EDITORIAL NOTE.

Read the communiques from the Commissioner of Agriculture and send us your specimens.

Ogden has only one case of small pox, in its mildest form. We hope to hear of no more. The city had better keep up its caution for some time.

The Ohio people raised a taxation last year over $11,000,000 for school purposes. Besides going to existing accommodations or pupils, that State built 490 new school houses.

The Chicago Times of 14th inst., which can be had at every newsstand over nineteen columns of close reading matter on the subject of future punishment, which is now agitating the Christian world from centre to circumference.

The Indian Bureau has got this country about $5,000,000 per annum for the last ten years. How much does "Lo, the poor Indian" derive of this amount? It is estimated by those who know the inside workings of the Indian ring, that at $5,000,000 a year has gone into the pocket books of the "Indian's friends."

Scribner's midwinter number just out, is a splendid specimen of literary ability and the public art. The reading matter, the engravings, the whole make up a magazine that is first class and now what can be accomplished by American enterprise. It can be compared with all other leading periodicals at Dwyer's.

The editor of the Omaha is beginning to turn the tables on his assailants. He has come with a libel suit against the publishers of the Fremont Tribune for $5,000 damages, the main complaint being that the Tribune falsely published that the Tribune was mortgaged and that the First National of Omaha was pushing the wall because it was unable to meet its obligations. The paper is going to sing now as we gather the honey of general news.

Omaha papers announce the death of two old inhabitants of the city. Mr. G. M. Mills departed this life on Wednesday last, aged 70 years, and Mr. St. John Goodrich on evening of the same day, aged 80 years. Mr. Mills was a native of New York State, and settled in Omaha in 1854. Mr. Goodrich was also a New Yorker, and settled in Omaha in 1857. He was formerly an attorney, and had been a member of several of the principal organizations. Both were highly respected and have died regretted.

THE CRISIS.

NEGOTIATIONS for the settlement of the war between Russia and Turkey are now in progress. From dispatches to-day, it appears that Turkey is prepared to make considerable concessions. But powerful enemy has advanced far towards her capital to be put with the terms specified. However, it is not to be supposed that England will permit the Dardanelles to be opened to the war vessels of Russia and Turkey alone, as it is reported the Quar requires as one of the conditions of peace, England will certainly regard this demand as a cause of war, and if the statement proves to be correct we may look for hostilities to be commenced once, and for the outbreak of the vast and terrible conflict which those who have watched the war have dreaded from the onset.

The belligerents may make arrangements which will satisfy the Russian and be congenial to the Turk, but there are other powers who are interested in the solution of the questions involved in this sanguinary struggle, and a settlement between Russia and Turkey cannot by any means be regarded as a settlement of the difficulty. The question has approached the last point of a crisis.

ARRIVAL OF THE NEEDLE.

BRITANNIA has at last got hold of her needle. This morning it arrived in the Thames opposite Gravesend, and by the time this is in the hands of our readers it will be within the port of London. Cleopatra's needle, a monolith or obelisk, presented by the Khedive of Egypt to the British Government, was brought to Alexandria from Heliopolis (called On in the Bible) a distance of one hundred and thirty miles, some time during the first century of the Christian era. It was erected sixteen hundred years before the advent of the Savior, and when removed was placed in front of the temple built to Augustus Caesar.

In order to transport to England the ancient relic which has been gilded upon by Moses and Aaron, Ramses, Darius, Cambyses, Alexander, the Ptolemies, Julius Caesar, Cleopatra and Mark Antony, to say nothing of more modern celebrities, a vessel was constructed to float it upon the ocean. It was successfully launched and towed by the steamship Ogygos until, during a severe storm in the Bay of Bosphorus, it was cut adrift and abandoned. It was subsequently recovered by the Ptolemies and taken to Ferrol, a Spanish seaport, where it was held for salvage fees. A law suit has grown out of the occurrence, but pending the decision of the courts, bail has been given, and Mr. John Dixon, who built the cylinder boat Cleopatra, in which the needle was conveyed, contracted to deliver it in London for $500. He has succeeded, and now Britannia can take her needle and set it up where all the world may go and see it freely.

