

HOME FROM NEW ORLEANS

Gov. Wells and Wife and Gen. Burton and Wife Return.
HAD AN ENJOYABLE TRIP.

St. Louis Fair Will Far Exceed the Great Exposition at Chicago—As To Utah's Part.

Gov. and Mrs. Wells and Adj. Gen. and Mrs. Burton returned this afternoon from New Orleans, where they enjoyed a short pleasure trip after attending the dedicatory exercises at the St. Louis exposition.

The governor was asked about the reports as to inattention to the gubernatorial parties from Utah, Colorado and Indiana, and he replied that as far as Utah was concerned it was expected that some committee specially appointed to wait on the party to extend a welcome and to give directions as to quarters and carriage would have assisted Gov. Wells and party in dedicating the site of the Utah state building. However, Gov. Wells, remarked that as to lack of attentions, why, he was a western man, and knew how to take care of and forage for himself. He did not mind being left alone as much as some others did. As to his speaking in a respectful vein at the dedication of the state house site, Gov. Wells said the reports had been exaggerated. He did not speak respectfully, but in a deprecatory way. Gov. Peabody was not waited on either by any committee, and he and his party were quite indignant. As the governor of Indiana, he couldn't say.

Gov. Wells, in reply to questions, stated that the management up to date of the St. Louis exposition was inferior to that of the Chicago world's fair, or of the Denver exposition. The governor expressed his firm belief that the St. Louis fair would be the greatest the world ever saw. It would far surpass the Chicago fair. The latter expended $12,000,000, whereas the St. Louis management had already over $40,000,000 in hand and $10,000,000 or $20,000,000 more coming. The acreage of the grounds amounted to 1,100 acres, and 50 acres would be added, the management paying $1,000 per acre for the use of the grounds for two years. Gov. Wells thought the fine arts would be splendidly represented. As to the spectacular street display, he thought the military parade one of the finest ever given in the world. The commendation being due the New York and Illinois troops and their governors and their respective staffs. The weather was very cold on the day of the parade, and the visitors suffered a good deal. Gov. Wells and his party were in New Orleans were greatly pleased with the quiet old city, and enjoyed their visit there thoroughly.

SCHEMING PRISONERS.

How They Have Been Getting Their Whisky for the Past Week.

The old adage that "Love laughs at locks and bars," might be appropriately applied to the prisoners of the city jail and their insatiable love for whisky. In the days of the old jail, which is now being replaced by a more comfortable and modern structure, the prisoners secured whisky by dropping a string out of the rear window and drawing the bottles up from friends on the outside. They are now being confined in temporary barracks in the city hall, and the prisoners are getting their whisky by means of a grate window which opens under the sidewalk. Eph Kelly, Mike Boyle et al. very quickly made the discovery that the plan was not very easily dropped through the grate window and raked into the jail. The discovery was followed immediately by some high old times. Night after night the prisoners could be heard singing who's only a bird in a caged cage, etc. Investigation by "Uncle Sol" Kimball followed, and several of the prisoners were found to be all mope and brooms, so to speak. Jailer Kimball gave him his famous "Jag Cure." Tom would load up again and the next morning Kimball would find him suffering from a severe attack of the D. T.'s.

HERE NEXT SUNDAY.

Presbyterian Ministers Will Spend the Day in This City.

There will be a meeting at the Kenyon hotel Sunday morning at 10 o'clock, of the pastors of local evangelical churches, to welcome delegates to the general assembly of the Presbyterian church at Los Angeles, and who will lay over in Salt Lake until the following morning. Rev. Dr. Paden will go down the road to meet the delegation, possibly as far east as Glenwood Springs, and will divide up the visiting clergymen among the various Salt Lake pulpits and the State Prison Christian Endeavor. The Salt Lake ministers will escort to their respective churches the clerical brethren who are to speak in their pulpits. The visitors will attend service in the Tabernacle in the afternoon and enjoy the great organ and choir.

STATE'S NEW FISH AND GAME LAW

County Officials Question Its Constitutionality.

