FRAGMENTS.

A GOOD attendance at the matinee this afternoon.

JOHN READING offers a reward for the return of his lost horse. See his advt.

A MAN named Taylor was arrested and locked up last night for being drunk.

THE funeral services of Clara Erickson, who died in the Fourth Ward last Thursday, will be held in the ward meeting house to-morrow morning, at 10 o'clock.

The Third Quorum of Elders will meet on Monday, May 4th, 1885, in the Eighth Ward school House, at 7:30 p.m.

THOMAS GERARD, President,
T. J. ANGELL, Clerk.

THE Second Quorum of Elders, comprising those Elders living in the First and Tenth Wards, will hold their regular monthly meeting in the Tenth Ward meeting house, next Monday evening, commencing at 7.30.

WE are requested to state that Dr. DeWitt leaves for New York on Monday, and will occupy his pulpit for the last time on Sabbath morning and night. Subject at night, "Our Present Home." Scandinavian service at 4 p.m.

THE air of our streets to-day was resonant with music produced by the several brass bands out for the purpose of calling attention to the mass meeting this afternoon. The S. S. Union Brass Band played a couple of airs in fine style in front of our office.

IT was stated erroneously in yesterday's issue that the funeral service over the remains of Clara Erickson would be held this morning, whereas it is to be held to-morrow (Sunday) morning at 10 o'clock, at the Fourth Ward school house. Friends of the family invited.

LOCAL NEWS.

No Sunday School.—To-morrow being Stake Conference, there will be no Sunday Schools held in the city.

JOHN C. CUTLER,
Stake Sup't. Sunday Schools.

Plead Guilty.—James C. Watson was before the District Court, this morning, and entered a plea of guilty to the charge of unlawful cohabitation under the Edmunds law. At the request of his attorney, F. S. Richards, Esq., sentence was suspended until Saturday, May 9.

Sunday School Union.—The usual monthly meeting of the Salt Lake Sunday school Union will be held in the Assembly Hall on Monday evening next, commencing at 7:30 o'clock. Short addresses will be made by Elders C. R. Savage and Richard S. Horne. The Eighteenth Ward Sunday school will furnish the music and doorkeepers. All interested in the Sunday school cause are cordially invited to be present.

DAVID R. LYON, Asst. Sec'y.

Opened for Business.—Some time ago we stated that Messrs. John C. Cutler and Brother had resumed the agency of the Provo Woolen Mills and purposed opening a store in the Hooper & Eldredge Block, with a large and varied stock of the products of that popular factory. We are now enabled to state that the premises have been fitted up, and are open for business. The best woolen goods and other fabrics can be obtained there either at wholesale or retail. Patronize home manufacture. Read advertisement.

The Caledonia Society.—The recreation grounds of this Society, on South Temple St., have recently been put in convenient shape for the purposes intended, viz: lawn tennis, croquet, quoits, horizontal bar, trapeze, Indian club and other exercises. The grounds will be open this evening at 6 o'clock for the use of members and their friends, and every Wednesday and Saturday during the season. The opportunity thus provided for healthful recreation should be duly appreciated by those who are privileged to avail themselves of it.

Deputy Registrars.—The Utah Commissioners yesterday appointed the following deputy registration officers:

SANPETE COUNTY.

A. Crane, Fairview Precinct.
H. N. Larter, Fountain Green.
N. L. Elmson, Moroni.
F. C. Jenson, Wales.
Wm. Zabriskie, Chester.
J. D. Page, Mount Pleasant.
Jacob Johnson, Spring City.
Rasmus Clawson, Ephraim.
George Quinn, Mantl.
Selah Atwood, Pettyville.
Jos. Christensen, Mayfield.
Jas. Robbins, Jr., Gunnison.
Edward Reid, Fayette.
D. J. Williams, Winter Quarters.
N. Tidwell, Thistle (Indianola).

Alex. Jordan was appointed for Burbank Precinct, Millard County, and Lucius A. Snow for Box Elder Precinct, Box Elder County.

Peck's Bad Boy.—A very large and hilarious audience assembled at the Theatre last evening to witness the first performance of this play in this city, and from the frequent bursts of applause heard throughout the evening there was reason to fear that the Bad Boy would find a good many imitators among the admiring auditors. In view of the tendency among thoughtless young people to imitate the actions or language of others who appear to them as "cute," and especially that which is laughed at or applauded, this play can scarcely be regarded otherwise than demoralizing. Aside from this feature of the play, it contains a number of funny scenes, and persons who are easily amused and who go to the Theatre for that purpose might see a good deal in it to laugh at. This is all we can really say for the play itself or the manner in which it was last night performed.

