EDITORIAL NOTES.

-What are the clergy doing? Rev. C. A. Kendrick, pastor of the True Baptist Church, Celumbus, Ga., it is said, soduced a young girl, was arrested, and put in jail to protect him from being mobbed by the friends of the girl.

-The Pittsburg Commercial talks of Samuel E. G. Nixon, the "infant watchmaker." The child is two years and seven months old, and can take a watch to pieces and readjust the works, putting every pin and wheel in its proper place.

A youth of Lafayette, Ark., recently paid dearly for a foolish joke. He tried to frighten a doctor, named Westbrook, by presenting a plug of twisted tobacco at his head. The doctor, thinking that it was a platol, drew his revolver and shot the boy dead.

—Rev. Frank H. Buffum, pastor of East Hartford, Gt., lived four years adulterously with Cora Lord, and "more than once asked a physician to perform a service for her which professional honor would not allow." The evidence was strong, Cora confessed, the church council found him guilty, and the reverend gentleman ran away.
—When will people learn to handle fire-arms with care? James Cunningham, 15 years old, of Penast grove, Salem Co., N. J., thrust the rusty barrel of a gun into a hot
