It is gratifying to know that with a tax levy for state purposes by no means burdensome and with gen-erous support to all public obligations the state is free from debt and with ample funds for current needs.

The Republican party has always stood for the enlarged participation of the individual voice in public affairs. To this end we pledge ourselves and our party in this state to the enact-ment of a wise and judicious pri-mary election law which will provide for the nomnation by direct vote of all candidates for office to be filled at the general election and an expression of party preference in the selection of nited States senators. "We are unalterably opposed to the domination of corporate influences in public affairs. We favor the enact-ment of stringent statutes to purge the politics of our state and nation from the corrupting influences of corporate power, and we pledge curselves to the enactment of such laws as will ren-den it unprofitable and unpepular for corporations to engage in politics or in any way contribute to polltical cam-"The abolishment of the free pass

After Gov. Cummins was renom-inated a committee was appointed to escort him to the platform. He made a little speech, in which he said the thing pearest his heart was the Re-publican party. George D. Perkins was also called out and was received with cheers. He said that in the fu-ture, as in the past, he would be loyal to the Republican party and reenlisted in its service.

The majority of the officers on the state ticket were nominated by acclamation, a ballot being necessary for eutenant-governor, secretary of state treasurer and railroad commissioners.

Patsy Dwyer, Gambler, Hunting Man, Shoots the Wrong One.

Austin, Nev., Aug. 1 .- Tuesday afterabon Patsy Dwyer, a gambler of Tono-ah, and Jack O'Brien, a bartender pah. from Manhattan, had a quarrel in a saloon here, and when they parted there was an understanding when next they met they would meet shooting. About 8 o'clock Dwyer went to the red light district looking for O'Brien and, not finding him, he started for town. On turning a corner near the International hotel he saw Albert Willlams, a conductor on the N. C. R. R., and County Recorder H. W. Dwyer standing together in the moonlight. He inistook Williams for O'Brien and Dwyer for Williams, O'Brien's partner. Without a word Dwyer fired three shots. One bullet entered Williams' brain and killed him. Another bullet struck Dwyer in the left leg, between the ankle and the knee, breaking both bones Dwyer was arrested by Deputy Sher-ff Oliver, but being intoxicated did not realize the enormity of the crime. This morning Dwyer was taken to Dwyer's home and identified, and later on was taken to view the remains of Williams. Thinking up to the time that he saw the remains that he had killad O'Brien, Dwyer collapsed.