NATIONAL BANK DISPOSITIONS.

WASHINGTON, 21.—Conkling presented a large number of petitions from citizens of Ulster, Livingston, Orange, and other counties of New York, in favor of non-recognition of the bill, laid on the table.

He submitted a concurrent resolution declaring that it is unnecessary and inexpedient, at this time, to impose the taxes asked for by the Secretary of the Treasury to provide $300,000,000 for the payment of the national debt, and directed the Secretary not to purchase any more bonds for liquidation of the public debt until directed to do so by Congress; laid over for the present and ordered that it be printed.

By Conkling, for the relief of Wm. A. Hamm, late Surveyor General of the U. S. A.

By Chase, for the regularization of the meaning and intent of 15th section of the Pacific Railroad act of July 1st, 1862, etc.

Burnside submitted a resolution directing the committee on judiciary to examine the laws relating to the final removal of courts martial and the trial of cases upon what officer raised the date of view the proceedings in the case of Col. Runkle, U. S. A.

A debate ensued between Burnside, Conkling, and others, and Burnside finally withdrew the resolution; also the motion made by him to lay the bill, and to rescind the vote by which the Judiciary committee, on motion of Conkling, last week, was instructed to inquire into this subject. In withdrawing his motion, Burnside gave notice that he would, to-morrow, submit resolutions so as to give into the joint committee on the subject and the military committee charge of the drowsy under this military character.

At the expiration of the morning hours the Senate resumed consideration of the resolution of Matthews, declaring the right of government to pay bonds in silver.

EASTERN.

GERMAN MEETING—TRADE SHOW.

NEW YORK, 21.—The German Philadelphia trade show, which opened days ago, the German Society of this city, held its annual dinner. This organization is the leading German Charitable Society, and its members are composed of the best citizens. The recent dinner nearly broke up in a row, and many of the expressmen, their wives, and their children, who were invited to the meeting, were compelled to leave the room. The affair was adjourned to another hall, and the meeting was continued.

The Financial News reports that the following is the financial bill which was introduced in the Senate to-day by Cameron:

If it is enacted, do. That there shall be coined from time to time, in the name of the United States, standard silver dollars as provided for in the act of January 1st, 1857, and any owner of silver bullion may deposit the same at any United States mint or at the United States assay office in the city of New York, and receive in return therefor, a certificate of value of gold bullion in standard silver dollars, and from and after the passage of this bill, the said silver dollars and standard gold coinage shall jointly be full legal tender, each to the extent of 50 per cent, and no more of said public and private, except as otherwise provided by law or express contract.

The following are parts of acts inconsistent herewith are hereby repealed.

It was referred to the committee on finance.

THE TURKISH PEACE COMMISSIONERS.

A Russian official telegram, dated Saturday, states that the Turkish commissioners arrived.

Hannibal, the Englishman, and others received with military honors by order of the Grand Duke Nicholas.

They started with an escort to Kars, where they were expected on Saturday.

Adrianoce Not Surrendered.

A Constantinople correspondent denies that the surrender of Adrianoce has been agreed to in consequence of the demand of Russia. He asserts that the Turks decided not to defend the place because it was considered untenable. The same correspondent, telegraphing from Constantinople, says it will be impossible to communicate by telegraph with Adrianoce for three hours, and it is probable the Russians have entered it.

The Turkish Enter Aspinio.

Waterloo Bro. received information from Paris, N. Y., that the bill, liability to pay, to be $100,000 nominal, was $60,000. The president of Hussards and the sum of values are assigned as the cause.

Will Adhere to His Father.

The House of Commons special committee on the subject of the President is getting tired of the press which is being brought upon him from certain quarters to dismiss his Secretary of the Interior and Postmaster-General, and that if this continues he is not unlikely to ask for the resignation of some of the members of his cabinet.

The State Department should be notified of the scandalous proceedings, and that efforts should be made to have Moyer's conduct brought to the attention of the German government. The affair may result in the recall of Legge.
