LOCAL BRIEFS.

Dr. King will go before the council committee this evening in reference to the charges against him that it has been difficult to secure his services in prison cases.

Charles Yash, a conductor on the Waterloo line, accidentally dropped his gold watch into a creek at the corner of Fourth and Twelfth South streets yesterday afternoon. He has been unable to find it.

James Johnson was out driving with a young lady last evening when near State and Twelfth South the horse ran away and threw them both out of the buggy. They were bruised quite badly but their injuries were not serious.

Little Lena Krebs, the daughter of Luther Krebs who fell from the porch of her home and broke her arm in two places Saturday afternoon, is getting on very nicely. The fractured member was attended by Dr. Hosmer.

Michael Cardon, a carpenter, fell to the pavement yesterday afternoon while walking down Commercial street. Officer Bash went to him and after investigating found that he was overcome by the heat. He was taken to the shade of a building and after an hour's rest was able to go to his home.

The First Presbyterian church has secured the ownership of the streets corner on South Temple and C streets at a cost of $25,000. The money has been paid and the deed delivered. The purchase was made from James Newhouse. The committee hopes to be able to begin work on the new $100,000 church before long.

Rev. Henry Black, assistant pastor of the First Presbyterian church, and William F. Earis, of the National Bank of the Republic, together with several young men, started for Yellowstone park today. They expect to spend one month in the park. During the absence of Mr. Black, the pulpit of the First Presbyterian church will be filled by a brother of Dr. William Paden who is located near Pittsburg.

At the regular meeting of the Salt Lake lodge No. 106 of the International Association of Machinists, held June 28th, a resolution was passed extending the thanks of that body to the Deseret News for the interest shown by it in the recent efforts of the machinists to secure a shorter working day. The members of the lodge have expressed their gratitude to the "News" for its attitude in that particular.

The committee of the Utah Society Army of the Philippines selected to arrange for the annual encampment of the national society next month in this city will open headquarters at No. 60 west Second South street tomorrow. J. J. Myers will be in charge, assisted by Elmer G. Thomas, General Irving A. Hall of Denver writes to Committee member L. B. Eddy that General F. V. Greene having sailed for Europe will be unable to attend the encampment. It is expected that Maj. F. A. Grant will be present.

Judge Hall, Justice Morris Somner, Deputy Clerk J. V. Eldredge, Court Stenographer John Pike and Bailiff W. J. Sloan returned last evening from a very enjoyable fishing trip up Provo canyon. The party put up at the South Fork summer resort, and are loud in their praises of the treatment they received at that hospitable summer resort. Quite a good catch of fish resulted from the fishing of the party, and besides what fish were cooked and eaten up in the canyon, several good-sized trout were brought home.

MAYOR, DIRECTOR-GENERAL

Decorations for Street Fair Have Begun-Vote for Queen.

The preparations for the merchants' street fair and carnival go on apace. Mayor Thompson has been elected director-general of the fair. The decorations, electric festooning and work on the floats began this morning. There have been twenty-eight pay shows booked and among the free shows will be the Lionel Leggs, Hammer Bros. Landrum's ballet of 250 people and Loretta Bros. Contracts have been closed for the queen's throne, terrace and grand stand. There will be five day and two night parades.

The vote for queen stood as follows this morning:

Florence Lewis 2,751
Ethelyn Markham 2,841
Ruth Wilson 2,724
Mabel Cooper 1,273
Merce Hamilton 1,127
Lizzie Hamilton 941
Hannah Jorgensen 195

The managers of the fair have just closed a contract with the Teraris trained animal show, the largest and best attraction in the world. Over one hundred merchants will have booths constructed on the streets and decorated in the carnival colors, red and yellow. The floats will make one fare for the round trip.

Voting for the queen closes Saturday, July 13th, at 10:30 p. m.

CREMATORY AND JAIL.

Where the Two Are Likely to be Located.

To judge from the number of protests coming in to the location of the city crematory on Second East street between Fourth and Fifth South the chance of this location being chosen as the site is somewhat slim. The residents of this neighborhood are loud in their clamors against the city's erecting a crematorium in the vicinity of the City and County building. They maintain that the surrounding property would lose in value as a residence quarter, owing to the necessary hauling of putrid remains, the dead animals through the streets, which would also prove a menace to the public health.

A more likely location for the new crematory is the city's old incinerating lot some distance north of the Warm Springs property. Councilman Howlett is one of the advocates of this choice. It is on the outskirts of the city, and the city owns the land.

As far as a site for the city jail goes the favorite now seems to be the lot to the west of the county jail which is the existing one. The lot is owned by the county and could, it is said, be purchased on reasonable terms. The argument is put forth that it would be a matter of great convenience and economy to have the city and county jails close together, as it has been in the case of the city and county offices in the joint building.

AT THE RESORTS.

JACOB FALDMO DIES OF WOUND.

Was Shot in the Foot by William Bailey.

CONTRACTED THE LOCKJAW

His Last Hours Were Spent in Convulsions—Had Been Harassed by Bad Boys in Neighborhood.

Jacob Faldmo, the unfortunate boy who was shot in the foot about two weeks ago by William Bailey and contracted a severe case of lockjaw as a result, died at the Holy Cross hospital last night about 9 o'clock. For several hours before his death the poor boy suffered intensely, being in the throes of convulsions constantly.

