He removed to the State of New York in early childhood; settled at the place that was afterwards called Rochester; his father built the first house in that city. They removed to New London in the State of Ohio, in the year 1815. He was married to Martha Hendry, April 7, 1822.

He was baptized into the Church of Jesus Christ of Latter-day Saints by Solomon Hancock, at Kirtland, Ohio, June 8, 1831. He went up to Jackson County, Missouri, in the year 1832, received his inheritance in that county soon after his arrival on the 17th day of October. He and his family were driven from his house and home in the fall of 1833. A company of armed men consisting of about 40, came to their house, and asked them if they were Mormons, and being answered in the affirmative they (the mob) told them that if they were not gone, from there before night that they (the mob) would kill the last one of them.

Knowing too well what their fate would be if they should disobey them, they left their house and their all (he being a cripple), his wife and three children with him traveled on foot without shoes, leaving a trail of blood as they hastened across the bleak prairie, and were camped in this lonely, desolate and destitute condition on the open prairie when the great and memorable sign of the stars falling from heaven was seen. He endured much privation in this driving from Jackson County; he next settled in Clay County where he remained about two and a half years when he settled on Shole Creek, about four miles from Haun's Mill (was there at the time of the massacre) and was again driven (this time from the State) and made a stop at Burlington, Iowa. Afterwards settled in Lee County, opposite the city of Nauvoo, and being again driven from their home at the time of the exodus of the Saints from Nauvoo, he returned to Jackson County, reviewed his old home that was in the hands of those that robbed him. Again settled at a place called Lone Jack, where he remained until 1848, when he removed to Council Bluffs, and emigrated to Utah in 1851. Settled at Provo, Utah County. In the spring of 1853 he removed to Glenwood, Sevier County. Was again driven (this time by Indians), from his home, making a short stay of 6 or 7 months at Fountain Green, Sanpete County, from thence they removed to Holden, Millard County, where he remained until the fall of 1872, when he returned to Glenwood, Sevier County (his former home), where he remained until his demise. Amid all the drivings, persecutions, privations and poverty he was firm and true to the cause of truth, and died in full faith of the gospel and a hope of a glorious resurrection. He was ordained an Elder in the year 1845, and afterwards was ordained a High Priest, after he came over the gospel, he thought that he could be healed of his affliction, viz., the partial loss of his speech and his limbs by a paralytic stroke, and when the Elders laid their hands on him, he received a revelation through them that he was afflicted for a wise purpose and would not be healed. He ever after bore his afflictions patiently.

He was the father of six daughters and three sons; he was the grandfather of 45 children and 26 great grandchildren. He leaves the wife of his youth, two sons, two daughters, many grandchildren and great-grandchildren and many friends to mourn his loss.

The funeral services took place at the schoolhouse, December 26, 1878, at 1 o'clock, where a large assembly of relatives and friends were addressed by President A. K. Thuerber and Bishop A. T. Oldroyd, after which his mortal remains were placed to rest in the new burying ground.—[COM.]

What are you going to do about it?

Because the penalties of physiological laws are not executed speedily, some fancy they are void. But when the system breaks down, and almost hopeless complications arise, which the family physician, by reason of his limited experience, fails to relieve, the pertinancy of the above inquiry is apparent. Many remedies have been specially prepared for these cases, and many physicians are bidding for their patronage. As before making a purchase of land, a "search" is required and the title carefully examined, so invalids should carefully investigate the claims of any physician offering to treat chronic diseases. Dr. Pierce's Family Medicines are well known, and have effected many cures where eminent physicians have failed, yet to accommodate surgical and complicated cases, and those desirous of being restored speedily, Dr. Pierce has erected an elegant sanitarium, at a cost of nearly half a million dollars. No institution in the world offers advantages superior to those found in this establishment. Half a score of physicians are in attendance, several of whom have been prominently connected with leading American and European Hospitals. Every improved facility for hastening a cure that a liberal expenditure of money could secure can here be found. Before fully deciding where to go, address Invalids' and Tourists' Hotel, for circular.

THOUGH they may obstinately resist the action of other external remedies, ulcers containing proud flesh, swellings, tumors, leprosy granulations and scrofulous sores speedily heal under the purifying and soothing influence of HENRY'S CARBOLIC SALVE, the promptest and most efficient topical application ever discovered or used. It is believed that there is no chronic sore or eruption that may not be eradicated by this incomparable purifier. Sold by all Druggists.

A GOOD PLAN

The most profitable plan for operating in stocks is that of uniting capital of various sums by combining or pooling the orders of thousands of customers, and using them as one mighty whole, which has been done so successfully by Messrs. Lawrence & Co., Bankers, 57 Exchange Place, N. Y. City. By this co-operative system, each investor is placed on an equal footing with the largest operator, and profits are divided pro rata among shareholders every 30 days. An investment of $10 would pay $50, making 5 per cent on the stock during the month. $25 would return $150, or 6 per cent; $100 would make $1,000, or 10 per cent; and so on, according to the market.

Frank Leslie's Illustrated Newspaper, June 28th, says: "The combination method of operating in stocks is the most successful ever adopted."

New York Independent, Sept. 12th, says: "The combination system is founded upon correct business principles, and no person need be without an income while it is kept working by Messrs. Lawrence & Co." Brooklyn Journal, April 9th, says: "Our editor made a net profit of $101.25 on an investment of $20 in one of Messrs. Lawrence & Co's combinations."

The firm's new circular (copyrighted and sent free) contains "Two unerring rules for success in stock operations," and explains everything. All kinds of Stock and Bonds wanted. New Government Loans supplied. Best references. Address, LAWRENCE & CO., Bankers and Brokers, 57 Exchange Place, New York City.

GEO. B. LINCOLN, Pres't of the Board of Health, N. Y., writes: "Your Carbolic Salve is an excellent article, and I thank you for it. This is another evidence of the great value of the discovery of carbolic acid."

D. R. LOCKE (Petroleum V. Nasby), of New York, states that he had "on the forefinger of his right hand one of those pleasant pets, a 'run-round,' the finger became inflamed to a degree unbearable."

"A friend dressed it with Carbolic Salve, and in twenty minutes the pain had so much subsided as to give a fair night's rest."
