. Healy resumed the attack and said he blamed the government for appointing a notorious law-breaker and released convict. Colonel Harmon appealed to the chair, and Mr. Healy with emphasis, but afterwards withdrew the expression "notorious law-breaker and released convict," remarking at the same time that he knew no legal term that would accurately describe Harmon's conduct.

REPEATED THE PHRASE

Mr. Healy moved to reduce the vote £2,000. Mr. Healy's motion was negatived—113 to 52.

LOOKS LIKE MURDER.

Cowboys and "Regulators" Fired on the Indians for Plunder.

DENVER, Colo., Aug. 30.—The following was received to-day:

GLENWOOD SPRINGS, Colo., August 29.

To Colonel Chapman, A. G. G., Denver:

Phil Foote has just come in. He left Meeker at 7:30 this morning and brings no dispatches, as a courier left half an hour ahead of him. A messenger from Rangely reached Meeker just before Foot left, who reports that the Indians were moving east toward Rangely, where the troops are entrenched. He thinks that fighting has been renewed. Major Leslie had a parley with them yesterday.

THE INDIANS

reported 15 killed, and six will die in a little while.

They said: "Damn cowboys fool Utes, put on soldiers' clothes." They demanded the return of their horses. Major Leslie stated that the horses would be given up if Colorow and the two indicted indians were surrendered. This they positively rejected, and the powwow broke up. A courier with dispatches comes on the road with a change of horses. Foot came through on the trail. The courier ought to be in shortly. Foot says there were about 100 Indians in the fight, but during the night and following morning they received reinforcements and the country was alive with them.

LATER.

Information has just been received that all the Indians have been taken to the reservation by the troops, except a few old men and women who were left behind to care for the wounded, who are unable to be moved. The report, however, is not confirmed. Gov. Adams arrived at Camp Adams last night. General Crook is expected some time to-day. Adams has sent a courier to Colorow asking him to meet himself and Crook in peace council.

TERRY TALKS.

WASHINGTON, August 30.—General Terry telegraphed from Chicago to the War Department to-day, requesting that Indian Agent Byrnes be instructed to move from his reservation all intruders. The civil and military authorities of Colorado, in their excitement, may forget that state rights do not extend beyond the limits of the state, and precipitate a general outbreak on the reservation of the Indians, by crossing the border.

Telegraph instructions were sent this afternoon by the President to Governor Adams to confine the action of the civil authorities strictly within the limits of the state.

GENERAL TERRY

telegraphs from Chicago to the Adjutant General that he has received a dispatch from Commander Randlett dated at Fort Duchesne, saying that Colorow and his followers are at the Ouray agency, and manifest a disposition to remain on the reservation. The militia and cowboys hold a hundred horses and a thousand sheep and goats belonging to Colorow, Chipeta and Ouray's widow. This stock was grazing on land claimed by the Indians as belonging to their reservation, and where they had been permitted by their agent to live for years. Colorado settlers have claimed locations there, and have succeeded in driving the Indians out. Colorow has not, in this trouble, been on the "war path," and has made his way to the reservation, avoiding hostilities as far as possible.

A TELEGRAM

from Indian agent Byrnes to the Indian commissioner says:

Colorow and his followers are at the agency and do not want to fight. Major Leslie, who fired on the Indians on the border of the reservation, took possession of and ran off 30 head of Indian horses. The cowboys are breaking these horses for their own use. The Indians, when attacked, were on a peaceable hunting expedition and believed they had a right to hunt on those lands. He requests the War Department to instruct the commander of Fort Du Chesne to recover the horses and other property and return them to

THE RESERVATION.

The Indian commissioner has instructed Byrnes to remove from the reservation all persons found thereon, contrary to the laws, to restore to the Indians all their property abandoned by them and that the military would be ordered to co-operate in enforcing these instructions. The Secretary of the Interior has telegraphed to Gov. Adams to deliver to Indian Agent Byrnes the horses and other property taken by Major Leslie.

Don't Like Their Own Medicine.

LONDON, August 30.—The Times protests against the treatment to which British sealers in Behring Sea are subjected by the American authorities in Alaska, and suggests that the government send a cruiser to Alaskan waters to secure strictly legal treatment for British vessels.

