

(Special Correspondence.) CEATTLE, Wash., July 8.-Seattle is a mighty fine city-provided you have an airship. The fact that you live in Seattle need not of necessity indicate that your domicile is within walking distance of the Totem pole at the foot of First avenue. Generally you reside anywhere within two to 14 miles of that starting point whence the majority of Utahns box their compass and launch out on a campaign of exploration.

Seattle would be all right if it were not for the hills dales and lakes. When ever you want to go anywhere there is a hill with a lake to greet your eyes when you arrive on the summit. Hence an aeroplane would come in mighty handy. The trousers of the majority of the male population of Seattle bag at the knees. This style of sartorical adornment is popular and is not super-induced by a prayerful attitude, because Seattle is not a pious city, but baggy knees are the sign of much hill climbing.

WHY PAY MORE?

Some things strike the stranger. Not ably the absence of children on the streets; by children, one means infants and not the Children of Israel. Here the newspapers cost one a cent and decent rooms in a downtown hotel, verily a king's ransom, but who wants climate when you can buy enough pa-per to make a bed with sheets to spare for one cent!

If you must have a room, however, go out by the exposition grounds, where you can get all the comforts of home including mother's cooking, for $1.75 a day, and that is better than you can do in Salt Lake.

The fair grounds, or the Alaska-Yukon-Pacific exposition, whichever you like, are about as far from the Totem pole as Murray is from the Pioneer monument.

GET THE "SPIRIT."

Before going further it is well to in-guire—"Have you the Seattle spirit?" All you need to acquire this spirit is to stock up on adjectives and let go a broadside at every unprotected stran-ger you meet. After a month's resi-dence you are eligible for a diploma. Then you are due to take a post grad-wate course in the seattle art of buying real estate ($25 down and ten a month) and unloading on the next candidate for "the Seattle spirit." It is a great game and a source of constant revenue for the garage owner and the taxicab man.

JOYS OF TAXICAB.

Did you ever ride in a taxicab? At your own expense, that is. You have heard that old adage about spending your money like a drunken sallor? What, yes! That is a back number in Seattle-take a taxlcab. At the present time there are five tor-pedo boat destroyers and a cruiser lying off the waterfront in the sound. Jack comes ashore after his long cruise with his pockets full of money, and in duty bound he is going to spend it. He does not get drunk. He simply takes a ride in a taxicab-it is quicker just adjourn to the Western Union and telegraph, for it is cheaper. That is why the taxicab is so popular with Jack ashore.

THE SEATTLE PAT MORAN Seattle is a great town. There is nothing small about Seattle. If you pur-chase a home on the hill (subsequent to acquiring the Seattle spirit). Seattle one fine morning condemns your home, rose trees, and all, then gets an official appraiser to tell you how much it is appraiser to tell you how much it is worth, and if you will not accept the price, turns a mastodonic hose on your establishment and washes it and half the hill into Puget Sound. It is best the hill into Puget Sound. It is best to accept the city's valuation and check and let the Seattle Pat Moran have his own way. Besides, after the hill has been washed away, you can purchase back your home site at greatly cu-hanced figures. Fancy the Sait Lake the residents of the east bench that it was about to remove the hill in the interests of the teamsters' union or the Society for the Prevention of Cruelty to Pedestrians, or some other publi to Pedestrains, or some other public welfare. Listen; cannot you hear the remarks and the frantic rush of Old Subscriber, Veritas, Vox populi, Pro Bono Publico, Tax Payer and the rest of the tribe into the public print!

of the tribe into the public print! If you protest against your home being washed away you simply have not got the Seattle spirit. That's all there is about it. There are three hills being wached away here in Seattle at this time and grades are being cut down all over town until the place looks like those famous advertising pictures of hydrau-lle mining in the Alaska Bull Con. mine or some other wild cat stock stelling scheme. selling scheme.