WHERE ITS DEFECTS ARE.

Westervelt Gives James an Off-Hand Opinion that Will Doubtless Result in a Judicial Test.

The new fish and game law, passed by the recent Legislature, and which goes into effect today, contains several sections against which constitutional questions have been raised by County Clerk James, which may result in the law being declared null and void. The principal question raised is in regard to the section which provides that the owners of private fish ponds shall secure a license for the same from the county clerk before selling or disposing of any of the fish.

FROM WEBER'S CAPITAL.

City Council Matters—The Strike Situation—Foresters Meet.

Ogden, Utah, May 12.—At the meeting of the city council last night William Craig was elected a member of that body from the Third ward to succeed Charles W. Cross, deceased. Mr. Craig is about 40 years of age. He is the proprietor of the Craig cannery factory. He was a neighbor of Mr. Cross, whom he succeeds. The vote in open council stood 3 for Craig, 2 for John E. and 1 for Miles L. Jones, but the election of Craig had been practically determined before the session at a caucus. It is supposed that the three votes against Mr. Craig were Nye, Henderson and Chambers. His election was practically determined by the support of Randall, the other councilman from the Third ward, who came out openly during the day for his election. The first business of the session was the passing of a set of resolutions endorsing the late Congressman Cross, the matter of a franchise for the Utah Independent Telephone company again came before the council, and an ordinance making such a grant passed by a large majority. The communication was read and was referred to the committee on law.

THE STRIKE SITUATION.

The strike situation continues the same yesterday. A meeting of the contractors and others was held this morning behind closed doors, and all concerned refused to divulge what had taken place, but it is understood that nothing definite was accomplished. The men on strike have given out some publication full of settlements of some kind is reached. At a meeting of a number of other trades unions the proposition of assisting the hodecarriers by a sympathetic strike was discussed, but the particulars were also withheld from the press.

COURT OF FORESTERS.

The annual meeting of the Grand Court of Foresters of Utah is being held here today and tomorrow in Odd Fellows hall. At this morning's session credentials were received and the members from the various parts of the state were assigned their places. At the afternoon session general business was transacted and reports of the various officers received. Election of officers will be taken up tomorrow.

TRYING TO FREE THEM.

Attorney for Clark Brothers Asks for Writ of Habeas Corpus.

Judge T. D. Lewis is this afternoon hearing arguments on the petition for a writ of habeas corpus in behalf of Albert and James Clark, who have been bound over to the district court by Judge Diehl on the charge of grand larceny. Attorney Will F. Wanless represents the Clark brothers and bases his application for the writ upon the unconstitutionality of the city court, the insufficiency of the evidence to warrant a commitment and the magistrate exceeding his jurisdiction in committing the defendants. Assistant County Attorney Dana T. Smith is representing the state. The men are charged with robbing C. F. Johnson of $75 in a Commercial Street saloon several days ago.

ROACH NOT GUILTY.

Jury Says He Did Not Befoul the Water in Parley's Canyon.

The case of the city against William Roach, charged with befouling the water of Parley's canyon, came to a conclusion this morning shortly after 9 o'clock when the jury which has been hearing the evidence in the case for several days, returned a verdict of not guilty.

All responsible jewelers keep it

The case was tried in Judge Diehl's court, and occurred nearly three days. Yesterday morning the jury and court made the trip to Roach's place, which is half way between Salt Lake and Park City, and made a thorough investigation of the conditions there. They returned last night, but could not come to an agreement until this morning. The case was prosecuted by Asst. City Atty. Schuler, while Atty. Ray Van Cott defended. The defense claims that the prosecution was really a persecution. Roach claims that he bought the place over 20 years ago and that at the time it was in a frightful condition. Roach started to work on the place to clean it up and claims that he did everything in his power to keep the premises clean around the creek. He moved all the buildings away from the stream and declares that he has done all in his power to comply with the law. Atty. Van Cott says that Roach would be perfectly willing if the city would condemn the place and pay him a reasonable price for it. He has been arrested several times for the alleged offense and it is believed that the verdict of the jury this morning will settle the dispute for some time.

