

NEW GRIEVANCE AGAINST SMELTERS

Secretary State Board of Barber
Examiners Says Smoke Causes
Barber's Itch.

CITES RECENT CASE AT MURRAY

Barber Opened a Sanitary Shop But Poisoned Water Spread Disease
Among Patrons.

The long list of crimes charged up against the smelters is still open for entry, and yesterday a new case was added to the records. This time the smoke and ash of the smelters is charged with the maintenance of a sanitary barber shop. The discovery was made by the State Board of Barber Examiners, or at least by its secretary, Percy A. Hill. He told about it at a meeting of the board called to sit upon the Moler barber license, and force it to show cause why it should not have its license revoked for being unclean.

In informally discussing the spread of disease through the use of unclean razors, Mr. Hill told of a case in Murray, a man was found with infected skin, and when complaints became general, the barber in fact poisoning nearly a hundred men. In investigating the case, Mr. Hill found that the barber had shaved men from Birmingham Junction who were afflicted, and in investigating Birmingham Junction a brand new barber shop was found to be the source of all the trouble.

The worst of it is that the new barber shop had a lot of money just to be sure. He installed a heating plant, a bath and a hand wash bowl, and to secure water pressure he built a tank in the roof into which the water was forced. To secure perfect ventilation he left the top of the tank open, and hereby rose the trouble.

Into the tank came the pure air and the smelter fumes, poisoning the water, and depositing lead and copper over the bottom. The supply pipe went out to the bath and barber cups went out to the bottom of the tank and carried with it a good percentage of copper and lead, in addition to the sulphur was dissolved in it. An epidemic of poisoned hands followed the opening of the shop, and now the sanitary tank is a thing of the past.

Rheumatism.
When pain or irritation exist on any part of the body, the application of Ballard's Kidney and Bladder Pills will give relief. Dr. W. C. Ballard, Proprietor, 1111 N. 1st St., writes, June 6, 1902: "I take pleasure in recommending Ballard's Kidney and Bladder Pills to all who are afflicted with rheumatism. It is the only remedy I have found that gives immediate relief."

ROBBED ON THE TRAIN.
Jack Schaefer's Experiences While En Route to Portland.

Jack Schaefer, one of the proprietors of the Chesapeake restaurant in this city, and his wife are visiting the Portland exposition—and thereby hangs something of a tale. They had boarded the train at the Short Line depot in food shape, and in good spirits, and Jack was jostling around in the aisle of the Pullman, getting his traps out from under the feet of other travelers and into his section, when he noticed a strange man and woman pass and re-pass him several times. Presently he placed his hand in his hip pocket for his wallet, and lo! and behold—it was not there. Mr. Schaefer's heart bumped up into his throat because there was still some money in the pocket, and he knew the loss of the money would make it necessary for him to borrow in order to get home.

He did come home thinking until he reached home, and made up his mind that the parties who squeezed past him to often were the guilty ones. So the next day he took the train pulled into the Ogden depot, and he was met by a local policeman. They at once instituted a search, and the man wanted in the smoking parlor of a former Pullman, and the woman cuddled up in the berth of the rear sleeper. The man and woman were taken from the train, and after being taken through the sweating process, the man turned up, and surrendered the $10 of the $15. It seems that he had been away the purse with three $5 bills. The police said they would take the prize back to Salt Lake, but it is not known whether this was done.

Mr. Schaefer was congratulated on the recovery of his money, and the fact that he did not lose the $50 diamond ring he wears in his shirt front. Mr. and Mrs. Schaefer are taking more pleasure in visiting the exposition, in view of the happy outcome of their adventure.

STORM WAS FIERCE.
Saltair Sailors Have a Hard Time Getting Back to the Beach.

At Saltair yesterday afternoon the Ladies Literary club held away, and despite the severe storm which broke at intervals over the pavilion and the bathers, a large crowd was present. The electrical display proved a feature from 9 to 10 o'clock, many of the dancers pausing to collect in knots and watch the forked streaks of light at play through the blackened skies. The last train came in shortly after 10 o'clock as the storm became severe at that hour. Rough water bathing attracted a crowd, while some bath house employees who were tempted out into the wind in a sail boat had a difficult time getting back to the pavilion.

They started south for Black Rock running free before the northwest gale, and found on the return trip that with a stronger wind they had to work directly into it. At dark the boat could just be seen towards Grantsville, legging out on the long lake from shore.