ENTERPRISE WITHOUT JAPS. The amount of public enterprise be-ing instituted in Seattle at this time baffles the imagination of the average Salt Laker who fondly imagines that his town public improvements are world-beaters. Graft: certainly there is graft. The legislature of Washington is now sitlogislature of Washington is gifted. The logislature of Washington is now sit-ting in extra session to investigate a few charges that give promise of be-ing mere surface croppings. But there is plenty of work for everybody and you can travel from the Seattle equivalent of from Dan even unto Beersheba and you cannot see a single Jap working with a pick and shovel. They will not let the Jap work at anything in Seattle, apparently. Last week the exposition put on a number of Jap jinrichashaw men. An hour later the delegations from the labor unions joined in one long loud wall and the Japs vacated the grounds, leaving their 'rick shaws behind. Today these man-drawn hacks of Tokio are being hauled around by white men wearing Jap around by white men wearing Jap costume and trimmings. The Jap is making a game struggle for recognition, however, as the fol-lowing aneedote gleefully narrated yesterday by a fair officials would indicate:

A Jap was given a job washing dishes in one of the restaurants on The Pay Streak. "Go to work, John,"

The Pay Streak. "Go to work, John," said the boss, "your wages will be $10 a week." "Ten dollars a week," repeated the scandalized Jap, "No, no, me know fifth chapter of Matthew by heart; me a Christian, me get $15." But after all the A-Y-P exposition is the great thing in Seattle (five miles from the Totem pole) at the present time. Not the least interesting ex-hibit there is contained in the Utah building. While the exhibit is small it is a credit to the state and this can be said without any mental reser-vation that there is no other state on the grounds that has as big a var-iety. A number have displays three times as large, but none has the scope which runs from salt to coal, cotton

The above is only one of the thousands of grateful letters which are constantly being received by the Pinkham Medicine Company of Lynn, Mass., which prove beyond a doubtthat Lydia E. Pinkham's Vegetable Compound, made from roots and herbs, actually does cure these obstinate diseases of women after all other means have failed, and that every such sufering woman owes it to herself to at least give Lydia E. inexpensive and at the same time odd and striking. The masses, however, are somewhat puzzled and the remarks one can pick up on the outside are both amusing and sometimes exasperating.

OPINIONS AS TO BUILDING.

One inquiring gentleman with long hirsute trimmings asked apparently in good faith whether or not the building was a reproduction of a ty-pical Mormon home; another told a pical Mormon home: another told a circle of admiring co-tourists that this was Brigham Young's first residence in Utah. The majority, however, mistake the structure for a show which has been crowded off the Pay Streak and are deeply pleased to find on cautious investigation that there is no charge for admission. At this time there is quite a crowd of Utahns in Seattle who are daily

At this time there is quite a crowd of Utahns in Seattle who are dally being welcomed at the building by W. H. Rowe, director general; Ru-dolph Kuschler, commissioner; Mrs. Charlotte Stevenson, hostess; Miss Ethel Orth, Miss Florence Hull, Miss Guincey Kimball; Dr. Robert Brad-ford, in charge of the university min-ing exhibit, and Principal F. N. Poul-son who is working like a beaver on the education al displays, which is not the least of the interesting features to be seen inside the building.

UTAH VISITORS.

Among the most dreaded pirates, also, were the Seribas and Sakarran Dyaks, Rajah Brooke's future subjects, who wanted heads and nothing more; ell plunder they surrendered to the Malay chief who provided the praus and navigated them. But these were a local scourge.

navigated them. But these were a local scourge. It is not very surprising to learn that the worst Malay pirates were not Malays at all; that unfortunate race bears a good many imputations which it does not deserve. The Lanuns, or Illanuns, dweit originally in Min-danao, a great island of the Phillip-pines, where Dampier found them peaceable enough, working gold. They were not a seafaring people then, though the chiefs had their gor-geous barges. The Balinini came from Sulu; in fact, that was a piratical name for the islanders, otherwise from Sulu; in fact, that was a piralical name for the islanders, otherwise called Sulus. Perhaps it was they who started the abominable practise, for the Spaniards were provoked into sending an expedition against them as early as 1589. It failed, as did many another, "and from that time," says the old historian, Zuniga, "it is incredible what a number of Indians says the old historian, Zuniga, "It is incredible what a number of Indians (Filipinos) have been made prison-ers, what villages have been destroyed and what vessels have been cap-tured." But the Spaniards succeded at length in making Mandanac too hot to hold the Lanun freebooters, who dispersed, forming settlements up and down the China sea, each of which became a center of piracy. One can understand that this way of life fosters courage and enterprise.

