

Not Enough Water in Weber River to Supply All Demands.

And Strand Strategy

Considerable anxiety is being exer-cised by the farmers in the southern and western part of Weber county and in parts of Davis county that unless careful measures are enforced regulat-ing the usage of the waters of Weber river, their farms are going to suffe greatly during the remainder of the season for want of water. That the matter might be properly adjusted, representatives of a number of the irri-gation companies met at the court bound and openheid a computing on Logan, Cache Co., July 13.--William Thompson of Clarkston was struck by lightning while going to the hayfield on a hayrack yesterday and narrowly escaped being killed. As it is, Mr. Thompson is very badly burned, and is in a rather critical condition. Mr. Thompson was rendered unconscious by the bolt and his clothes were set on fire. Fortunately, some near by neigh-bors saw the accident and hastened to his rescue. The burning clothes were removed, but not until his legs and lower parts of his body were badly burned. He was taken to his home where he was brought back to con-sciousness, and it is now thought he will recover. Both horses were knocked down by the shock, but soon recovered. A little daughter of W. M.
