TUTT'S PILLS

TORPID BOWELS, DISORDERED LIVER, and MALARIA.

From these sources arise three-fourths of the diseases of the human race. These symptoms indicate their existence: Loss of Appetite, Bowels costive, Sick Headache, fullness after eating, aversion to exertion of body or mind, Eructation of food, Irritability of temper, Low spirits, A feeling of having neglected some duty, Dizziness, Fluttering at the Heart, Dots before the eyes, highly colored Urine, CONSTIPATION, and demand the use of a remedy that acts directly on the Liver. As a Liver medicine TUTT'S PILLS have no equal. Their action on the Kidneys and Skin is also prompt; removing all impurities through these three "scavengers of the system," producing appetite, sound digestion, regular stools, a clear skin and a vigorous body. TUTT'S PILLS cause no nausea or griping nor interfere with daily work and are a perfect

Correspondence.

A PHILOSOPHICAL DISQUISITION UPON EXISTING CONDITIONS.

Editor Deseret News:

Prof. Hedge in his Atlantic article on Martin Luther, truly says that the reformation was more than a schism in the church. "In a larger view," he says, "it was our modern world, with its social development, its liberties, its science, its new conditions of being; evolving itself from the old * * * To ecclesiastical severance succeeded political. To Martin Luther over all men, we Anglo-Americans are indebted for national independence and mental freedom."

While according to this the writer is so singularly constituted as to doubt the boasted result being an unmixed blessing. The difference between the ancient civilization and faiths of the East and that of mediæval Europe was not more profound than that which separates the latter from the political regime and the so called Christianity of the present day. The prevalent religion of the modern world is protestant whether openly professed or masquerading behind a mask as in France.

But protestantism, the bastard progeny of the Catholic church, is not properly speaking a religion, it is a philosophy, and in its anarchical and metaphysical characteristics, bringing no complete synthesis of human life to be r upon the problems of the age, it fitly marks the transitional era we have yet to pass wandering in the wilderness. It is individualism dominant in the emotional realm, the barren response of the feudal principle of individual liberty to the demands of feeling. Ancient civilizations co ordinated all the relations of life into one complete synthesis; religion, philosophy and politics were one, integral parts of a complete whole, and as long as this answered the needs of social life, no elements of discord entered.

Blind indeed must he be who does not recognize that what is called civilization is an evergrowing progress toward and as yet divinely conceived unity, the realization of which would be the apogee of human destiny. Where, however, in protestant lands do we see this tendency? Turning from the historical to the political field, nowhere do we find the prevalence of greater anarchy than in the politico-economical "axiome," upon which our boasted national independence is based. It forms but a part of the characteristic anarchy of the present regime, wherein the thousand and one quack remedies proposed for the recreas of social ills attest the inability of prevalent methods to grapple with the problem.

The age is teeming with schemes, as it was a century ago, to secure the rights of those who have long been subject to the tyrannous sway of seifish interests as well as of those who have just awakened to the real zation of the fact that they, too, had their rights ignored and trodden under foot. On every hand we behold discontent effervescing in associations, escaping by the safety valve of platform speeches or boiling over in open resistance to the established custom or legal restrictions. The Socialist protesting against capital and the Catholic threatening to refuse school taxation contend with each other for the public ear. Labor and capital, which united to secure the magical "liberty" that was to remove all discord, are now fiercely contending for their respective rights, both, alas! oblivious to the far deeper and reconciling conception of duties. Both alike appeal to the legislative arm of the state, hoping in legislative enactments to find, on the one hand a legal right to ignore moral considerations, and, on the other, to seek an ideal equality.

Political economy presents us with its natural laws as of old, and renews the deceptive promise that unlimited freedom is all that is wanted to make earth a paradise. We are still presented with the old formulas which never explained anything, but merely restated in general and vague terms the facts they were supposed to explain. Its laws are but the record of observed phenomena, and they will remain "laws" only as long as the love of personal gain is the predominating characteristic of human nature. Whenever the prevailing motives which determine men shall cease to be operative, that moment the "law" ceases to be true.

The so called laws of political economy are all relative to the present state of civilization, they but formulate existing conditions and the pretended law of supply and demand, the law of wages, of over production, etc, are but statements. Society has again and again been based on motives for action radically different than the prevalent selfish ones, and it is safe to presume that it will be again.

