EDITORIAL NOTES.

A small boy named Arthur Johnson, of Healdsburg, Cal., has been badly poisoned by a caterpillar coming in contact with his face. It caused him to be seriously ill for over a week. It appears from this that some of the caterpillar species are poisonous.

At Victoria, British Columbia, last week, a singular phenomenon was witnessed in the western sky. The reflection of the moon's rays on the rain formed a splendid belt of light, extending from the northern to the southern horizon, and lasting some time.

Of all the cant phrases in the world that called "liberty of conscience" is the meanest. It has no sense in it, to begin with. A man's conscience cannot but be free. There is no alternative. No other person can with truth say to a man: "You shall not think as you think." Thought is free as the wind.

The presidential campaign has begun. Already charges and counter-charges are beginning to pass current through the papers. Bogus interviews and statements that never were made by the persons credited with them are appearing in every direction. Accusations and explanations are in order. This is a great country.

For a week or two the people of this region had been complaining of the heat and corresponding almost intolerable dryness. Yesterday's gentle shower, accompanied by last evening's thunder and lightning, cleared and cooled the atmosphere, and this has been one of the most delightful days ever enjoyed by mortals. Take it all in all this climate can scarcely be excelled.

The Pike's Peak railroad, which is to be in operation next year, will probably be the most remarkable piece of track in the world. It is already operated to a point 12,000 feet above the sea level. The entire 30 miles of its length will be a succession of complicated curves and grades, with no piece of straight track longer than 300 feet. The maximum grade will be 316 feet to the mile and the average grade 270 feet. Its numerous curves will be from 500 to 1,000 feet long, in which the radius will change every chain.

The work of putting in the flume to convey the water from the springs in Dry Cañon to the upper ditch running along the bench land will be finished this week, so that the people of that section will have some benefit from that source within a few days. Unfortunately the old V flume which conveys the water from the springs to the forks is out of repair, besides being insufficient for the purpose. It will have to be substituted by a more capacious aqueduct before the stream can be fully taken to the desired point. It is confidently expected that tunneling will largely increase the quantity of water.

It is an old theory that lightning never strikes the same place twice. That theory was demolished during a thunder shower at Catlin, New York, last week. Lightning struck the chimney of a house in that town, partially destroying it and spreading consternation among the family, as it knocked the kitchen stove into a hundred pieces. Before the fragments could be gathered together another bolt struck the same chimney, scattering the bricks and passage down outside the building. It was soon followed by a third that completely destroyed the chimney, which seemed to possess a particular attraction for lightning. None of the inmates of the house were injured.

The struggle to get control of the next House of Representatives will be an important phase of the coming campaign. It is very clear that if the Republicans expect to gain the ascendency, they have a hard fight before them. A tremendous pressure all around will be required to push the Democrats out of their strongly intrenched position. There are in the present House 198 Democratic members (not counting the two or three who have been seated in contested election cases), and 124 Republican members. The Democratic majority is 74. It would, therefore, be necessary, in order to give the Republicans a majority in the Forty-ninth Congress, to elect Republican Congressional candidates in thirty-eight districts now represented by Democrats.

The population of the United States on July 1, was about 57,000,000. This is ascertained in the following manner. For many years the increase in time of peace has been almost precisely 2 per cent. yearly from excess of births over deaths, besides the excess of immigration over emigration. The population June 30, 1880 was 50,155,783; adding 2 per cent. increase, 1,003,115, and the net immigration of the fiscal year 1881, 669,431, we have 51,828,329 as the population June 30, 1881. Again adding 2 per cent., 1,036,566, and the net immigration, 788,902, we have 53,653,887 as the population June 30, 1882. Again adding 2 per cent., 1,073,087, and the net immigration, 299,015, we have 55,025,979, as the population June 30, 1883. And again adding 2 per cent. for the current year, 1,100,519, and about 850,000 for immigration—the number during the fiscal year up to June 1 having been 454,206—we have as the probable population June 30, 1884, about 56,982,408. In two years more it will probably exceed 60,000,000.