Hours of Meeting.—For the benefit of the public at large, and more especially of the Home Missionaries, who are sometimes at a loss to know at what hour to meet their appointments, we have been requested to announce the time for commencing the Ward meetings throughout the Stake during the summer season. It would be well for parties interested to clip this item out of the paper and preserve it for reference.

Herriman; also the Scandinavian meeting in the Social Hall and the the German meeting in the City Hall, at 10 a.m.

Big Cottonwood, South Cottonwood, Union and Granite, at 11 a.m.

West Jordan and North Jordan at 11.30 a.m.

Granger, 12 m.

Mountain Dell, Pleasant Green and Riverton, at 1 p.m.

Brighton, at 1.30 p.m.

Sugar House, Farmers, Mill Creek, East Mill Creek, Draper, South Jordan and Sandy, at 2 p.m.

The evening meetings in all the wards of this city commence at 6.30, with the exception of the 6th, 9th and 11th, which commence at 6 o'clock.

QUARTERLY CONFERENCE.

YESTERDAY AFTERNOON.

The attendance was somewhat larger than at the forenoon session.

Prayer by Elder Joseph Harker.

Elder William Knox was the first speaker. He said the time had come when the Saints should labor earnestly to live their religion and serve the Lord. He compared the various wards to gardens filled with fruit trees, some of which contained dead branches that ought to be cut off. The Bishops were the gardeners, and should keep the trees carefully pruned, that the dead branches may not prove a detriment to the fruit. He thought that members who deny the revelation on celestial marriage should be excommunicated at once as dead branches, because such a denial is equivalent to renouncing the faith. He expressed a desire to be useful and to work continually for the accomplishment of good, and referred to the revelation which condemns the slothful servant who waits to be commanded in all things and then receives the commandment with a doubting heart, and which further says that all should be active and seek to bring about much righteousness of their own free will. As an illustration of what others might do to advantage, he related his experience in the Sabbath school of the Ward in which he lives, where he commenced with a class of six or seven little ones, and has succeeded in increasing that number to forty or fifty. There is a big field of labor in every Ward, and the Bishop should see that all the members are kept busy. The organization of the Church is perfect and calculated to provide a position and labor for every member in some capacity. He dwelt for some time upon the duties and callings of the various officers of the Church, and exhorted them, as well as the members, to greater diligence and faithfulness. The Saints should not allow business considerations to prevent them from attending fast meetings, and they should be more liberal with their fast offerings for the poor. All are simply stewards and will have to render an account to God for the use made of the means entrusted to them. The Lord has pronounced a woe upon the rich who will not impart of their substance to the poor, declaring that their riches should canker their souls.

Elder George B. Wallace said he looked forward with great anticipation to the time when the man like Moses should be raised up to deliver this people from bondage. In that day the Lord will not say: "My angel shall go before you and not my presence: but my angel shall go before you and my presence also." If the Red Sea does not swallow up our enemies, they will swallow each other. He endorsed the doctrine of plural marriage. About 42 years ago the Lord had revealed this doctrine to him, and he did not feel in the least inclined to surrender it. The Saints will meet persecution occasionally, but after a while they will triumph. The Lord will sustain us if we are faithful, and His promises will be fulfilled.

Elder James Sharp said we had covenanted with God at the waters of baptism to serve the Lord and keep His commandments, knowing from the examples of Christ and former Saints that we must meet persecutions. There are no promises that our paths shall be strewn with roses. The beginning of this work was indeed small, but it has grown in an astounding manner. Still we are few compared with the people of the earth, and we feel sometimes to wonder when the day of triumph will come. He believed that as a people, the Saints are living nearer to God now than at any previous time. Regarded the extra exertions of our enemies as an evidence that this is true. Referred to the mission of Christ, the cause of his death, and what was accomplished by it. Since His time the world has been without the Gospel, but the very moment that it is again introduced, we see the same persecution awakened. It is simply the war of the two opposing powers—good and evil. The cause of our present treatment is not altogether polygamy; it is immediate communication with God, and his authority, that Satan is contending with. But we need not trouble our minds concerning the outcome. Let us all examine ourselves and see if we are in the line of our duty, and seek to fill our hearts with the spirit of Christ, and all will end well with us.