Whenever society shall again feel the genial influence of a religious impulse toward the recognition of social duties; when, and it is not impossible, society shall feel that the sole motive to activity is not sordid gain, that duties are as imperative in their obligations as rights, and sees other ends in life than personal aggrandisement, the whole fabric of our economical system will fall as have their predecessors. France had a long and bitter training under feudalism to prepare the bourgeoisie for the part they were to play in the world's civilization; but it left them the guidance only as a trust. The cry for liberty came from the heart, political economists have transformed it under protestantism into a dogma of the head, and seem anxious to have 'history repeat itself."

Our political economists would stand aghast at the idea of commerce being a social function otherwise than in an abstract sense. The interaction of reciprocal relations, without which society dissolves, has been systematically weakened since "the glorious reformation." The current individualism has weakened social bonds, has subordinated common interests to self, has converted the church, and while shouting with loud acclaim the deification of Number One, still dreams the old dream of effecting social reconciliation by appeals to the sentiments or enforcing its cherished dogmas by force.

There must come an inauguration of a spiritual power, that is, the organization of moral forces, to counsel not to command, to pursuade rather than to threaten, a systematization of the moral energies which the intellect and the heart unite in strengthening by a rigorous demonstration of ethical truth and the systematic culture of our higher sympathies. This spiritual power, now only known in protestantdom as an incoherent public opinion indicated by moral impulse, must become more thoroughly moulded into a system, centering every manifestation of human energy and thought, all moral force and every aspiration, on social ends, wherein the direction of conduct and life shall be no longer a matter of indifference; where science shall find its highest aims in the furtherance of our now intuitive yearnings for perfection; where self-love gives place to social feeling and the prevalent egotism is supplanted by a healthful altruism; when the State shall care more for order than law, and love for others become the golden text of a religion in which intellect serves the sympathies under the guidance of the heart.

But this is impossible under the regime of "mental freedom" in which conventionality is called morality, and self-righteousness is dubbed religion. Nero fiddled when Rome burned. So our modern Pharisees glory in their contentions and exhibit their plague spots as evidence of progress unmindful of what the result must inevitably be. But was not all this explained long even before Christianity was in vogue? Quos Deus vult perdere, prius dementat. Whom God will confound, those he first maddens. M.

It has been discovered that Portland cement, when exposed to the air, will expand.

Freckles can be removed, according to Dr. J. V. Shoemaker, by the careful application of a little ointment of the oleate of copper at bedtime. He makes the ointment by dissolving the oleate of copper in sufficient eleogalmitic acid to make a mass.

Prof. Newton says the earth receives about 3,000,000,000 of meteors every year, but they only increase the size of the earth one inch in 100,000,000 years.

Mr. Meyer of Paris claims to have invented a paper indestructible by fire. Specimens have been exhibited which had previously been placed for four hours in a pottery furnace. Mr. Meyer has also invented incombustible colors and ink. The invention is likely to be of great value, and the incombustible paper will be in demand for wills, deeds, account books, etc.

German doctors propose to discard the teaspoon and tablespoon in measuring medicine, and adopt the metrical system in their prescription of liquids. Gauged glass-a marked in the scale of one, five, ten grammes, etc., are to be used, which will render the administration more accurate.

A recent French law makes revaccination incumbent upon every student received into the lyceums and colleges. Since the experiment was made at the Lycee Louis le Grand not a single case of variola or varilloid has appeared.

Dr. Ladell has discovered that prussic acid is an antidote to poisoning by strychnine. Medical men will be cautious in using it, however, as the prussic acid, to be of any use, must be given in doses which would be fatal under any other circumstance.

From the report submitted to the Academy of Sciences, Paris, by M Laugier, concerning the treatment of the phylloxera in the region of the Maritime Alps, it appears that the pest was very successfully checked with sulphuret of carbon, and sulpho-carbonate of potassium. The experiments were made during the years 1881-2.

A tribe of Indians having tails from six to eight inches in length is said to have been discovered in Paraguay. Should this announcement prove true, the Journal of Science protests in advance against their being paraded as "the missing link," since the anthropoid apes have no tails.

Mr. Ralph Copeland, during the first half of this year, saw at La Paz, in Bolivia, at an elevation of 12,000 feet, with the full moon in the sky, ten stars in the Pleiades with the naked eye, and also two stars in the head of the Bull which are not in Argelander's "Uranometria Nova."