German Gossip.

BERLIN, August 30.—The police order forbidding socialists to celebrate the death of Ferdinand La Salle, did not have the desired effect. Thousands of the followers of the great labor union organizer made the pilgrimage to Grunan yesterday.

The annual assembly of German Catholics opened at Treves yesterday. Three thousand delegates were present. Herr Windthorst in his opening address said that the entente cordiale which existed between the Pope and the Emperor was highly important as indicating the turning point in their relations. He proposed the health of the two potentates.

Opposed to It.

SOFIA, August 30.—The people are strongly opposed to the proposal of Russia to send a general and commission to Bulgaria.

Quite Hospitable.

ROME, August 30.—King Humbert has offered to the Crown Prince of Germany the use of the royal chateau at Caserta for the winter.

Southern Corn.

BALTIMORE, August 30.—The Manufacturer's Record this week contains a report from the entire South as to crops and the condition of business. The corn crop of the South is unprecedentedly large, exceeding the yield of 1886 by over $50,000,000 bushels. The South will this year be nearly self-supporting in the matter of corn, and many million dollars that have heretofore gone west for corn will be saved to the southern farmers.

Pattison is Silent.

PHILADELPHIA, August 30.—Ex-Governor Pattison, president of the Pacific Railway Commission, was seen to-day relative to Justice Field's decision. Pattison declined to be interviewed on what the effect of the decision would be on the commission. He was under the impression that Judge Hoffman had rendered a dissenting opinion.

A Ring Sale.

NEW YORK, August 30.—A large collection of condemned supplies were sold at auction at the Brooklyn navy yard yesterday. The Brooklyn Standard-Union publishes an extended article, claiming that the sale was managed in the interest of a ring of naval officers; that catalogues of goods were generally unobtainable by intending purchasers; that the officials in charge were by no means ready to give information; that when they did so it was sometimes misleading, and that much of the property advertised was not put up for sale at all, but was carried away by friends of the officers.

Good Bye, Ferdinand!

ST. PETERSBURG, August 31.—The Novesti says that the Porte has accepted Russia's proposal to send Einroth as provisional governor of Bulgaria and Eastern Roumania until the new Sobranje shall legally elect a prince. The Sultan has guaranteed that Turkey will assist General Einroth to carry out his mission, and supply him with a Turkish army if necessary.

Invited to San Francisco.

SAN FRANCISCO, August 31.—The following telegram was sent to President Cleveland to-day:

SAN FRANCISCO, August 30.

Hon. Grover Cleveland, President of the United States:

The municipality and prominent commercial organizations of the city of San Francisco have this day forwarded by mail an invitation to President and Mrs. Cleveland to visit our city.

(Signed) E. B. BOND,
Mayor of San Francisco.

SPECIAL DISPATCHES.

ALL QUIET ON THE FRONT—WHAT BLAINE IS DOING.

Special to the Denver News.

Yesterday at Glenwood.

GLENWOOD SPRINGS, Colo., August 28.—All quiet along the lines. A sad reminder of war times was paraded in front of headquarters this morning.

Two caskets were sent down to receive the mortal remains of Lieut. Folsom and Jack Ward, killed in action. Undertaker Johnson was commissioned to start this morning for the front to embalm and prepare the bodies for burial. Agent friends will await the arrival of poor Folsom and Ward, and will act as an escort of honor.

The following dispatch was received at headquarters and answered by Major Brooks in command of Glenwood post. Hon. Charles Adams telegraphs from Ouray as follows:

OURAY, Aug. 27.

Governor Adams, Gypsum:

If hostilities have not been actually commenced, if you desire to avert a perilous war and great expense to our state and if you wish me to do so, I will go and find Colorow and I think I can succeed in having him leave Colorado forever and perhaps give up the two Indians if within the border of the state. Telegraph your wishes. Can reach Meeker quickly from here via Grand Junction. My business permits.

(Signed) CHARLES ADAMS.

To which Major Brooks replied as follows:

GLENWOOD, August 28.

Hon. Charles Adams, Ouray:

I am directed by the governor to tender his thanks for your generous offer and to say that the present situation is so favorable for a satisfactory adjustment of the late difficulties that your services will not be required. He leaves to-day for a conference with General Crook at Meeker.