President Angus M. Cannon said he was much pleased with the remarks of the brethren, and with the operations of the Spirit thus far during the Conference. President Heber C. Kimball had been heard to predict that when the Salt Lake Temple reached the square, all hell would be turned loose upon us. The building had reached that degree of completion, and about as much of hell had been turned loose upon the Saints as they could stand, and doubtless for some time to come they will have all of that power to meet that they can successfuly cope with. Still, corresponding blessings are given them—temples are being completed and the work is growing rapidly. He was very much impressed by a remark of a legal gentleman the other day, who said while arguing a case in court that the "Mormons" never cohabit with women who are not their wives, and he only regretted that the assertion was not universally true with this people. He deplored the condition of a Latter-day Saint who would wilt and cringe before our oppressors and beg for mercy at their hands, promising to put away the wives whom God had given him as the means of his exaltation. If men renounce the covenants by which they obtain their wives, they no longer abide in the covenant and are not worthy of them. For forty-three years he had been familiar with the prophecies which foretell the very events which are now transpiring. Persecution will yet cause many more to turn aside, but only those who remain faithful to the end shall be saved. He that loseth his life for the truth's sake shall find it again, even eternal life. When he saw brethren turn against this work, because of the growing strength of our enemies, he thanked God for the persecution, as it will sift out many who are unworthy of a standing among the Saints. But when a man professing to be a Latter-day Saint will cower before our enemies and beg for mercy, forgetting or renouncing the promises of God, he considered him a contemptible hypocrite. He exhorted the Saints to be humble, devoted and prayerful, and hoped that the time would soon come when the hypocrite would find no place among us.

Benediction was offered by Elder A. W. Winberg.

SATURDAY MORNING.

Conference convened this morning at 10 o'clock. President Angus M. Cannon presiding.

Prayer by Elder Elias Morris.

John M. Lees of the Nineteenth Ward, Arthur D. Simons of the Twentieth Ward, William Harker, of Pleasant Green, Hyrum Covert, of Granite, George Boyce of South Cottonwood, and Charles C. Jensen, of Draper, were recommended by their respective Bishops as being worthy to be ordained Elders. The recommendations were sanctioned by a unanimous vote of the conference.

Elder Robert Campbell said the Saints had abundant cause to rejoice, notwithstanding the circumstances by which we are surrounded. The Lord will protect us and bring us off more than conquerors, if we are faithful. Many are passing through severe ordeals, but it is through suffering that we are perfected. The Saints should all be one and love their neighbors as themselves.

Elder Theodore McKean said this people has been made partakers of great and peculiar blessings. It is the constant effort of a lifetime to prepare ourselves for returning back into the presence of our Heavenly Father. He bore his testimony to the truth.

Elder Elias Smith said it had been a long time since his health permitted him to meet with the Saints, and he experienced peculiar pleasure in having the present opportunity. Most of the time for two years he had been confined to his room from the effects of an accident. His faith was not weakened, and he rejoiced in the Gospel. Did not feel discouraged at what is transpiring. Had heard Joseph Smith foretell these events, and many others that have not yet come to pass. Many will yet leave the Church through persecution, but those who are faithful to the end will receive the reward promised.

Apostle Heber J. Grant was the next speaker. He said the Latter-day Saints should have no other desire than to find out the mind and will of God, and to seek to do it with all their powers. We have set out for eternal lives, the greatest of God's gifts. There are many who think that if they can simply hang on to the Church their salvation is sure, whether they perform the duties enjoined upon them or not. This class will find themselves greatly mistaken and disappointed. This people have been promised persecution, and he hoped it would be for their righteousness, but he feared that such had not always been the case. All blessings are predicated upon certain laws, the conditions of which must be complied with before the blessings can be obtained. He rejoiced that the integrity and virtue of this people had been acknowledged by our most bitter persecutors in so public a manner as was done the other day, clearly showing that they are not opposed to us on account of our vices but because of our virtues.

Elder Elias Morris did not feel disappointed at the conditions by which the Latter-day Saints are surrounded, as all these things had been foretold and were necessary to test them. Persecution will unite and strengthen the faithful, while it sifts out the unworthy, and will thus prove a blessing to the church. Many are already beginning to falter. The past week has demonstrated the corrupt nature of the proceedings against us, and the effects that they will produce. This people will never deny nor abandon their wives and children. They would be unworthy to be called men to do so. Some half-hearted apostates may do it, but no true Latter-day Saint will put away the wives and children that God has given him. The Saints will cheerfully go to prison, or even die first.

The choir sang and conference was adjourned until Sunday morning at 10 o'clock.

Benediction by President Seymour B. Young.

TRIAL OF A. M. MUSSER.

THE PROSECUTION FAIL TO PROVE ANYTHING—BUT THE JURY WERE PACKED TO CONVICT, AND DID SO.

Last evening the witness for whom the prosecution asked the Court to wait, failed to put in an appearance, and that side rested.

Recorder, George M. Cannon, was subpœnaed and produced the record of deeds, which was offered in evidence by the defense.

The prosecution objected, but the court finally decided to admit the record, if it was introduced to prove that the women occupied their own houses.

The record showed that, for the consideration of one dollar in each instance, the defendant transferred to the three women named in the indictment, certain property. The transfer took place on July 21st, 1883, and the deeds were recorded August 22d, 1883.

