

BRIGHAM YOUNG UNIVERSITY.

Provo, Feb. 3.—The presidency of the school were invited over to the building today to test the dainties prepared by the domestic science girls.

The president spent Saturday with the general board of examiners considering the merit of text books for Church schools and arranging for the coming Church summer school.

Mr. and Mrs. J. W. Knight, old friends of the institution, returned last week to their home in Canada.

Monday evening a very enjoyable reception was given in the gymnasium hall in honor of the teachers and graduates of Provo City schools. A large number of patrons were present and the evening passed very pleasantly. President Brimhall welcomed the guests in a short enthusiastic address, which was responded to by Master Dore Young, president of the graduating class, and Supt. Rollins of the city schools. An instrumental duet was rendered by Prof. and Miss Lydia Edwards. A recitation was given by Miss Elsie Chamberlain, and a couple of little tots from the kindergarten department delighted the audience with some characteristic songs.

A game of basketball was played for the entertainment of the guests by the "Varsity" team and the Sub-team, after which dancing was engaged in and light refreshments served.

The annual ladies' party of the B. Y. U. came off last Friday evening and was in every way successful. During the first of the evening games were played in various class rooms, which had been decorated and prepared for the occasion. About 9 o'clock the company all repaired to the gymnasium, where an interesting program was rendered. Among the numbers that were especially appropriate were a song composed by Miss Genevieve Pack especially for the occasion, sung by three young ladies from the music department, two farces, "The Obstinate Family" and "To Meet Mr. Thompson," given by girls from the recitation classes; stories by Miss Arretta Young, and the mysterious package game in which each one present received some sort of souvenir—many of them very queer—of the party.

A meeting of the domestic officers was held Monday afternoon. The committee reported that the majority of students were doing excellent work.

President Brimhall spoke to the commercial students in their class meeting Friday evening. His subject was, "The Man of the Twentieth Century and His Ability to Read the Moral Man."

Mr. Ried Anderson, a former graduate of the commercial department, visited school last week.

Word comes that the store at Juarez is coming to the front under the able management of Dennis Harris, a commercial graduate of last year.

The basketball game between our team and the L. D. S. U. team was witnessed by over 500 enthusiastic students and citizens. The game would have been more interesting had it not been so one-sided. The little fellows from the sister school were no match for our stalwart boys, consequently at the end of the game the score stood 22 to 10 in our favor. The B. Y. U. team play at Logan Saturday night.

Wednesday morning at chapel the president gave an inspiring talk on character and those qualities which afford the highest development in character making; the power to forgive and help those who wrong us, etc.

The president's offices are thronged by students who are seeking advice and counsel regarding their work in school and for the future. Very few come from these places of consultation without new hope and determination beaming in their faces.

BRIGHAM YOUNG COLLEGE.

Logan, Feb. 3.—President Linford was in Salt Lake last week attending a meeting of the Church board of examiners. Some important matters connected with the arrangements for the second annual meeting of the Deseret Summer Institute were considered, and it was decided that the board should endeavor to secure the services of at least two strong men from outside universities to teach in the institute. A number of names have been submitted by leading schools of the country, and there is every prospect that first class men will be engaged, one for work in English and one for primary methods. Other matters that came before the board were in relation to courses of study for next year and textbooks.

The students are looking forward with much interest to the basketball game to be played tomorrow night between the local team and the Brigham Young university players from Provo. The word comes to us that the game will be a high order of the part of each player, and the team has excellent prospects of winning the league championship.

The basketball team was accompanied to Ogden last week by President Linford, Prof. H. Bullen, Jr., Miss Homer, and Coach Kemp, all of whom witnessed the game, with the Weber Stake academy team and rejoiced in the victory so well achieved. They all speak highly of the treatment received in Ogden. Everything possible was done by the Weber stake team and the faculty and students to make the visitors feel at home, and to make their visit a pleasant one.

President Linford, Prof. Bullen and Miss Homer attended the game in Salt Lake Friday night. Miss Homer remained in the city until Tuesday and visited the L. D. S. university, the University of Utah and the L. D. S. hospital.