One can understand that this way of life fosters courage and enterprise, as well as seamanship. The daring of these two peoples especially was su-perb. In their praus of 50 to 100 tons burden they started every year with the monsoon for a cruise of six or 12 or even 18 months. Nothing daunted them, until the treacherous European invented steam.

"HE recent assertion of a prominent physician that 99 per cent of the business and professional men in American citles are sufferers from functional heart trouble, or chronic indigestion, simply because they will not take any bodily exercise, brings home one of the most astonishing truths of the present day, and one that should be recognized by every man and woman in the coun-try. Every day the metropolitan papers contain scores of notices of the ill-ness of lawyers, bankers, merchants and others of their kind, who have been forced into retirement by the continual strain of business without the saving antidote of physical training.

Any day when business is at its height a physician can point out scores of men on the streets and in office buildings who are sallow and irritable with nervous disorders, and any person may see hundreds of old and young men hurrying about their daily routine with drawn faces and staring eyes, almost on the verge of collapse. In al most our very bank, store and office in the city are clerks with hollow chests and trembling hands, whose labors are a constant strain upon them, and whose leisure brings no recuperation. All of leisure brings no recuperation. All of these are truly going the "pace that kills." In a short time, no matter what the number of their years may be, they will be decripit old men, their vigor sacrificed in the rush and strain of business. And the panacea for all of these ills is—exercise.—From The Bookkeeper for July.

RAVAGES OF MALAY PIRATES.

S INGAPORE is agitated by a tale of piracy, one of the old sort, legendary now. Some few weeks ago a Chinese junk was boarded near Johore-that is, within sight of the island, if not of the city—and seven men were killed, besides the captain, spared for torture until he surren-dered his valuables. Police, blue-jackets and volunteers are searching for the miscreants. Perhaps there is no case on record so outrageous with no case on record so outrageous with-in such a trifling distance from the men-of-war in Singapore roads; but elsewhere in those seas it would not have been remarkable less than 50 years ago, writes Frederick Boyle in the Pall Mall Gazette. "Malay pi-rates" are so closely identified with fiction of the boys' adventure class that skeptics have doubted their ex-istence in plain fact. But the wild-est romancer would not dare to de-scribe them as they actually were in no case on record so outrageous withscribe them as they actually were in their great heir great day. About 1850 Rajah Brooke put the

About 1850 Rajah Brooke put the number of those who swept the coasts of Borneo alone, going and returning with the monsoons, at 5,000. When consul at Bruni, somewhat later, St. John estimated the population which lived, as one may say, by piracy, at 60,000. And if "casuals" had been included, with their women and chil-dren, it would have been vastly larger. The judicious reader instantly re-plies that trade must have come to an end promptly under this infliction. But the rufflans did not depend upon plunder. It was welcome, but they sought slaves—and blood. Inexplic-able as it seems to us, the paromable as it seems to us, the parom-naks, although mostly Mohammedans, regarded their employment as a callregarding their employment as a call-ing or profession, to which they were born. With no thought of wrong-doing, apparently, they murdered harmless fishermen, sailors or peas-ants dwelling on the shore, if too old or feeble to be worth transport, and tortured those whom they carried off, Morris, Dexter, Ky., writes: "Up to a year ago my father suffered from kidney and bladder trouble and several phy-sicians pronounced it enlargement of the prostate gland and advised an operation. On account of his age we were afraid he could not stand it and I recommended Foley's Kidney Remedy, and the first bottle relieved Remedy, and the first bottle relieved him, and after taking the second bot-tle he was no longer troubled with this complaint.—F. For some unaccountable reason my boy selected Chicago to be born in, and he arrived in the big, noisy city on a zero wintry day—a proceeding in strange contrast to the warmth of his suma nature and the scientific in strange contrast to the warmth of his sunny nature and the peaceful se-renity of his temperament. Having done this, however, he had the good sense to pick me for his father, and that is the reason I have tried to give him some of the things he lost by not being born on a farm.
