

Flotsam and Jetsam From Police Net Haled To Court

The case against John A. Peterson, who was brought from Pocatello some time ago on a complaint filed by his wife, Hannah Peterson, charging him with failure to provide for his five minor children, was dismissed this morning upon motion of the assistant county attorney. The court was informed that Mr. Peterson was fully providing for his family.

When the prosecution rested this morning in the case of the state vs. Anthony Woods, charged with a statutory crime committed upon 11-year-old Sveline Bardon, the doubtful fact told by the girl and her brother, only a couple of years older, led to the dismissal of the defendant. In view of the story told by the girl with its various discrepancies, and the testimony of a physician, Judge Bowman felt that the crime had not been fastened on Woods.

Jack Burke, arrested on a charge similar to that of which Anthony Woods was acquitted, pleaded not guilty this morning and will have his hearing Sept. 3.

Nick Kagh, a thrifty merchant of Salt Lake's "Little Italy," and who seeks to make his fortune by storing away nickels and dimes gathered in on an ice cream pushcart, lost the profits of a week today when he forfeited $5 in Judge Bowman's court. Kagh, with jealous care of the fires on his cart wheels, and with an open eye to the main chance of trade, used the sidewalk instead of the streets to trundle his cart. This offended the dignity of the city to the extent of a $5 cash bail, which Nick preferred to let go rather than take any more chances with the police or the court.

Miss Lulu Brown was still found to be suffering from ennui when her name was called on Clerk Gutche's visitor's list this morning. Miss Brown was in an extremely tired condition when she arrived at Chief Barlow's selected apartments last night and a night's rest had failed to dispel the fatigue. She will attend Judge Bowman's levee tomorrow morning.

When a man has the toothache he is justified in getting drunk according to Judge Bowman, or is to be inferred at least. Frank West left Alta Saturday night with an awful toothache, and was on his way to Salt Lake "to get the tooth fixed." He had prepared for the ordeal of the dentist's chair before leaving Alta and also on the way, and with the contrivances of the toothache, the offending molar became good about the time Salt Lake was reached. This made West feel so good that he paid little heed to where he was going and got lost landing in the city jail instead of the dentist's office. With his tooth still troubling him a little, however, Judge Bowman took compassion on him and accepted the excuse.

When Charles Sullivan, self-touted prize-fighter and bruiser, injected himself into the affairs of the plumbers' strike, he made a costly mistake, the price being 15 days in the city jail. Sullivan, in spite of his vaunted prowess with his fists, very meekly pleaded guilty to the charge of battery this morning. When it was explained to the court that on Saturday night Sullivan had walked up to Tom Dineen, while the latter was seated, and after calling him a scab plumber and with out the least provocation had begun beating the inoffensive man, Judge Bowman gave the city another worker for 15 days. Dineen appeared in court his face still showing the effects of the beating he had been given.

The street corner "smasher" had an example given him today when B. Walker was sentenced to pay a fine of $25 or serve 25 days in jail, and the statement given at the same time that the male "streak-walker" who insults women by his attentions will not be tolerated in Salt Lake. Walker, a clean-cut looking young fellow with the appearance of one who should know better and who would be suspected of having more malice than about him, was up this morning on a charge of disturbing the peace. Although Walker pleaded guilty to the charge, the court was informed by Asst. City Atty. Rogers of the real facts in the case. On Saturday night after leaving one of the theaters a husband had left his wife standing outside of a cigar store while he went in to make a purchase. While the woman was waiting for her husband Walker stepped up to her and with an attempted politeness wanted to know if she wouldn't accompany him. Just then the husband came out and when told by his wife of Walker's action had the latter arrested. In his remarks to the court Mr. Rogers stated that it was the purpose of the police to put a stop to men insulting women on the street, and the court concurred by imposing the stiff sentence.

The days of usefulness of George Williams, colored, as an interpreter have passed, and he appeared in police court this morning in a new role, that of a vagrant. As a linguist understanding seven languages, including Greek, Williams has appeared in court many times as interpreter, and on many occasions has helped others get what he accepted today—a "floater." For some reason Williams has been entered on the "undesirable" list of the police and with John Moore, also colored, was picked up as a "vagrant," the charge that is supposed to cover a multitude.

The whispered statement of Asst. City Atty. Rogers to Williams, "No, you've got to go," was enough to show Williams with his knowledge of the police and court methods that there was no chance, and he readily pleaded guilty, accepting Wednesday as the time for his sentence. Moore was less fortunate, only getting until tomorrow morning to be outside the jurisdiction of the department.

The drink or two that Mike Simmons indulged in Saturday night was of the peculiar brand that destroys control of the arms and fists. After the drink or two, and while walking down the street, Simmons was seized with an irresistible impulse to hit a Jap, N. Sato, whom he met on the street. Simmons couldn't tell the court just why he had done it, and the court gave him the option of $10 or 10 days to study the matter.