Employees of the beach watched their progress closely through glasses, and kept close tabs on their movements. When midnight came and no word had been heard from them, a feeling of alarm spread through the pavilion and Ernest Larsen and Charles Kessler started out in a launch on a search over the lake. The sail was sighted about half way between Saltair and Grantsville, and the weary sailors were blown mostly away, and for a while they had washed about in the waves, making a desperate attempt to cast an anchor. They were rescued from a large crowd filled with sand. It was 1:30 o'clock when they reached the pavilion.

The boat belonged to Guy Richardson, in the party were James E. East, Cole, Lester Brown, Lester Blackner, two Sunberg brothers and two other men.

It appears from their story that they took the sail out early before the wind from necessity and not from choice, the sail having become entangled soon after setting out, and rendering the boat unmanageable.

HAS HIS HANDS FULL.

Woes of General Manager Williams of The Fuel Company.

General Manager Henry G. Williams of the Utah Fuel company, in the face of adverse criticism, is developing into a regular pessimist. Mr. Williams thinks that the company's troubles are about all its own without being blamed for the doings of others who have no connection with the big coal concern. Now that the company has been accused of buying off the labor unions he feels that his cup of bitterness is about full.

It appears that two years ago there was a strike down in Carbon county, when certain misguided foreigners were induced to inaugurate a reign of terror. Since that time these foreigners have refused to work, claiming that they were still on strike to win a great battle. At that time they belonged to the United Mine Workers of America. In due season this organization told them that the strike was off and that they had better go to some other camp. By way of inducement the union offered to give them transportation to some mining camp where they could secure work. This suggestion angered the little band of noble strikers. They were going to remain, draw their allowance from the union and fight the "grasping" company to the last ditch. The union said, "No." Then the strikers said that the union had been bought off by the coal company, and they would take their tools and go over to the Western Federation of Miners. The federation then received them with exceeding great joyfulness and gathered them into the fold. Now a change has come over the scene and the Federation has notified the strikers that they must get to work and with this object in view the union will furnish them with transportation to Colorado or Wyoming coal camps. Again there is another big howl on the part of the strikers, who accuse the Western Federation of Miners of selling out to the Utah Fuel company.

In the face of such unjust charges Mr. Williams is developing pessimism to a large and generous extent. In the meantime it looks as though these strikers will really have to go to work after all.

Stop that Cough!
When a cough, a tickling or an irritation in the throat makes you feel uncomfortable, take Ballard's Horehound Syrup. It's the best remedy for the cough beyond cure. Mr. and Mrs. J. A. Anderson, 34 West 4th St., Salt Lake City, write: "We think Ballard's Horehound Syrup the best medicine for coughs and colds. We have used it for several years. It gives immediate relief, is very pleasant and gives perfect satisfaction." Dr. W. C. Ballard, Proprietor, 1111 N. 1st St., Salt Lake City.

GUARD OFFICERS

Col. Lund of First Regiment Names Members of His Staff.

Col. H. M. H. Lund of the First regiment has appointed those members of his staff: adjutant, Captain O. H. Hassing; quartermaster, Captain S. H. Lund; assistant inspector of rifle practice, Captain W. H. Tobias; sergeant major, Douglas Roudbeck; quartermaster sergeant, A. H. Lund; commissary sergeant, W. H. Adams of Neenah. Col. Lund expects there will be more state troops at the state encampment this year than ever before, although the regulars can not participate owing to their being in the cavalry valley. However, a number of officers will be detailed to attend the encampment from the fort in the capacity of instructors.

COUNTY SCHOOL CENSUS.

Enumeration Shows a Total of 7,870 of School Age.

The taking of the census of the school children in this county has been completed and the reports have been filed with County Superintendent of Schools Smith. The result of the enumeration shows that there are 7,870 children in the county outside of Salt Lake City of school age, of which 3,992 are boys and 3,878 are girls. Perhaps the most unusual item in the census is the report that 87 children of school age in the county do not attend any school at all. It will be seen, therefore, that the appointment of truancy officers by the boards of trustees of the two county districts is a very necessary matter in order that the compulsory attendance in school may be enforced.

The reports of the enumerators of the Granite district show that there are 2,300 boys and 2,075 girls in the district, a total of 4,375. Of that number, 1,732 boys and 1,566 girls attend the district school, 68 boys and 66 girls attend private schools, and 266 boys and 215 girls attend no school at all. A total of 1,594 boys and 1,577 girls can read and write. Of the total number of pupils in the district, 21 are colored, one is deaf and one blind.