At Fresno, Cal., on Saturday night, during the progress of the Democratic ratification meeting in Grady's Opera-house a shooting scrape occured between W. D. Grady and R. B. Terry, a nephew of Judge D. S. Terry. Grady had been put in nomination as Chairman of the meeting, when Terry and a few others began to object to his election and M. K. Harris was also put forward. Grady arose to speak and Terry hissed him. Terry finally got greatly excited and left the hall. Harris in the meantime was elected Chairman and Grady had returned to near the door, at the rear of the hall, when Terry returned and spoke to Grady, applying an opprobious epithet to him; at the same moment he struck Grady a violent blow in the face. Grady staggered backward and was caught by a friend, and immediately both reached back for their pistols, but Grady's friend had fired at Terry three times. One ball struck Terry in the left arm, passing through the muscles and grazing the bone. The combatants were disarmed and separated. The hall was crowded and the wonder is that some of the audience were not injured.

SANITARY SUGGESTIONS.

The spread of cholera and the fatality that has attended its encroachments in France, have waked up many cities on this continent to the necessity of precautionary measures in case of its importation into America. It is considered by eminent authorities one of the most difficult diseases to guard against. But filth and bad water are known to aid materially in promoting its ravages. This may be said also of other epidemics. Cleanliness is a foe to disease, filth is its natural element. And many so-called contagious disorders have been traced to the use of impure water.

Apart from any danger from cholera, every city ought to take measures to promote cleanliness. Salt Lake City needs sanitary regulations of a stringent character. It can be made a cleanly city by the operation of rules for the removal of garbage, the deodorizing of fecal matter and the covering up of refuse which cannot be burned. But no sanitary arrangements will prove effectual which do not include plans to supply the people with wholesome water for culinary purposes. On the dry benches the people suffer for lack. This ought not to be in any civilized community. And yet this lack is not more dangerous to life and health than the use of tainted water from wells that are spoiled, by seepage from contiguous drains and cesspools and deposits in the upper parts of town, the essence of which finds its way to the water in the lower wards.

Decaying fruit and vegetable matter of different kinds, stagnant pools and contaminated well water, are among the most potent death-breeders against which human effort may be successfully directed, and this should be done by the civic authorities in every town that is organized under municipal law. Salt Lake can be made a clean and healthful city by the adoption of simple sanitary rules steadily enforced, even though a successful system of sewerage here is among the impossibilities.

LIGHT TAXES THE RULE IN UTAH.

The City Council on Tuesday evening fixed the rate of taxation for the year at five mills on the dollar. This is the old rate and shows that the policy of low taxes, which has long been the rule in Utah, is still to be maintained in the territorial metropolis. The light taxes imposed on the people, and the economical and honest administration of public affairs, are distinctive features of "Mormon" local government. We use the term as it is applied by the "Liberal" or anti-"Mormon" fraternity.

The benefits to the community of the simple, straightforward and pay-as-you-go system in vogue in this Territory, are recognized by all classes of citizens and acknowledged by respectable non-"Mormon" tax-payers. The disastrous condition of public affairs which would be the consequence of "Liberal" manipulation, has been foreshadowed by such opportunities for the control of public funds as persons of that persuasion have managed by trickery to obtain. Prominent among them was the so-called "Tooele Republic," with its wholesale robbery, depreciation of county scrip and reckless rush on the road to ruin.

Light taxation and abstinence from bonded debts should continue to be the general policy of municipal, county and territorial servants of the people. Exceptions to the rule should be rare, and only resorted to for some extraordinary purpose essential to the public welfare. While anti-"Mormon" quibblers seek to find fault with our public officers, they cannot but acknowledge, to themselves at least, that as long as the local government is in the hands of members of the People's Party, the burden is likely to be light on the shoulders of the taxpayers.

A SPECIMEN PLACE-HUNTER.

The St. Louis Globe-Democrat published a Washington dispatch dated the 6th inst., which stated that Dr. Douglas was at the capital working to have himself appointed clerk of the Supreme and Third District Courts of Utah. This will create no surprise here, as the Doctor is a prominent member of the place-hunters' party. When the Governor attempted unsuccessfully to usurp the power vested in the people and appointed his tools to office by wholesale, Dr. Douglas was his choice for assessor of Salt Lake County. He made application for the office, but did not get it.

Being thwarted in his attempt to steal an elective office under cover of a bogus appointment, his appetite for place remained unappeased, so he formulated a theory in relation to the necessity for the appointment by Salt Lake City of a man of scientific attainments as sanitary inspector for the municipality. He plainly exhibited throughout that the best thing the corporation could do would be to say to him—"Dr. Douglas, thou art the man," but it didn't, and still his hunger for office was unabated.

