BOSTON CON. BUSY.

Preparations Under Way to Increase Production of Bingham's Big Mine.

The Boston Consolidated is rapidly

The Boston Consolidated is rapidly getting into shape for heavy production. The main crushing department and the bins for the crude ore as well as the railroad tresties are now completed and the enormous steel structure makes an imposing building. The steel frame wrok for the two first sections has already been placed in position and the other is being put together as fast as men can do it and it is expected that some time in July or Algust the mill will be eating up 3,000 tons of ore every 24 hours.

At the mine the steam shovels are uncovering the great bodies of copper ores and the production of almost any amount will depend on the capacity of the mammath ore bins, which will have a capacity sufficient to hold enough ore so that a layoff will not be necessary in case of an accident to the "sky line" and are probably the largest cre bins in the world. As an example of economical working of low grade ore the Boston Consolidated is ahead of anything in the westernicountry.—Bingham Press.

WONDERFUL RECORD ENDS.

WONDERFUL RECORD ENDS. United States Smelter Stops Generator

After Five Years' Operation.

After Five Years' Operation.

An electric generator installed in the United States smelter at the first of the year 1992 by the General Electric company has been stopped after running continuously since that time. The machine which made this wonderful record has been running 24 hours a day for five years without a stop for any cause whatever and is today in just as good shape as it was when put in over 43,800 hours ago. It has needed no repairs and needs none new. It is the regular type of 200 horsepower generator and was one of the first pieces of machinery installed when the smelter was being equipped. During its phenomenal run it has supplied the entire smelter with power, it was stopped because it is to be replaced by a 750 horsepower generator of the latest General Electric Curtis sfeam turbine. The new machine will take hardly one fourth the space of the old type of generator and is noted for the lack of vibration found during operation. It is claimed that a dollar can be balanced upon the machine while it is running a smelter or any big plant.

RENO IS EXCITED.

Strikes in Fairview and Wonder Attract Fortune Hunters. (Special to the "News.")

(Special to the "News.")

Reno, Nevada, April 8.—Reno is a seething caldron of excitement over recent reports of rich silver and gold strikes in Fairview and Wonder. Embryo Mackays, Fairs. Floods and O'-Briens are crowding the trains for Fairon, 40 miles east on the Southern Pacific, whence they form an almost continuous line over the bleak desert along the 42 miles of old government road to Fairview. There may be seen a constantly shifting procession of vehicles of every description. Distributed along cally shifting procession of vehicles of every description. Distributed along he road are big, lumbering desert registers, drawn by 12 to 20 mules, seighted with provisions, tents, cambing implements, salcon estentials and luggage of every description; autos, stages, wagons, arts, hacks and buggies, loaded with as motley a multied with as motiey a multi-tude as could be imagined, clad in khaki, cordurey and garments of every conceivable description. In the throng are old-time prospectors, cowboys, gamblers, gamins scarcely in their teens, and here and there a dapper tenderfoot from some eastern city all sambiers, gamins scarcely in their teens, and here and there at dapper tenderfoot from some eastern city, all fraternizing with desert democracy in their mad rush to what they believe to be a second Comstock.

The old Comstock lode, which, in the early seventies, produced in the neighborhood of $600,000,000 profits for its owners, is about 80 miles west of Fairview and Wonder in a direct line, and 22 miles southwest of Reno. Mining experts claim the geology of the new districts is the same. The silve in the cre is greatly in excess of the gold, and all Nevada seems suddenly to have jumped to the conclusion that two new Comstocks have been found. In Reno the hotels and lodging houses are crowded, and the corridors are lined with cots. Fallures in almost every walk of life are here in quest of grubstake money. The people are morragging their homes to grubstake their triends to go into the new districts Everybody, from the staid bank president to the newsboy, is infected with the excitement.