In the Jordan district there are 3,892 children, of which 1,892 are boys and 1,900 are girls. Of the total number of 1,690 boys and 1,714 girls attend the district schools, three boys and four girls attend private schools, 190 boys and 222 girls attend no school at all. There are 1,690 boys and 1,714 girls in the district who can read and write.

CROPS IN GOOD SHAPE.

Clear Skies and Bright Sunshine Favor Rapid Growth.

Weakly crop bulletin for week ending Monday, Aug. 21, 1905. Clear, almost cloudless skies prevailed during the greater part of the week. Rainfall was either entirely absent or was inappreciable. The days were quite warm, but several of the nights were very cool, the temperature in some of the more elevated districts of the section falling low enough to form frosts. The resulting damage, however, was believed to be very slight. High winds occurred toward the close of the week, too late to form any estimate of the extent of the damage, if any. The supply of irrigation water was falling very low, especially in the northern portion of the section, and this dearth in the water supply was seriously retarding the work of irrigation, and in some localities even necessitating its complete cessation. Where sufficient water was available, however, the clear skies and bright sunshine favored rapid growth, and long crops of irrigated crops made rapid advancement.

The harvesting of grain continued under rapid headway in some districts was completed. Thrashing was in general progress with yield of the earlier sown fully up to the average. Late sown wheat, however, was reported to be badly damaged in localities by rust, and the prospect for average yields was not so favorable. The second crop of alfalfa was gathered and the third crop was making rapid growth. Yields were generally reported to be light while the prospects for lucern seed were believed to be very poor, owing to the combined effect of high winds, insects and hot, dry weather. Beets, while generally in fair condition, suffered serious deterioration in localities from blight, as well as from lack of moisture. Fruit was being marketed. The yield of apples was reported very large by some growers. The range was drying up very rapidly, and in many portions of the section, especially in the northern part where the drought has been long continued, was no longer affording sufficient sustenance to stock, and much feeding was found to be necessary. Despite this shortage in range feed, stock was reported as being in fair condition.

WILL PLAY AT FAIR.

Association Football to be a Feature at Agricultural Park This Year.

Association football is to be played on the state fair grounds during the fair by the Utah State League, provided present plans materialize. President McDonald of the D. A. & M. society has taken up the matter with Mr. Service of the Salt Lake team, and it is planned to play three exhibition games during the fair, in the state championship series for the Dryden championship cup.

Mr. Service is enthusiastic in his hopes for the same this year. On account of the international championship ship games to be played in the state and possibly at Portland, he looks for it to "catch on" at Salt Lake, and is attempting to pull terms into the Weber Stake academy and the D. S. university, which the latter society is not playing. He has offered to teach any grammar school or high school in Salt Lake the game, if it will take it up. On the other hand, it is the truest call for wind it makes on the part of the players. Americans are not developed in this way as are Englishmen, who play the game on account of the exorbitant following. The English are running about the field.

JAP JUBILEE CARNIVAL.

The Mikado Orders a Peace Pageant at Lewis and Clark Exposition.

Portland.—A remarkable pageant will be seen at Portland, on the waters of the lake, inside the Lewis and Clark exposition grounds, on the night of Aug. 21. The emperor of Japan has instructed his commissioners to prepare a grand peace jubilee carnival, in anticipation of a speedy declaration of peace between his country and Russia. The birthday of the crown prince of Japan, Aug. 21, has been selected as the day for the celebration. Consul Albin, the Mikado's diplomatic representative at Portland, is co-operating with Japanese commissioners Ito and Kishibiki, and the affair promises to be the most highly interesting of any that has been held at the exposition. Its international significance adds to its importance.

The celebration will take the form of a huge and brilliant water carnival, beginning at 9 o'clock at night. Eight immense floats are being built, to sail through the water in splendid procession, each float typifying some Japanese idea of historical or sentimental interest. For instance, there will be a floating bridge, a floating castle, a floating boat representing Admiral Togo and Admiral Oyama. Another float will be an enormous dragon, and still another will be in the form of a huge chrysanthemum, with a Japanese maiden reclining in the center.