[Signed] E. J. BROOKS,
Major, A. I. G. C. N. G., Commanding Post.

Governor Adams accompanied by the following named gentlemen as an escort and military staff, Hon. G. G. Symes, Hon. William N. Byers, Gen. West, A. G.; Gen. Shepherd, A. A. A. G., and Colonel Merrison, A. D. C., will start at 2 p.m. from headquarters in carriages bound for Meeker to meet General Crook, U. S. A. The party will spend the night at Ferguson's ranch, about twenty-two miles from Glenwood, and will reach Meeker to-morrow.

We are informed that there are companies of "Buffalo regulars" trying to keep the Utes on their reservation, whither the Indians are flocking. This may be effectual. Morgan's ranch, where many settlers have been camped will be garrisoned by a detachment of two non-commissioned officers and 12 men from Glenwood post.

A sad dispatch was received by Gen. West last evening from Lieut. Folsom's mother, asking how badly he was wounded and how she could reach her boy. The general had to write the sad news of his death. Poor mother.

What Blaine is Doing.

CHICAGO, August 28.—The Daily News cable from Hamburg says: Since Blaine's friends insisted that he is abroad to demonstrate that, far from being a candidate for President, he is out of politics, it may be interesting to know that he, this morning, received 103 letters, many of them as bulky as government reports. They came from all sections of the states, the largest number being from New York, Boston, Brooklyn, Long Branch, Saratoga, New Orleans, San Francisco and Pennsylvania. Much of Blaine's time during the last week has been spent in letter-writing. He remained at his desk until 3 o'clock this morning. His mail has been increasing. I understand this to be unexpected. It seems that the campaign was

CUT AND DRIED

and apportioned to his zealous adherents, and it was really arranged that he be suffered to sever all minor communications. Now a panic seems to have set in among his followers, and lesser lights along the line are endeavoring to open correspondence with him. This provokes him, as for historical reasons, he is averse to letter writing, and prefers conversational relations with his friends. There is a hen on here. The place is crowded with railroad dignitaries, American lobbyists and brokers, and among them all stands Murat Halstead, a conspicuous figure. Blaine hobnobs with them all, and dines every evening with the more select of them. They are endeavoring to protect him from slander by Masonic silence. As a

BACKBITING TONGUE

ever pursues illustrious action, however, it is doubtful if their tentative defense will save him. Several attaches of the present administration, who happen to be here on a vacation, see in the flocking of railroad notables around Blaine something of ominous import. One of the caricatures of the campaign will be Blaine posed as the Colossus of the political Rhodes, with one foot planted on railroad money bags and the other resting on the labor party. His dickering with Henry George's machine last year came within an ace of being exposed. The play for the high stake in New York is still going on. Little is feared from labor influence in Pennsylvania under the regime of the knights who are expected to prove submissive under the whip of Blaine's millionaire supporters there. Blaine's affiliations with the railroad

WIRE PULLERS

here is accepted as evidence of a coalition with them. His well established connections with railroad magnates in the past, both as a statesman and stipendiary, justifies in the eyes of watchful Americans the belief that railroad people regard him as altogether the most powerful friend they could have in the presidential chair. The railroad monopolists have taken fright at the aggressive conduct of the democratic party and President Cleveland's administration and are centering on Blaine as their choice. While he admits himself the desirability of placating the labor element and is striving to do so, he cheerfully, though covertly, accepts the other precious friendship. One of Mr. Curtis' New York admirers said to-day that the railroads, alarmed at

DEMOCRATIC INTERFERENCE

with the freedom and privileges enjoyed under republican rule are entering into arrangements with Blaine. This I heard from one of his railroad friends Thursday, who is a friend of mine. There is no specified deal I am told. Blaine is being quietly assured of the sources from which funds and influence can be drawn, and mutual pledges of fraternity are being made all around. It is a coincidence that Depew, Garrett, Gowen and these other twenty and more railroad fellows are at Hamburg this week. How Blaine is going to carry the railroads on one shoulder and the labor malcontents on the other, I can't see. Blaine is taking the waters of the Elizabeth Spring regularly, but says they don't agree with him as much as he had hoped.