A small forehead and a heavy jaw are found after a study of the skulls of assassins to be general characteristics of the criminal type. The test is not only by direct measurement of the frontal cerebral curve, which gives 101 millimeters for assassins as against 111 for Parisians as a rule, but also by summing up the several auricular angles, which give a like result. The degree of heaviness of the jaw in assassins and in Parisians is represented by 15 to 13.

PRICKLY ASH BITTERS

The majority of the ills of the human body arise from a derangement of the Liver, affecting both the stomach and bowels. In order to effect a cure, it is necessary to remove the cause. The torpor and sluggish action of the Liver, Headache, Sickness at the Stomach, Pain in the Back and Loins, etc., indicate that the Liver is at fault, and that nature requires assistance to enable this organ to throw off impurities.

Prickly Ash Bitters are specially compounded for this purpose. They are mild in their action and effective in cure; are pleasant to the taste and taken easily by both children and adults. Taken according to directions, they are a safe and pleasant cure for Dyspepsia, General Debility, Habitual Constipation, Diseased Kidneys, etc., etc. As a Blood Purifier they are superior to any other medicine, cleansing the system thoroughly, and imparting new life and energy to the invalid. It is a medicine and not an intoxicating beverage.

"I was taken sick a year ago
With bilious fever."

"My doctor pronounced me cured, but I got sick again, with terrible pains in my back and sides, and I got so bad I
Could not move!
I shrunk!
From 248 lbs. to 120! I had been doctoring for my liver, but it did me no good. I did not expect to live more than three months. I began to use Hop Bitters. Directly my appetite returned, my pains left me, my entire system seemed renewed as if by magic, and after using several bottles I am not only as sound as a sovereign but weigh more than I did before. To Hop Bitters I owe my life."

In the Matter of the Estate of CATHERINE THOMAS, deceased.

PURSUANT TO AN ORDER OF SAID Court in said matter, notice is hereby given that Saturday, the 15th day of December, A.D., 1883, at 10 a. m., at the County Court House in Salt Lake City, has been appointed the time and place for the hearing of a petition of Edward G. Norris, praying for the admission to Probate of a certain document therewith filed, purporting to be the Last Will and Testament of Catherine Thomas, deceased, and for the Issuance of Letters Testamentary to petitioner at which time and place all persons interested may appear and oppose the Probate of said will or the granting of letters as prayed for.

Dated at Salt Lake City this 1st day of December, 1883.

D. BOCKHOLT,
Clerk of Probate Court in and for Salt Lake County. d td

NOTICE.

Territory of Utah, County of Salt Lake, in the Probate Court of said County.

In the matter of the Estate and Guardianship of Elizabeth Smith, Priscilla Smith and Emma Pearl Smith, Minors.

Order to show cause on application of Guardian for Order of Sale of Real Estate.

It appearing to this Court from the petition herein filed by Susan E Smith, the guardian of the persons and estates of Elizabeth Smith, Priscilla Smith, and E mma Pearl Smith, minors, praying for an order of sale of certain real estate belonging to her said wards, that it is necessary and would be beneficial to said minors that such real estate should be sold.

It is hereby ordered that the next of kin of the said wards, and all persons interested in said estate, appear before this Court on Friday, the 21st day of December, 1883, at ten o'clock a.m., at the Court Room of this Court, at the County Court House, in the city and county of Salt Lake, then and there to show cause why an order should not be made for the sale of such estate.

And it is further ordered that a copy of this order be published at least three successive weeks before the said day of hearing in the DESERET EVENING NEWS, a newspaper printed and published in said City and County of Salt Lake.

Dated November 27th, 1883.

E. SMITH, Probate Judge.

Oh, My Back!

That's a common expression and has a world of meaning. How much suffering is summed up in it.

The singular thing about it is, that pain in the back is occasioned by so many things. May be caused by kidney disease, liver complaint, consumption, cold, rheumatism, dyspepsia, overwork, nervous debility, &c.

Whatever the cause, don't neglect it. Something is wrong and needs prompt attention. No medicine has yet been discovered that will so quickly and surely cure such diseases as BROWN'S IRON BITTERS, and it does this by commencing at the foundation, and making the blood pure and rich.

Wm. P. Marshall, of Logansport, Indiana, writes: "My wife has for many years been troubled from pain in her back and general debility incident to her sex. She has taken one bottle of Brown's Iron Bitters, and I can truthfully say that she has been so much benefited that she pronounces it the only remedy of many medicines she has tried."

Leading physicians and clergymen use and recommend BROWN'S IRON BITTERS. It has cured others suffering as you are, and it will cure you.
