BREVITIES.

There are about 27,000 post offices in the United States.

Something always on hand—your thumb.

Barometer invented by Torricelli, 1635.

Why is life the greatest riddle? Because all must give it up.

Cherry trees are to planted in Central Park for the birds.

The Prince of Wales wants £10,000 added to his income.

Fifty thousand photographs are sold daily in New York city.

A Connecticut man advertises a reward of five cents for his absconding wife.

"Ma, what is revenge?"

"It is when your daddy scolds me, and I hit him with a broom stick."

People seldom improve when they set up no other models than themselves to copy after.

Family suicides are fashionable in Berlin. They do it by going to bed and leaving the gas turned on.

The Baltimore Post, a penny daily, has given up the ghost at the age of 115 days.

There are more Wurtembergers in the United States than in Wurtemburg, and twice as many Hessians as in Hesse Cassel.

Many a man thinks it is a virtue that keeps him from turning a rascal. One should be careful and not mistake potatoes for principles.

James Teare, the founder of teetotalism in England, died at Manchester on the 16th of March, he was 64 years of age, and unmarried.

Dr. Chapin's salary is stated at $12,000, and his congregation recently made him a present of the house he lives in, valued at $38,000.

The New York Newsboy's Home, within the last fifteen years has provided for 57,507 boys, and restored 4,000 to relatives and friends, at a cost of $65,000, of which the boys paid $18,000.

The six year old son of the Machias representative, recently visited the insane asylum, at Augusta, and told his father that they were "making speeches just like the Legislature."

A mirage lately occurred in Green Bay, Wisconsin, during which objects, which were several miles away, seemed to be only a few rods from the person observing them.

The widow of a Rhode Island law Judge has received $2,000 from the State, in consideration of the fact that her husband shortened his days by his assiduous devotion to judicial duties.

At the Erie disaster a school girl pulled from the wreck a man weighing 186 pounds, who was tightly wedged under the debris with both legs broken. The heroine sprained her ankle and wrist.

Napoleon the Third, in his recent visit to Lille, conferred the Cross of the Legion of Honor upon Mr. Leonard Danel, printer, whose office was established there in the year 1698.

A Michigan undertaker thus gratefully responds to a friend who has done him a favor. "If you ever want a coffin, call on me. I shall be most happy to bury you and all your family at the lowest cost price!"

An ambitious fellow in Connecticut appeals, over his own signature, "Two thee michannicks and labouringe men of my naitive town. I will reprizent yeu in the Stait assemblee irrispectiff of pollytics, relijion or eddicashun."

A very volatile young lord, whose conquests in the female world were numberless at last married. "Now, my lord," said the countess, "I hope you'll mend." "Madam," said he, "you may depend on it, this is my last folly."

A gentleman who wanted to make a speech to a Sunday School, thought that he would adopt the colloquial style, and this is what happened: "Now, boys, what does a man want when he goes fishing?" A shrill voice in the crowd went direct to the point with, "Wants a bite."

They tell a humorous story at the expense of the town council of Wurtemburg. Once on a time, the grass grew on one of the church towers so thick that the grave fathers of the town held a meeting to consider its removal, and it was voted to hoist up the town bull to graze it off.

Is she not the very sparkle and sunshine of life! A woman who is happy because she cant help it—whose smile even the coldest sprinkle of misfortune cannot dampen! Men make a terrible mistake when they marry for beauty, for talent, or for style; the sweetest wives are those who posses the magic secret of being content under any circumstances. Rich or poor, high or low, it makes no difference; the bright little fountain of joy bubbles up just as musically in the heart.

There is but a breath of air and a beat of the heart betwixt this world and the next; and in the brief interval of painful and awful suspense, while we feel that death is present with us, that we are powerless, and the all powerful, and the faint pulsations here is but the prelude of endless life hereafter, we feel in the midst of the stunning calamity about to befall us, that the earth has no compensating good to mitigate the severity of our loss. But there is no grief without some benificent provision to soften its intenseness. When the good and lovely die, the memory of their good deeds, like the moonbeams on the stormy sea, light up our darkened hearts and lend to the surrounding gloom a beauty so sad and sweet that we would not, if we could, dispel the darkness that environs it.—[G. D. Prentice.