This is examination week at the college. The students are generally acquitting themselves with great credit. There has been unusually earnest work done during the first term, which ends tonight, and the percentage of students who have not done creditable work is much smaller than in former years. This is due in part to the smaller classes this year that have resulted from an increase in the number of sections in the several departments.

Elder Rudger Clawson was in Logan attending conference on Sunday and Monday and after conference he was shown through the college by President Linford. He was much interested, especially in the mechanical and domestic art departments.

WEBER STAKE ACADEMY.

Ogden.—Presidents Joseph F. Smith and Anthony H. Lund, accompanied by the president of Weber stake, visited the schools last Monday morning, and gave two interesting and inspiring discourses. Seldom if ever have the

VENEZUELA LIVELY.

U.S. MINISTER BOWEN

With President Castro once more saying "I won't," and President Roosevelt insisting that he will, Herbert Bowen, the United States minister, looks into the news. He is likely to play an important part in what may prove a delicate situation.

For the 22nd of this month. The matrons will be Mrs. Kerr, Mrs. Styer, and Mrs. Flemming.

The members of the Legislature who are visiting the college today are being entertained in a most hospitable manner by the faculty and townspeople. They were met at Ogden by Capt. Styer and Prof. Robinson, and the young women and teachers of the domestic science department have served a dinner well cooked and served, and elegant in all its appointments.

At this week's meeting of the Commercial club a lively debate took place on the subject as to whether the national senators should be elected by popular vote or not. Mr. Joseph Rich and Mr. McKnight upheld the affirmative side of the question, and Mr. J. R. Pugmire and Mr. Francom sustained the negative.

Bulletin No. 91 has just been issued by the experiment station. It is written by Prof. L. A. Merrill and Dr. Wilder, and gives a report of the first year's work on the six seed farms established by the state. Besides an interesting scientific account of the work it contains many photographs of the farms and their products.

Mrs. Robinson has left Prof. Robinson to the tender mercies of the college dormitory and domestic science department, and is visiting her sister near San Francisco.

A number of commercial students serenaded Prof. and Mrs. Bexell at their home on Tuesday evening. They were afterward most hospitably entertained by the professor and wife.

L. D. S. UNIVERSITY.

The '06 normals and the sixth grade training class visited the Z. C. M. I. shoe factory on Tuesday. Their purpose was to see the processes of shoe making before they are ready to wear. The trip was a very successful and instructive one.—Eva Evans.

There will be a class organized next week in qualitative analysis. It is a special course in higher chemistry not included in the regular high school course. The work consists of the analysis of about 25 salts and metals, of unknown solutions, and possibly of water containing inorganic impurities. There are about eight or ten of the fourth year students who intend to take the work.—Vera Noell.

Major Richard W. Young delivered an instructive lecture before the students on Wednesday morning. He spoke on the life and works of Thomas L. Kane. The principal part of the lecture was taken from an address by Colonel Kane, delivered before the American Historical society, at Philadelphia. The lecturer showed the interest this heroic man had in the persecuted "Mormons," and how on all occasions he proved himself their friend. This lecture will be published by the Church board of information as a preface to Colonel Kane's address.—Sara M. Jensen.

One of the most interesting features of the year was the debate between the high school and commercial students on Monday night, in Barratt hall. The question was, "Resolved: That the municipalities should own and control the public utilities." Students Ray Wiley, W. D. Turner and David Beards-hall of the business college represented the affirmative; while R. E. Cummings, J. B. Harris, and Raphael Olsen represented the negative side. Both sides of the discussion were well brought out. The decision of the judges was in favor of the negative. Each speaker was presented with a beautiful bouquet of flowers, at the close of his argument.—Maud Neely.

Last Wednesday morning, the senior class met in a special meeting. The main purpose of the meeting was to elect class officers for this semester. The officers elected were as follows: President, George M. Cannon; vice president, Vera E. Noell; secretary, Sara M. Jensen; treasurer, Raymond Ashton; class speaker, David O. Harris; sergeant-at-arms, Ray Michell. The class then gave the retiring officers a hearty vote of thanks and adjourned until next Wednesday morning.—Alfonso Tanner.