The Fairview mineral belt was discovered about a year ago, and that or Wonder shorily thereafter. Shrew operators of the Nixon, Winsfield and Sullivan type have had their mining experts in the districts, staking out claims, for months past, and only within the past few days have discoveries been made public which tend to show that the belt is likely to be of enormous producing value. Wonder is about 16 miles from Fairview, directly north, and is no doubt a part of the same mineral belt. Here the Nevada Wonder Mining company, which is controlled by the Fourth National bank people of Philadelphia, who also own the Tonopah & Goldfield rallway, have opened a vein 89 feet wide, and after only six months' development, experts are comparing it with the Homestake in the Black Hills, from which the Hearst estate derives no small part of its income. The Wonder district is already rated a mining giant. The names of such producing mines as the Jack Pot, Rich Guich, Spider and Wasp, Vulture, Christmas and Queen are the veerybody's mouth. They were only "prospects" a few weeks ago.

CONCENTRATES.

Fred. Schrott, accompanied by Mr. Willey, has left for the Lexington-Concord district near the Blackhorse district.

L. Jeffs and J. M. Mc staj leave today for a trip of inspection to the Rattler and other holdings in the Rosebud district. Assays from Assamples from the Rattler go high in gold and Mr. Jeffs and associate go out to see for themselves. A big campaign of development is to be started if conditions at the property show that the time is ready for it.

A mining excursion to Newhouse and A mining excursion to Newhouse and surrounding district is being promoted by parties interested in that region. It will be a sort of "seeing Ultah first" trip, and while details are not arranged yet, it is expected about 50 mining men will go to examine the district. The trip will be made about the middle of this month and two or three days will be spent in examining different propers. spent in examining different proper-

President Joseph F. Smith was elected President Joseph F. Smith was elected chairman of the meeting and H. G. Whitney, sceretary. Manager Cutler made an extended report of the operations of the past year both at Lehi and Garland, from which the above items are taken. The report also covered the operations of the power plant near Collinston, where 4,000 electric horse power were generated, the power being sold the Utah Light & Railway company after being carried 42½ miles over the Sugar company's wires to Ogden. The company also operates the land and canait system in Boxelder county, habing 125 miles of canals and laterals.

While the price of sugar had been low throughout the year and still continued low, Manager Cutler reported that the company had more than earned its dividend of 7 per cent on the preferred stock, and carried a balance to the reserve account.

Mr. Cutler also reported that the company had so reported the company

The acreage for the Garland factory would be about the same as last year. The term of the present board of directors, who were elected five years ago, had expired, but on motion the election was deferred, as it was desired to amend the articles, making the terms of office one year instead of five, and a special stockholders' meeting would have to be called to effect this change.

LOCAL MARKET REPORT.

In today's local markets, the receipts include several cars of fancy naval oranges from Rediands, as the washout embargo has been removed, and the Southern Pacific has resumed through fruit and vegetable shipments. There is also a good supply of bananas on hand, but the commission men say that there is to be a scarcity of bananas a little later on, as it is reported that the eastern markets are calling so strongly for the fruit that the shipments from the tropics are hardly enough to go around. Consequently the amounts to be sent to the far west are likely to be reduced. Prices will of course go up. Grape fruit is reported scarce as to the smaller variety, while there is plenty of the very largest size, 48 to the box, to be had. Texas cucumbers are still arriving, being quoted at $2.50 per doz, wholesale, and Florida tomatoes are being received today. Two cars of Idaho spuds are reported received; also a fine lot of California Winsted cabbage, with a wide assortment of Pacific coast vegetables. There are also fresh co-coanuts on the market. The first shipment of Los Angeles letuce is reported, big heads, unusually fine, and wholesaling at $1 per dozen. Lemens are reported scarce.

Owing to the lateness in the season, there is a slight advance in hay. Butter off five cents, as the grass is beginning to make itself manifest. Blue points and Toke point oysters are out of the market; so are little neck clams. The following prices are obtaining today: In today's local markets, the receipts
