BOSTON. A club of "Its." Many old players, most of whom have been excellent 'n their time, who may play a very strong and successful game if they are in proper condition physically. Fell off last year because of laziness and lack of good catcher. Criger's presence on the nine may help it much. The whole outfit seems to be largely an experiment with age, and it is a question whether the ex-periment will result in more than aver-age standing for the club.

WASHINGTON.

Can't consider it in the resc in the most hoperul view to be taken of the men who compose the nine. Outfield and infield both erratic and none too steady. Pitch-ers like to cut hose with occasional good games. Slow on the bases and needs a slugging bee to help the heavy footed ones home. When the club is in the mood to hit will pester any nine that it is fac-ing, but the manager will have his hands full to keep his players up to winning form.

ST. LOUIS.

Better team than last year and shaping into a winning system as rapidly as any club in the league. One of the hardest nines to beat. Past running in evidence with accurate fielding. Inside play im-proved 25 per cent in the last season. Pos-sibly not a permant winner, but will make all others work to win the flag.

NEW YORK.

NEW YORK. Uncertainty. That explains some of the situation regarding the Highlanders. Be-fore Chesbro gave up playing there was some doubt as to the pitchers, and now that the team must get along without him it is out of the question to get a line on the nine's strength. Addition of Rickey has beloed matters behind the bat. Infield fair, but less brilliant with-out Chase, and outfield should be as speedy as last year, as the players mani-rest no indication of going back. A good start will help greatly in making the team successful through the summer. CHICAGO

CHICAGO.

CHICAGO. If the pitchers are in as good shape as they were last season there seems to be no reason why Chicago should not hold its same measure of surength. Outfield is certainly better than the outfield that be-gan in 1206 race. Nhie cannot afford to lose in batting strength, as it is not over-stocked with that commodity at the best. General team work is as good or better than that of any other nine in the league, as the players make the most out of the plathers weaken, not much chance for the pennant.

"Kid" McCoy was a master trickster. His tricks with Placke and Maher were wonders. Jim Corbett pulled off a corker on John L. Suilvan at New Orleans. John L. scared almost every man be met with his look and had it half won before the bell. The time Jim Corbett jumped into the ring he didn't even look at John, but smiled, shock hands and talked with those around the ring for fully fitteen minutes, never noticing Sully at all. John became scared himself at the ut-ter indifference of the youngsler, and lost fits goat later on. Bob Fitzsimmons broke his hand in the fifth round of his fight with George Gardner and, seeing that his only chance was to hit easy and get the decision, he deliberately swung wildly over his op-ponent's head and scared the latter to death. All Gardner did was to hug and then jump away. The knockdown in the master turned on his heat like on a pivot and winning easily, when suddenly the latter turned on his beli like on a pivot and ianded the great La Blanche swing which put the worderful Dempsey down and ont. Later on this blow was barred. Willie Fitzgerald put Britt to the floor Jackson, big Jim Jeffries received a bad cut over his right eye. Every time he was hit on the bum gim it bled and ran down into his eye, bothering his sight so that he had to stop and get it fixed. He still had the cut the day of the fight, and wise old Billy Delaney had to figure out a way to beat it. He plastered the left eye, which was good, with black plaster the same as the bad one was and on the old Billy Delahey had to ngire out a way to beat it. He plastered the left eye, which was good, with black plaster the same as the bad one was, and on the night of the go Jackson, who was a great left-handed fighter, smashed at the plaster on the wrong eye. It only lasted three rounds, but Jeff wasn't troubled a bit with this cut. That eye was never touched. Peter was out before he got wise Mike Schreck Clash on 15th. Mike Schreck Clash on 15th. At a meeting between the managers of Mike Schreck and John Wille, held in the office of kiley, the Tonopah promoter of the Wille-Schreck fight, which takes place there on the 15th, the question of referee has been settled. Jack Curley for Wille and Billy Hogan for Schreck, decided to effer the job to Otto Floto, the Denver sporting writer and Floto will be the third man in the ring. wise. Will eFitzgerald put Britt to the floor as dead as a door nall in the second round of their fight in 'Frisco. holder, who is cashier of a strong local bank. This country is fight mad. Every af-ternoon the training quarters of the fight-ers are crowed to the doors. The old ones come back for a second, third and fourth occasion to watch each fighter train and each afternoon brings new spectators. A strange, or at least, an un-usual sight for an easterner is the interest manifested in the fair sex, and each af-ternoon sees from 50 to 200 ladies at the training quarters, watching with keen in-terast every movement of the principals in the coming big batte. Unlike the little fellows of the Nelson, Herman. Attell and others who trained here before and who atways aroused the sympathy of the fair sex and were unani-mously termed as being real cute. Schreck and Wills are of the big husky type and their looks certainly do not appeal to the ladies on account of their cuteness. This is positive proof that the fair onlookers are actually interested in the fight.

CLEVELAND.

CLEVELAND. Likely to be same in and out team as every year. Very strong in the infield, fair in the outfield, not over strong in the box and not so resourceful as some clubs in the league when it comes to playing for runs. A nine in which snap and dash have been known frequently to miss an opening. May be a factor for the pennant and is just as apt to prove a disappoint-ment. Seems to have been a general ten-dency to rate the batteries of the team too high.

raise must he prepared to quit the rame entirely if his bluff does not carry through. The last time Chase was here he spoke freely about the eastern situation. San Jose had offered him more money and several side inducements to piay there this season. Hal had stated his terms to the New York club and was waiting an answer. He said that if they did not meet his figure he would play bush league ball in central California. When that boy came to Los Angeles he played ball for $5 a month. He did not mind that-he was getting his try-out. He soon demonstrated that he was the most brilliant player on the Los Angeles leas morey than the kid first baseman. The next year New York took him away from xe, and, of course, knowing the size of his coast salary, he was paid some-what in propotion in the east. He is con-ceded to be the greatest ball player of the generation, and geveral of his friends believe he should be paid according to his ability, not according to the years of the New York American team who are not equal to Chase in performance or drawing power, but they outdraw him at the pay-wagon. Chase tunks this is not fair and has named a figure which, in view of the silaries paid other men, is not uneasonable.