Last Sunday evening Professors Mills and Stephens, with a number of their students in theology and music, went to the Twenty-ninth ward to take part in the evening meeting. The students were called upon to speak and sing, much to the delight of the large audience. Those who spoke were Cornelius James, Claudia Holt, E. W. Smith, Mabel Murphy, Marion Tanner, Mary Grant, and Raphael Olsen. The second year quartet gave two selections, a duet was given by Wood and Noel Pratt, and a second by Professor Stephens and Noel Pratt. Professors Mills and Stephens spoke briefly. Professor Mills has asked a number of his students to go with him to the Fourteenth ward tomorrow evening.

The following students have recently accepted positions upon recommendation of the business college: Miss Hope Russell, with Smalley-Wakeling; Miss Lulu Griggs, with the Smith Premier Typewriting company, and Miss Orba Pfium, with Mr. Wantland, mining right to attend. Patrons have been advised that two days' consecutive absence is sufficient cause for dropping a child from the roll.

The city principals had decided that privileges to attend matinee can not consistently be given to pupils.

Miss Stimmel has returned to the Fremont.

Miss Lake has been transferred from the Union to the Sumner. Miss Holberg from the Lafayette to the Wasatch, Miss Edna Davis will begin work at the Lafayette.

The exhibit which was given last week by the Ogden school has been pronounced a very unique one. Each room had its own display, which consisted of drawings, compositions, charts and manual training work. Patrons of the school were shown the usual procedure according to the daily program, from 1:30 to 3:30.

The Union has another entertainment under way. The proceeds are for the purchase of a school flag, to be hoisted from the building.

Boxes of growing cereals and garden plants which adorn school windows, prophesy that considerable activity will be made by the students in gardening when spring makes its advent.

Principal D. R. Coombs is inviting the Ladies' Literary club to extend its highly appreciated labors to include the Utah. His request is for a few pictures for the hall.

Fourth and fifth grade teachers met at the Bryant school last Thursday. A class exercise in geography was presented. On the same date second grade teachers met Supervisor Weisell at the Lafayette.

A commendable change in program has been made by Principal Eaton at the West Side High school, by which commercial students may take, and are encouraged to choose, studies of the other courses, in addition to their regular commercial work.

UNIVERSITY OF UTAH.

On Monday last the faculty recommended Miss Virginia Bush to the board of regents for the Heber J. Grant scholarship of $100 for this year. At the same meeting the faculty awarded the alumni scholarship of $25 to John Z. Brown. Miss Bush and Mr. Brown are members of the college junior class in the department of arts and sciences.

Tomorrow evening, Prof. Byron Cummings will deliver an illustrated lecture on "The Greek Religion," before the M. I. A. of the Fourth ward.

Prof. R. V. Chamberlain has been out of school all this week. He is suffering from an attack of tonsillitis. His classes have been conducted by Dr. Gowans.

The '06 normals gave a very interesting program Wednesday afternoon. It was a musical as well as a literary treat. Howard Harold rendered two vocal selections. Prof. Babcock gave a recital of some scenes from "Macbeth" and the "Taming of the Shrew," and Adam Bennion concluded the program with two piano selections.

Last night the juniors gave their

CEDAR CITY BRANCH NORMAL.

Cedar City.—The midyear election of officers for the school city is to occur next week. Some of the students are trying to create a little more than the usual excitement in the air by organizing parties to put up the tickets.

The public lecture on Saturday evening will be given by Mr. Silver. His subject is electricity.

The institute of the county teachers will be held at the normal on Saturday forenoon.

At chapel Wednesday, Miss Ada McGregor of Parowan favored the school by singing "Beyond the Gates of Paradise" very artistically. Miss McGregor is a pupil of Mrs. Driggs in voice culture.

Principal Decker was called to Parowan Sunday last to attend the funeral of a relative, Mr. Hugh Adams, Sr.

On Sunday evening Instructor Mabey gave a lecture under the auspices of the M. I. A. in the Cedar tabernacle. The large audience was well pleased with his interesting presentation of "Personal Experiences in the Philippines."

The highest class in domestic science gave an informal party to themselves at the home of one of the members Tuesday evening.

At the regular meeting of the first years Tuesday night the question, "Resolved, That a pen is more useful than a tack" was debated. A great deal of fun resulted.

On Friday evening the second years will present a program on "The Life of Abraham Lincoln" for the regular students' society.