Mike O'Grady lucklessly "met some of the byes," Saturday night, and for that he will play with the lads in the jail yard for the next 10 days. Mike had a good excuse for getting drunk, a couple of weeks ago and it was accepted. His new one putting the blame on "the byes," didn't go today, however.

Thomas Cook might have been forgiven for getting drunk, but when he begged while in his intoxicated condition, the offense was too heinous to be overlooked—and Tom will not worry for three meals a day for the next 20 days.

The effect of the spectacle of the Ringling Bros' circus parade, which the court and attaches took a recess to see, since they were given a chance to get out and see the circus proper before leaving Salt Lake. Most of the Sunday drunks, too, evidently not thinking that the court would take a recess, preferred to forfeit $5, and see the parade, than to appear in court.

Joseph E. Taylor Answers the Tribune

The Tribune devoted a column and a half editorially under the caption of "That Old Offer Again" on Sunday to a letter sent to the anti-Mormon paper over the signature of Joseph E. Taylor.

The letter which was printed by the Tribune and the answer which was not printed are herewith reproduced so that the Deseret News readers can read them for themselves:

Salt Lake City, Utah, July 29, 1909.

Editor Salt Lake Tribune: In your issue of the 28th inst., you make the following unqualified statement:

"The truth is, that polygamy is taught, practiced and protected within the Mormon Church today; that hundreds of these crimes (polygamy) have been committed, with the knowledge and approval of the Church officials, since the Manifesto of 1890; you repeat what is simply rumor and then assert that Mr. Taylor knows this and that, etc., and if I do not I am told to make inquiry so and so. You go further and say that Mr. Taylor many a time has preached to the people of his Church that the Manifesto was only a temporary affair, etc. This statement I brand, as I do all the rest, as a base falsehood. On the contrary, I have sustained the Manifesto ever since its publication and shall continue to do so.

After acknowledging your inability to furnish the proofs asked, you content yourself with calling me "a rubber and a deceiving trickster." So, without further comment, I drop the subject, feeling that the wisest man—Solomon, covered a ground in what is contained in Proverbs 17:22, and regret that the Tribune—a paper not without ability, should sink so low as to prostitute its pages to the constant utterance of the most unwarrantable and vilest slanders against men, the last of whom shoes they are unworthy to loose.

DEATH OF TRUMAN SCHENCK.

Truman Schenck died at his home, Ninth South and Palm streets, this morning. The funeral will be private and will be held tomorrow at 4 p. m. from the residence. Mr. Schenck came to Utah in 1877 in charge of the telegraph department for the Union Pacific, later being sent to the Park City branch as paymaster during its construction. He left railroad service to enter the mining business and was a well known man in Park City, Butte, Montana and other Utah camps, also in Butte, Mont. He enlisted in the Union army when 15 years of age and fought through the greater part of the Civil war, having been discharged in 1864 from company E, One Hundred and Thirty-first Ohio.

At 2 o'clock this afternoon the body was taken to the chapel at Cave Hill cemetery, where a simple funeral service was conducted by Rev. T. M. Edwards, pastor of the Highland Presbyterian church.

Among the honorary pallbearers were B. B. Johnson, president of the American league; John A. Teyler, secretary of the National league; John E. Bruce, secretary of the National baseball committee; President Drayfus of the Pittsburgh club; President Stanley Robinson of the St. Louis club; President John Dovey of the Boston club; President Ebbetts of the Brooklyn club; President William Shetsline of the Philadelphia club, and a number of men prominent in Louisville affairs.

CONFERENCE REPORT ON TARIFF BILL ADOPTED

Washington, July 31.—The house tonight adopted the conference report on the tariff bill, 195 to 153. The Republicans shrieked in their delight over the final outcome, and Chairman Payne was the central figure of an admiring and congratulatory crowd of colleagues.

Twenty Republicans voted against the report and two Democrats for it. The 20 Republicans were: Representatives Carey, Wisconsin; Davis, Minnesota; Gronna, North Dakota; Haugen, Iowa; Hubbard, Iowa; Kelfer, Ohio; Kendall, Iowa; Lenroot, Wisconsin; Lindberg, Minnesota; Mann, Illinois; Miller, Minnesota; Murdock, Kansas; Nelson, Wisconsin; Nye, Minnesota; Poindexter, Washington; Stevens, Washington; Southwick, New York; Stearnson, Minnesota; Stevens, Minnesota; Volstead, Minnesota, and Woods, Iowa.

The two Democrats were Representatives Broussard and Estepinal of Louisiana. The vote was the climax of an 11-hour session, conducted through most oppressive heat, but notwithstanding it was enlivened by a dozen or more speeches of more or less fiery nature. The temperature did not deter a vast throng from going to the Capitol to witness the closing scene.
