

Correspondence.

To the Beekeepers of Utah Territory.

MILL CREEK, June 1st, 1874.

We, your committee, have examined the different reports of the beekeepers of Utah, but owing to the incomplete reports of many, it would be almost impossible to give a correct and satisfactory report, that would do justice to apiculture in Utah.

From the reports we find that the total number of hives of bees in the Territory, in the spring of 1874, amounts to 1768 stands, in tolerable condition, principally Italian, in the movable frame hive. The honey products were not so great as in the previous year. All are in expectation of doing well this present season, judging from the prospects and condition of their bees at the time of reporting.

Many reports were very conflicting as to management and mode of wintering, thus proving that what is suitable in one location is not good in another. The same reasoning may be applied to the honey producing plants of Utah; in some locations they yield abundantly, while in others they do not yield any. For instance, in St. George, owing to the warm climate, the lucerne and clover in some locations are very productive, but around Salt Lake City and Mill Creek, the bees do not work upon it at any time, for we have a good opportunity to see the plants, notice them, having, within one mile of our apiaries, over sixty acres of the lucerne, and if there was honey in it, the bees would visit and get it, or we may have some better plant in bloom at the time.

We do not want to discuss any subjects, but to give our actual knowledge and experience. If it will benefit any one we are glad of it, and if we state any thing that you know is not right, do not follow it.

We recommend a uniformity of hives in the apiary; one size frame to the best of the bees. If all beekeepers would Italianize their black bees it would be a great benefit to them in many ways.

FOUL BROOD.

In our opinion the best mode of treatment of this disease is, do not tamper or try to cure it, but destroy all the bees and comb by burying it in a hole, or by burning it thoroughly by scraping and scalding and by fumigation with sulphur before using it again to put bees in. Their honey can be used by scalding it, or by putting the comb containing the honey in your stove oven, baking it out, then placing it away to cool, the wax will come to the top and can be taken off. Do this in the evening, so that the bees cannot have a chance to carry any of it to their hives and spread the disease.

Do not have to get rich in one season, by dividing your bees too often, and leaving them weak, subject to the moth miller, to robbery, and to become discouraged, but keep them strong in numbers, and they will pay you well.

THE HONEY EXTRACTOR is very essential to bee keeping, but it must be used with wisdom, and not to the injury of your bees. Help them, but do not work against them.

Take a bee journal and post yourselves. June is the best month to beekeepers. The bees must be attended to, to keep them from swarming and leaving for parts unknown, causing a loss to the owners, therefore have your hives ready for immediate use.

Yours with respect,

SETH H. PUTNAM, JOHN MORGAN, GEO. B. BAILEY, Committee.

COLORADO.

ITS WEALTH, RESOURCES AND POPULATION—QUALIFICATIONS FOR ADMISSION TO THE UNION.

Washington, May 29.

Mr. Chaffee's report accompanying the bill for the admission of Colorado as a State in the Union contains the following statements:

Colorado has 644 miles of complete railway within her borders, six roads centering in the city of Denver.

Immigration, which always follows railroads, has been greater during the last three years than in the same period of any Territory except California.

The product of 1873 is estimated at $29,742,000, consisting of gold and silver, $5,000,000; cereals, $6,750,000; sale of live stock, $2,000,000; sale of wool, $800,000; sale of lumber, $400,000; sale of flour, $250,000; sale of fruit, $200,000. Manufactures in the city of Denver alone, $3,240,100.

There are 1,000 miles of telegraph, valued at $235,400. Irrigating canals, 850 miles; valuation, $400,000. Churches, 125; valuation $450,000. Value of real estate and smelting works, $3,000,000. Manufactures—value, $725,000. Value of cattle, pig assessors' returns, $4,230,435; horses, $1,405,285; sheep, $453,621.

Number of school districts, 248; school population, 15,500; value of school property, $200,185; school fund, $137,557. The increase in the last two years has been 216 per cent.

Assessed value of property in the Territory, about $50,000,000; real value, $100,000,000.

There are about 7,000,000 acres of land susceptible of cultivation, which would be greatly enlarged by a system of irrigation, which the State would adopt. There are about 1,500,000 acres of improved land returned by assessors; valuation $9,209,944.

One hundred and sixty-seven post offices, nine of the postmasters being salaried at over $1,000 a year as such as Chicago or Philadelphia, thirteen salaried at from $500 to $900. The aggregate business at the Denver post office was about $500,000 last year.

Ten national banks, twenty-seven private banks and five savings banks. The three banks in Denver last year paid $22,500,000 of exchange.

The vote polled last year was 20,544, and the registered vote was over 25,000.

Immigration estimated by the Board of Immigration to average 3,000 per month.

Population about 100,000; will be over 200,000 when admitted under this bill.

No Territory, when admitted, has presented such an array of statistics showing wealth, population and development as Colorado has.