Now, it appears that, "with a zeal worthy of a better cause," he turns up at the capital, still on he track of office. He is a striking illustration of the antipodes of the set phrase that—"the office should seek the man and not the man the office," and in this particular he is a fitting representative of the so-called "Liberal" party of Utah, to which he belongs.

There are several reasons why Dr. Douglas should not be appointed to the clerkship, which is the object of his ambition. Should he obtain it, the probabilities are that it would inspire other members of the anti-"Mormon" party here with hopes of similar success, and who knows but U. J. Wenner et al., might besiege the capital in consequence.

If there is to be a change in the office and any consideration should be paid to efficiency and adaptability, the clerkship should be awarded to the deputy who has for many years been doing the work in a manner that has given satisfaction to all parties. Besides unquestioned ability to discharge the duties of the office, Mr. McMillan has gained golden opinions on account of his imperturbable temper and unvarying courtesy to everybody with whom he comes in contact, either officially or personally.

"IMPROVING" RAW COFFEE.

Coffee drinkers suppose that there is no chance of adulterating the material from which their favorite beverage is manufactured, if they get the green berry, do their own roasting and grinding and mix no other other ingredient with it besides water. But it appears from recent investigations made by the New York Board of Health, that both arsenic and lead are used to give the raw berry an improved color, so as to recommend it to the buyer. It is known that deleterious substances are used in coloring roasted coffee, and also in the ground stuff offered for sale under the name of coffee, but it has not been generally known that the raw berry was spoiled in the way described. The safest way with either tea or coffee, to escape the effects of unwholesome adulterations, is to let both alone!

FLOGGING A JEWESS.

The following letter which has been received by Earl Granville, the British Minister of Foreign Affairs, shows the continuance of the anti-Jewish feeling, and the lack of courage on the part of some officials to stand up in defence of the unfortunate and oppressed. There is one admirable characteristic of British authority, and that is, its determined attitude when it takes in hand the rights of citizens abroad, or interferes in the cause of humanity. If there is anything in this case to recommend itself to the action of the British Government, we may expect to hear of some decisive step towards the vindication of justice in behalf of the outraged daughter of Judah:

"Tangier, May 30, 1884:

"My Lord—On the night of January 30 of last year I was dragged from my home and was terribly flogged by the order and in the presence of the interpreter of the Vice Consul at Daralbecis (Casablanca). This person, Mr. Joseph Amiel, did not say why I must be flogged, but he made the soldiers beat me until I was almost senseless. I was afterward told that I was beaten because of my improper conduct. Several persons of good standing in Casablanca, including the rabbi and the merchant in whose service I was at the time, and also the American Vice Consul have testified to my good conduct, but I cannot live in my native town after such a dreadful disgrace. May I appeal to your lordship's sense of justice to secure me redress? Mr. Amiel, who is a rich man, has run away to Palestine, and the Vice Consul at Casablanca will not hear my case, nor will the English Minister at Tangier take it up, so I have no one to turn to, and the lawyer who has undertaken my defence tells me that unless Your Lordship will order the courts in Gibraltar to hear the case I shall never get justice, and therefore I pray Your Lordship to grant my request to have the case tried by an English court in Gibraltar. I am now living at Tangiers, as I cannot live at Casablanca. I am told here in Tangiers that there was an inquiry into my case, and that it is all over, so if that is true I must go away and trouble the authorities no more. I was never asked any questions by any English officials, either at Casablanca or here, but some friends tell me that in England there is more justice than in this country, and that Her Majesty the Queen would never allow a poor girl to be beaten nearly to death, as I have been, and I beg of Your Lordship to tell the Queen about it. I am Your Lordship's obedient servant.