BOUNTIES PAID TODAY.

New Act and Appropriation Now in Full Force and Effect.

It is estimated that the total amount of warrants issued today for that purpose by the auditor is $1,000. The new bounty act provides that for each coyote scalp $1.50 will be paid by the state for coyote scalps.

THE SCHOOL CASE WILL CLEAR UP OVER TWO THOUSAND DOLLARS FROM THE BENEFIT.

Last night at the Tabernacle was an occasion of which a good many people in our community may well feel proud. First, the friends of our school system, who showed by that wholesale outpouring how low to their hearts our schools really lie. Second, the Commercial club, to whom the credit for conceiving and engineering the big concert is due. Third, Fisher Harris, who so cleverly handled the Commercial club machinery to bring about the success, and last, but by no means least, Prof. McClellan, who brought together the formidable array of talent, without which nothing at all could have been achieved.

CAMBRIAN IN A RARE PROGRAM

Fine Festival of Music Friday Night in Barratt Hall.

AN EDUCATIONAL EVENT.

L. D. S. University Invites the Public to a Unique Entertainment Given For Its Students.

The Cambrian society of Utah has accepted the invitation of the L. D. S. university to represent their country before the student body and their friends, next Friday evening at 8 o'clock in Barratt hall. A noteworthy feature is that this extraordinary festival of music will be absolutely free to the students and to the general public as well. A cordial invitation is therefore extended by the L. D. S. university to all lovers of sweet harmony in song, to all admirers of the Welsh choral melodies, and to all descendants of the patriotic race whose little place, to attend in a body, they will truly honor their homeland by applauding the unselfish labors of the members of the Cambrian society in commemoration of the land of their fathers. The general public is invited to the festival because the hall is large enough to accommodate more than a thousand people. The students, both of the present and former years, will be especially welcome, since it is for their especial benefit that the whole affair was planned.

Educationally the program will give a view of Welsh national airs, anthems, and musical lyrics, and will afford also a glance at the history of the nation, and the characteristics of the people. It is not merely the musical side of the Welsh national character that the program is intended to illustrate, but two leading representatives will give prepared addresses on the Welsh people, their national development and characteristics of the people. In this way, instruction and entertainment will be blended, and an evening worthy of the past fame and the present standing of the Cambrian society will be given to all that may attend. It has been decided to reserve no seats, except for the friends of those who may take part, and for the officials, the faculty, and the graduating class. These persons will be supplied with seats to any that may apply for them; but the hall will probably accommodate every one that comes, and all the seats are good for such a program.

AMUSEMENTS.

In spite of the big counter attraction at the Tabernacle last night, a fair sized house assembled at the Grand to see the Ward company in their new play, "At the Edge of the Grave." Although the title is somewhat gruesome, the drama turned out to be one full of interest, emotion and excitement, and held the audience in rapt attention from first to last. Mr. Herman, while still struggling with his unfortunate cold, played with vigor and intensity, and was well supported by Miss Roberts, Miss Holmes, Mr. McGinn, and the other members of the company.

and it is not too much to say that to her individual credit, should be placed a large percentage of last night's donation to the school cause. It is sincerely to be hoped that she will not lose by her generosity when she sings on her own behalf. Prior to her appearance last night, Mrs. Harris read a statement from Mrs. Wilcox and Stauffer, in which they said that they had strongly advised Miss Ramsey that she sang at her own risk, and that her throat was in a serious condition. Her determination, however, not to disappoint the public, had induced them to compromise by allowing only one light number to be rendered. She, therefore, gave Dudley Buck's beautiful song, "Fear Not Ye, O Israel." Making all allowance for the condition of her throat, it was plain to be seen that she had a wealth of beauty in her voice. Her tone quality is rich and velvety and her style shows that she has had the rarest sort of schooling. Her range indicates that she is a mezzo soprano, but both her upper and lower notes are equally rich. Any opinion as to all that she is capable of must, of course, be reserved until she has been heard in a round of varying selections. The impression she made last night, however, was unmistakable.
