BREVITIES.

Memphis thieves hate being searched by colored turnkeys.

It is said that a few elated onions buried in an ant-hill will cause the ants to leave it.

It is stated that twelve million eggs are used every year, in England and America, for the albumenization of paper.

Improved dwellings for the laboring classes are such good investments in London that they are becoming very numerous.

It is estimated that more copies of Lord Byron's works have been sold in this country within the last fifty days than in seven years previously.

Enthusiastic English tourist in Scotland to native coachman: "And is that indeed, the house in which Rob Roy was born?" Native coachman: "Eh, sir, an' it's just aye o' them."—Judy.

A Danbury farmer, having noticed a diminution in his hay-stack, secreted himself behind it one night, and on the approach of the thief, set fire to the hay, thereby detecting the astonished culprit.

Take two quarts of best sperm oil, to one and one-half pints of refined coal oil. Shake before using. It is excellent for sewing machines, as it never clogs; it will be good six months afterward as when first made.

The Swedish papers express no less surprise than satisfaction at a Dane who had settled some time ago in Stockholm, and recently gave $10,000 to the poor of that city, stipulating at the same time that his name should not be mentioned under any circumstances.

A correspondent, writing from China, says: "This country is rapidly undergoing the process of civilization. Beer is now made at Shanghai, a whisky distillery is going up at Canton, and the first hanging came off in this city with great eclat."

The progress of Christianity in the Island of Madagascar, during the past year, is without a parallel among any people in modern times. The missionary report shows the conversion of no less than 20,000 of that idolatrous people.

The needle manufactories of Prussia produced, in 1888, 1,500 millions of every kind of needles, and used 3,000 hundred weight of iron and brass wire for knitting and hair needles, fish hooks, hooks and eyes, etc. The needles were chiefly for Asiatic markets.

A singular natural curiosity, in the shape of an ear of corn, has been presented to the editor of the Paducah Herald. There is a center cob, around which are clustered and interlaced sixty-two distinct ears of corn, each regularly grained. It is about five inches in length by about the same in diameter.

The first mention made of purchasing with money is in Genesis xxiii, where Abraham bought a burial place for Sarah, and "weighed to Ephron the silver which he named in the audience," "four hundred shekels of silver, current money with the merchants."

A contribution was recently taken in one of the churches in Northampton, Mass., and on the day following a man, who counts his property by hundreds of thousands, called on one of the elders and said: "I made a mistake yesterday, and put into the box ten cents, when I meant to put in five cents."

According to the government reports of the battles and captures in Cuba, two millions and seventy-four thousand insurgents have been killed, and four hundred and ninety-five thousand have been captured—at least so says a gentleman who took the trouble to put down the figures as furnished in the detail by the royal reports.

Two friends taking a walk on a turnpike leading from Baltimore, were passing a mile stone inscribed, "2 M. to B." "Poor B—" said one of them; "a queer place for a grave, and a mean sort of a stone to mark it." "Why, it's a mile stone, man!" said the other, innocently. "Is it, indeed? If I M. don't spell tomb, I should like to know what it does spell."

It is related that a criminal brought before a court in 1588 bore the torture to which he was subjected for extorting a confession without apparent pain. A "pal" of the culprit explained that the man had eaten soap, which deadened his nerves, and that wine would destroy the effect of it. A bumper was given to the man under torture, and he immediately cried out with pain and confessed his guilt.

An exchange says, a lazy boy makes a lazy man as sure as a crooked splin makes a crooked tree. Who ever saw a boy grow up in idleness that did not make a shiftless vagabond when he became a man, unless he had a fortune to keep up appearances? The great mass of thieves, criminals and paupers have come to what they are by being brought up in idleness. Those who constitute the business part of the community—those who make our great and useful men—were taught in their boyhood to be industrious boys, take that pipe out of your mouth and think of this.

On one occasion, when Theodore Hook was dining, a messenger came to him from the John Bull, which he edited, but for which he had written nothing for some weeks, and told him he must write something on the death of the King and Queen of the Sandwich Islands; whereupon he sent back—
"Walter, two Sandwiches!" cried Death, and their wild Majesties resigned their breath."

A child in Hartford fell out of a third story window, and was picked up unhurt from the pavement. The next morning it fell from the bed to the floor and broke its neck.