Mrs. Annie M. Sheets testified that Mrs. Belinda Pratt Musser occupied the west half of Mrs. Mary Musser's house only a while her own was being built. The new house was in the 18th Ward, where Belinda moved to in December last. Defendant had informed witness that he had deeded each wife a home.

The last statement was objected to, but was admitted as the statement of Mr. Musser.

The defense rested their case and the Court adjourned until 10 a.m. to-day.

This morning Mr. Dickson delivered the opening address to the jury, and was followed by Messrs. Brown and Bennett for the defense. In conclusion, Mr. Varian delivered a violent speech, denouncing the "Mormon" community, and declaring that polygamists would have to publicly disown their wives, and have the marriage contracts, whether legal or illegal, annulled.

The Judge charged the jury that if they believed, beyond a reasonable doubt, that the defendant had lived in "the habit and repute of marriage" with the women named, or with any two of them, to bring in a verdict of guilty.

The jury retired, and returned in about twenty minutes with a verdict of "Guilty as charged in the indictment."

Sentence will be pronounced on Saturday, May 9th.

P. P. PRATT'S CASE.

HE WILL NOT BE A TRAITOR, AND GETS THE FULL PENALTY OF THE LAW.

By request of District Attorney Dickson, Judge Zane this morning dismissed the charge of polygamy made against Parley P. Pratt. The prosecutor gave as a reason, that the defendant's first wife had been divorced from him since his marriage to the second, and consequently the third and last marriage was a legal one, and the accused could not be proceeded against for that.

Mr. Pratt was then arraigned on the charge of unlawful cohabitation, and pleaded guilty.

In answer to a question by the Court, Mr. P. S. Richards stated that the defendant was a poor man, his family being dependent on him for their support, and had saved the government expense by his plea.

The Court, to Mr. Pratt.—Do you propose to obey this law, or to continue to cohabit with your wives?

Mr. Pratt—I don't propose to make any statement. I would have to consider the subject. I don't propose to make any promise.

The Court then stated, in severe tones, that the offense was not visited by the statute with a severe punishment as compared with polygamy, though he did not see much difference in the crimes. It was an unusual occurrence for the Court to pronounce sentence in a case where the accused gave no assurance that the offense would not be continued. This defendant was not willing to say that he would not continue to cohabit with his wives and break the law of his country. The Court was not here as an individual, but in behalf of the government, and could not show any leniency in this case. He was here as the representative of a great government, wherein the fifty millions had pronounced against polygamy, and he must enforce the penalty in such a way as to carry out the purposes of the law. The sentence would therefore be six months' imprisonment and a fine of $300.

What Did He Mean?—At the close of the Musser case this morning, Mr. Dickson stated that during the progress of the trial, a gentleman named Carney, while in the court room yesterday, made some signals to one of the jurymen. Mr. Carney had said that he was only in fun, but as there seemed to be something strange in the affair, the Prosecuting Attorney asked an investigation, which was set for 3 o'clock this afternoon.

At the hour appointed, the subpœna had not been served upon the main witness against the offender, and after a short delay the officer entered court and reported the witness was not in the city.

Mr. Carney then took the witness stand and voluntarily stated what actually occurred. He and Mr. Pitt, the juror, had frequently played fifteen-ball pool; and, seeing the latter on the jury, he opened and closed his hand three times and smiled, meaning that there would be no fifteen ball pool for them that night. He had no intention of doing anything improper.

The juror was also examined and corroborated Mr. Carney's statement. There had been no previous understanding between them of any nature concerning any signal. They had played about 2,000 games of pool, and he supposed Mr. Carney meant something about having another game.

The Judge discharged the accused, but advised him to be careful in the future how he communicated in any manner with a juror.

Juvenile Instructor.—The May day number of this excellent periodical is not less interesting than the generality of its predecessors. While its name would indicate that it is especially intended for children, its contents are equally adapted to the wants of those of a larger growth; it is such a magazine, in fact, as ought to be in every household.

BARNEY E. DAVIS was arrested this afternoon on a charge of battery. His trial is set for Monday, at 10 o'clock.

MR. HARRY ALDOUS will perform at the Sunday School Union meeting next Monday evening, a cornet solo, written for him by Mr. Jos. J. Daynes.

I want to buy some of Geo. Goddard & Co's hats, where can I see a sample of all kinds they manufacture?

A COUNTY MERCHANT.

Answer—For the time being, their sample room is on the third floor in the Hooper & Eldredge Block, where a full line of Goddard & Co's hats may be seen from 10 o'clock a. m. till 4 o'clock p.m., (their clerk will be in attendance during those hours daily,) where all country merchants and other buyers are respectfully invited to call, examine and buy.
