

FOR SOUTH AFRICAN GOLD.

A Party of Pacific Coast Miners Organize for the Dark Continent.

They Will Seek for Gold on the Mountains of South and West of Massachusetts.

The desire for gold leads men to enter upon the most perilous and uncertain expeditions, sometimes productive of great wealth and sometimes ending in almost certain failure. The miners do not forget to give little heed to the success or the failure of the expeditions to encourage the wealth seeking to further efforts. The most recent mining expedition to equatorial Africa, which is now starting on the Pacific coast to penetrate the interior of the continent, is the expedition of which Dr. Livingston has been the leader. It is now announced that on the 1st of June a party of forty miners, prospectors, geologists and surveyors, with an artist, photographer, correspondent, typewriter and other articles, will leave for Central Africa on a mining expedition, starting from New York, where they will embark for Europe. The members of the party propose to penetrate the interior of the continent, where it is reported to be rich in gold. The expedition is organized by Dr. Livingston, who has been in Africa for many years, and has been successful in discovering gold in the interior of the continent. The expedition is organized by Dr. Livingston, who has been in Africa for many years, and has been successful in discovering gold in the interior of the continent.

A. H. Hammond, a mining man who has been prospecting through the Pacific states and territories for twenty-five years, is the head of the expedition. He has advised from a friend in Africa, who has been successful in discovering gold in the interior of the continent. The expedition is organized by Dr. Livingston, who has been in Africa for many years, and has been successful in discovering gold in the interior of the continent.

Every member of the party must have at least $500 after his fare is paid with which to provide his own equipment and supplies. The expedition is organized by Dr. Livingston, who has been in Africa for many years, and has been successful in discovering gold in the interior of the continent.

"We will first proceed to Bahr, 1,000 miles north of Cape Town on the west coast, and then to Fard Mahary, 300 miles to the interior on the edge of the plateau. The plateau is the most fertile and most fertile of the continent. The expedition is organized by Dr. Livingston, who has been in Africa for many years, and has been successful in discovering gold in the interior of the continent.

You help to give employment to worthy people; you help to keep money at home, which circulates in your midst and you get back a part of that money again in your business or production. You get this in every dollar expended for Home Made goods, means that employment for some labor, every dollar expended for goods made by the Home Industry, means employment for somebody living in the state, and whose interests are generally not with us.