At least a hundred other boats will be on the water, lining up in the grand parade. Half a dozen electric lights, each of which is to be attached to a line of 10 or more rowboats, will take part in a serpentine procession, performing wonderful evolutions, and as each boat will be brilliant with Japanese and Chinese lanterns, one needs no further description in order to appreciate the grandeur of the affair. It is a strikingly interesting feature of the carnival. There will be Japanese songs, Japanese juggling, fencing and acrobatic exercises. Japanese fireworks will be one of the grand features. Preceded or interspersed with pyrotechnics of the American fashion.

The Mikado's commissioners have turned over the entire management of the spectacle to George L. Hutchins, author, playwright and well-known carnival expert, and the matter of expense, it is said, will not figure with victorious Japan.

As the price of admission to the exposition grounds after 6 o'clock p. m. has been reduced to 25 cents, the largest crowd ever gathered in the exposition is expected to witness this carnival, but there is ample room for 100,000 people to see the whole spectacle from convenient and comfortable viewpoints.

A little forethought may save you no end of trouble. Anyone who makes it a rule to keep Chamberlain's Colic, Cholera and Diarrhoea Remedy at hand will know this to be a fact. For sale by all druggists.

GOLD DOLLARS ADVANCING.

Lewis and Clark Souvenir of 1905 Now Bring $3—Issue Was Limited.

The gold dollar souvenir coins of the Lewis and Clark exposition are already commanding a premium over the price at which they were originally sold by the exposition, which is a unique fact in souvenir coin history. This coin is a novelty compared with other issues of the United States—its design is a head on both obverse and reverse. It was produced at the Philadelphia mint.

The first coinage, dated 1904, consisted of 999 pieces, which were delivered to the exposition last September. They were placed on sale at $2 each, and about 10,000 were sold up to February, 1905, at which time the remaining 10,000 were sent to the San Francisco mint and melted up. Ten thousand pieces of similar design, but bearing date of 1905, were struck later at the Philadelphia mint. Most of the 10,000 1905 coins have been sold to collectors; they have become widely scattered, many going to foreign countries.

The "wise" collector who, actuated by precedent, foresaw the value of the coins when they were obtainable, believing that he could purchase one later at a depreciated price, now discovers that those bearing that date are not easily obtainable, and the few in the hands of coin dealers command $3 each. Dealers had no reason to anticipate a scarcity, and purchased only for immediate demands, as souvenir coins have not proved a profitable venture for them.

The dollars dated 1905 continue to be sold by the exposition at $2 each.

"DRUNKENNESS"

Cigarette and Tobacco Habits Cured by TRIB

Each package contains a full four weeks' treatment and a cure in every case. Price $12.50.

The Quaker Drug Co., Leading Druggists, Seattle, Wash., writes:

"Advising us to the sale of 'TRIB' up to date, we have had only the most satisfactory reports from those who have taken the treatment. We have had every reason to believe that 'TRIB' will do all you claim for it, and hereby recommend it as a cure for the liquor and tobacco habits."

After taking a few days' treatment with "TRIB" it is impossible for the patient to use either liquor or tobacco in any form. The examination of the water after a bath will at once convince any one of the astonishing amount of impurities coming from the system.

A WORLD'S PEACE SYMBOL.

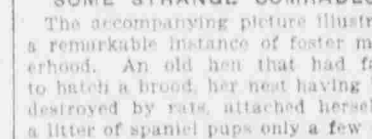

The device shown in the cut is an allegorical peace picture adopted by the recent national peace congress of Great Britain and Ireland, held at Bristol, England. The center shows the land surface of the earth which has a heart shape. The dove with olive branch in its beak is emblematic of universal peace. The rainbow stands for deliverance from war. The sky contains sixty-five stars, representing the principal countries of the earth, the large star at the bottom being the British empire. The motto at the bottom, "Floreat Concordia" (May concord flourish), is an appropriate watchword for the peace party. The words at the top, "Per Orbem Pax" (on earth peace), are also most appropriate.

SOME STRANGE COMRADES.

The accompanying picture illustrates a remarkable instance of foster motherhood. An old hen that had failed to hatch a brood, her nest having been destroyed by rats, attached herself to a litter of spaniel pups only a few days old. The mother of the pups had been killed by the premature discharge of a gun, and they at once accepted the foster protection of the hen without objection. The pups are now several weeks old, but they have not yet shown any inclination to emancipate themselves from their devoted foster mother. They follow her about the farmyard and whenever she settles down there is a rumble for the coziest corner beneath her wings.