Drowned While Escaping.—A short time ago, on information from a lady just in from Coalville, we stated that a young man named John Riley, who was held by Sheriff Allison, of Summit County, for horse-stealing, had made his escape while that officer's back was turned, as the two were down at the riverside doing some rinsing. We also stated that the prisoner swam the river and had not since been heard from. This was all correct, excepting the swimming part, for it seems, from advices later received, that he was drowned. Sheriff Allison writes to the following effect under date of July 14:

Yesterday morning, while three men from Grass Creek were fishing in the Weber River opposite the Grass Creek Junction, they discovered the body of a man floating down the stream. They succeeded in getting the body to the bank, when two of them remained with it while the other informed me of the occurrence. I notified the coroner, procured a coffin and we proceeded to where the body lay; I then summoned a jury and the coroner proceeded to hold an inquest over the body. The body was so far decomposed as to be beyond recognition, but, by the clothing and some articles in the pockets, myself and a number of witnesses at once recognized it to be that of John Riley, the young man who escaped from me on the 30th day of June, of which escape you gave an account in one of your late issues. When he escaped he was tracked to the bank of the Weber River by the sheriff and a number of citizens, from which point I could find no further trace of him, notwithstanding frequent rumors of his being seen at other places, which led me to believe that he succeeded in crossing the river and was still in the neighboring mountains. He ran about a half mile from the jail before reaching the river, when, being exhausted, it seems then, resorting to the only remaining hope of escape, he plunged into the stream, which, at that point, was then very high, and in attempting to cross was drowned.

"Dutch Mollie" paid a fine of $50 and costs in the police court yesterday for [illegible] furnishing liquor to an inmate of the city jail. Last night she [illegible] herself an inmate of the [illegible] charged with being drunk and disorderly, and using obscene language. It took two policemen to get her there.

Missionary Report.—Elder O. M. Wilson, writing from Baird's Mill, Penn., says: Missionary labors in the East Tennessee Conference are in a prosperous condition. Twelve Elders are busily engaged in delivering the great and important message they bear the world, but few there are who appreciate it as such. We have been favored with a visit from President B. H. Roberts and Elder J. G. Kimball who spent the last two weeks in our midst and held four meetings. Three baptisms took place during their stay. We have a Sabbath school organized in this branch, and it is prospering finely.

Nightwatchman Hilton arrested Mat. Kiernan, charged with theft, in Benites' saloon the other night.

"So Schnapp is dead?" "Yes, poor fellow, he has gone at last. He was a good man and a consistent Christian." "Consistent Christian! What do you mean? I thought he kept the worst groggery in town." "Yes, so he did; but he was a good man for all that. He always kept the front door of his saloon closed on Sundays."—Boston Transcript.

SALT LAKE CITY.

Z. C. M. I.,

Gentlemen,—With great pleasure I recommend the Miller Wrought Iron Range, as by far the Best Cooking Range that I know of, and as an Economizer of Fuel, its Boiler Attachment and Heater (in my experience of forty-five years) I have never found anything to equal it.

Yours truly, HENRY GROW, Nineteenth Ward, Salt Lake City.

Salt Lake City, May 5th, 1884.

Z. C. M. I.,

Gentlemen,—I take great pleasure in recommending the Miller Wrought Iron Range, as being decidedly the Best Range in the Market; it requires very little fuel; a person can work around it without soiling or scorching the dress, the heat seems concentrated within, so that the kitchen is not over-heated, even during the warmest weather, the dampers are arranged to perfection, so that the heat may be regulated as desired; the Water-back is so protected that it does not wear out as in other Ranges, at the same time it heats the water wonderfully, and we are never without plenty of water in the bath room; the Oven bakes perfectly and is very large. In the opinion of my housekeeper (who is a very competent woman of twenty years experience) this Range is unequalled and should be called the "Kitchen Treasure."

Sincerely, MRS. DR. WHITE

Z. C. M. I. Institution,

Gentlemen,—Replying to yours of 19th inst., will say that I take great pleasure in saying a word in favor of the Miller Wrought Iron Range. I have had one in constant use for one year, and it has proved satisfactory in every particular. Its general Cooking and Baking qualities are all that can be desired, and as an Economizer of Fuel I believe it has no equal; since using it we have had, ever ready, a constant supply of Hot Water in all parts of the house. I would not exchange it for any Range I have ever examined.

Very respectfully yours, M. B. SOWLES.

Sandy, Salt Lake County, April 19th, 1884.

Z. C. M. I. Institution,

Gentlemen,—I take great pleasure in giving a Testimonial in regard to the merits of The Miller Wrought Iron Range, which I purchased from you. It is the best I have ever used in all respects, the Cooking and Baking qualities are excellent, the Hot Water Apparatus is splendid, and as an Economizer of Fuel I have never seen its equal. In fact, it is perfect in every particular.

Respectfully yours, SARAH M. DRIGGS, Sandy, Utah.