The fatal shooting occurred near the mouth of Big Cottonwood canyon where some of the boys were playing with fire works and fire arms. Young Bailey had a 22-calibre rifle which he aimed directly at the Faldmo and fired. He now says that he thought the pistol was loaded with a blank and he intended to do no harm. However, that may be, many of the people who live in the neighborhood of the Bailey's say that William is the pest of the neighborhood, and the way he and other boys were in the habit of harassing and tormenting young Faldmo was something disgraceful. They also say that more than once the life of the Faldmo boy had been jeopardized by the young hoodlums Bailey and his associates.

When Faldmo was wounded, instead of bringing him to the city at once where he could receive the care of a physician, he was kept at Murray several days. When he was brought to his home he was suffering from lockjaw and on Saturday was taken to the Holy Cross hospital. But the physicians had little hope, and on Sunday yesterday they were convinced that he could not live. The remains are at the undertaking parlors of Joseph E. Taylor.

The father of William Bailey had a conference with County Attorney Christensen this morning and after investigating the circumstances of the shooting so far as possible, Mr. Christensen came to the conclusion that it was purely accidental and therefore decided not to prosecute young Bailey.

ISADORE WATERS DIES.

Salt Lake Boy Succumbs to Nervous Attack in New York.

Isadore Waters, son of Mr. and Mrs. Isbel Waters, of this city, died yesterday afternoon in New York City after being unconscious for thirty-six hours. The family had no knowledge of his illness until yesterday morning when a telegram came from Leon, Isadore's elder brother, stating that the latter had fallen into an unconscious condition and had remained so for thirty-six hours; that he was in a serious state and that the doctors were holding a council. Another telegram came later in the afternoon saying that he was no better, and a third message soon followed with the sad word that he was dead. He had suffered for over a year of nervous prostration and his father thinks that his death was caused by a recurrence of the old trouble. It was just yesterday morning that his mother received a letter from him in which he stated that he was feeling much better, but that he and his brother were going to move out into the country to get away from the city and to start a new life. Isadore went to New York last January hoping that he would derive great benefit at the sea level. He did seem to improve very much until the fatal attack came on July 2, stating that he was only 17 years of age and was a bright, capable young man. He formerly worked in the wholesale department of F. Auerbach & Bros. and had a host of warm friends here who regret his death very keenly. The remains will be brought to Salt Lake for interment, and will arrive here about Wednesday.

FUNERAL OF CLAUDE SMITH

Services at East Side Baptist Church Largely Attended.

The funeral of Claude H. Smith was held yesterday afternoon from the East Side Baptist church. The building was well filled by sorrowing friends who came to show their esteem for the deceased. There were many very handsome floral offerings most of them having been sent by the members of the Christian Endeavor society of which the deceased was president.

The services were conducted by Rev. Mr. Barnett, of the East Side Baptist church, who also preached a sermon very full of comfort to the bereaved. A quartet composed of Dr. Wesley Davis, Prof. Penaboy, Alfred Peters and Fred Butler rendered two beautiful pieces, "O Sweet Rest Peace," "Warrior My God to Thee" and "Free Butler sang 'Some Time We'll Understand' in a very sweet manner. The remains were deposited in the Masonic vault at Mt. Olivet where funeral services were held 7 years of age and was a bright, capable young man. He formerly worked in the wholesale department of F. Auerbach & Bros. and had a host of warm friends here who regret his death very keenly. The remains will be brought to Salt Lake for interment, and will arrive here about Wednesday.

ARTISTIC JOB WORK

Justice Kroeger tried this morning the case of the Wrought Iron Range Co. vs Margaret Ward, a replevin suit for one home comfort range, bought upon the installment plan. The prosecution claims that the payments were not made promptly, and they seek to recover damages. Mrs. Ward brings forth an interesting legal point in her defense, claiming that the plaintiff is a foreign corporation, and not having filed a certified copy of its articles of incorporation with the secretary of state, it cannot bring suit in Utah. Justice Kroeger has taken the matter under advisement.

AN UNCANNY SURPRISE.

Joseph Tettebaum Finds a Dead Infant on His Table.

To return home in the small hours of the night and find a dead infant, covered with white shroud, on one's table, is not an experience conducive to quietude of mind. That is what happened to Joseph Tettebaum, a barber, residing at a rooming house on East Fifth South street, last night. He was busy shaving a customer when he noticed something on the table covered with a white sheet. Hastily lifting the sheet, he saw, to his horror, a dead infant. Not knowing what it could mean or how it could have come there, Tettebaum hurried to the police station, where he said that there had been a terrible tragedy enacted and that the corpse had been placed in his room to throw suspicion on him.

While the officers were discussing what steps should be taken, the grief-stricken mother of the child entered the station. She explained that her baby had died several hours before, and that she had placed it in Tettebaum's room because it was the coolest room in the house. She did not know that the room was occupied.

DONALDSON'S WILD TALE.

Painter Says He Was Drugged, Robbed and Kidnapped.

John Donaldson, a painter by trade, told the police a harrowing tale yesterday in which drugs, robbery and kidnapping figured conspicuously. Mr. Donaldson says that he remembers taking four or five drinks late Saturday night with some strangers in a Second South street saloon. The next thing he knew was a dim realization that someone was going through his pockets, and he was unable to make any resistance. When he became thoroughly conscious, he was alarmed to find himself in a clump of brush out in the hills. It was with difficulty that he found his way out of the brush and into town, where the took pause to notify the police. In company with an officer, he made a round of the saloons, in the hope of locating the men who drugged him. They were not found.
