DESERET EVENING NEWS.

Vol. II. SALT LAKE CITY, MONDAY EVENING, JUNE 23, 1869. No. 185

BREVITIES.

Sweden has started a female medical college.

A terrible drought prevails in China. The Emperor daily visits the temple to offer prayers for rain.

There are now more than 1,000,000 on the Pacific Slope. San Francisco, not 25 years old, has 150,000 inhabitants.

The forty thousand miles of railroad in the United States give employment to four hundred and fifty thousand men.

An English Company employs 1,500 Chinese laborers, growing oranges, pine-apples and bananas at the Society Islands.

Mr. Greeley has commenced his series of articles upon Protection, in the New York Tribune, which he intends to make the crowning work of his life.

The New York dailies have a circulation about as follows: The Times, fifty thousand; the Tribune, the same; the World, thirty-five thousand; the Herald, sixty thousand; and the Sun, Dana's paper, about sixty-five thousand.

A boy having complained to his father that Bill had thrown the Bible at him and hurt him on the head, the father replied, "Well, you are the only member of my family on whom the Bible ever made the least impression."

A Boston artist has chartered a steamship of 330 tons burden for a summer trip to the Arctic regions. Two photographers and five companions will be taken on the voyage, which will last for three months. All points of interest will be visited.

The German Salon says that Mr. Burlingame is an American only by birth. He speaks French, dresses like a European, and gives dinner parties, and balls like the most accomplished courtiers, while Mrs. Burlingame receives the guests with all the grace of a perfect Parisienne.

In North America there are but one thousand one hundred inhabitants to each mile. Asia presents forty-nine thousand four hundred, Europe, five thousand and sixteen, South America, fourteen thousand seven hundred and seventy five, and Africa, ten thousand six hundred and thirty-nine inhabitants to each mile of track.

An imposition which is carried on in Paris on a large scale is the fabrication of Egyptian mummies. One man alone has manufactured no less than eight hundred of these interesting relics of the Ptolemaic era for provincial museums alone. His export business in counterfeit mummies extends over half the globe, even to Egypt itself, whence they return to Europe with a sort of guarantee of genuineness.

Almost every one who has had any experience in gardening knows the importance of pruning newly planted trees. But in transplanting cabbages, beets, tomatoes, and similar vegetables, few ever think of taking off any of the leaves, an operation fully as important as the reduction of the branches of an apple or pear tree. Let every one who is about setting out any of the succulent plants try the cutting off of the large leaves and we think they will never omit it again.

A village tailor, in the South of Spain, had sinned, been pardoned, and had sinned again. Condemned to die, the villagers implored the judge to spare their tailor's life on one more.

"What! hang our only tailor?" was the cry.

"Where be our vests and breeches should he die!"

"If some one must be hung," exclaimed a voice.

"We have two coppers; you may take your choice!"

Sir William Wyndham gives one made by a soldier just before the battle of Blenheim—"O, God, if there be a God, save my soul if I have a soul."

Sir David Hume gives one made by a distinguished cavalier just before the battle of Edgehill:

"Oh, Lord, thou knowest how busy I must be this day; if I forget thee, do not thou forget me."

Sir Fox gives one of La Hire:

"O Lord! I beseech thee this day to perform for La Hire as much as thou wilt, for I wish La Hire to perform for thee, if he were God and thou wert La Hire."

Cabellero de Rodas, who succeeds Duice as Captain General of Cuba, took to active part in the Spanish revolution that when Queen Isabella was deposed he was promoted to a Lieutenant-General. The subsequent Republican disturbances in Spain were put down by him in a manner so brutal, that he has the reputation of a bold, bloody, bad man, but an officer of great energy and military skill. He is simply a soldier, and is likely to pay little respect to law when it stands in the way of his purposes. The Cubans look for a war of unexampled ferocity when he arrives and assumes command, and it is hardly possible that he can be worse than some of the subaltern commanders in the interior of the island.

The San Jose Mercury of June 3d, says: "Mr. N. B. Laramie, while boring an artesian well in Santa Clara for Judge J. M. Billings, last week, at the depth of two hundred and eighty-eight feet struck a red wood log about two feet in diameter, which he was obliged to bore through. The wood, chips of which may be seen in this office, is perfectly sound. When it is understood that this log was found at a depth of over two hundred feet below the sea level, it will be readily imagined that there have been some high old geological pranks performed on this coast at some time during the ages ago. At a depth of three hundred and thirteen feet Mr. Laramie struck a vein which flows seven inches of water—enough to supply a small city."
