

SCOTFIELD ITEMS.

Reception and Presentation to the Honorable U. P. Superintendent W. G. Sharp.

On January 1st Mr. W. G. Sharp, who for more than ten years has been superintendent of the Union Pacific mine at this place, severed his connection with that company, and last night Thursday, the 29th, the largest crowd which ever assembled in Scotfield met in the schoolhouse in his honor.

Mr. Sharp was welcomed in, and after an opening address by Mr. A. Hoode, in which he paid a glowing tribute to Mr. Sharp, James Harnett, on behalf of the Union Pacific mine, in a few appropriate words presented Mr. Sharp with a handsome diamond ring. The ring was first presented to Mr. Sharp, who, after a few words, returned it to the speaker, who then followed the speech of Mr. Sharp, which had been conveyed into the rugged mine-ers appreciation through the aid of a friend.

Mr. Hoode's E. Evans read an interesting poem composed for the occasion by his father, Isaac Evans, aged sixty-five years.

Again Beaten.

Tuesday, February 7th, at 6 o'clock in the morning, the Republicans and Democrats of Granger, met at Park Dale, armed with shotguns for a rabbit hunt, the losing party to bear the expense of a ward suitable and dinner. It was plain to see the Republicans for outnumbered the Democrats. A Democratic hunter wanting to be with the winning party joined the Republicans for the day. At 9 o'clock there was a start for the north west toward the salt ponds, the crowd numbering without teamsters about fifty. They rode in carts, sleighs and wagons. Before reaching the hunting ground they formed in line. Now and then a horse was fired by some one in advance. The teamsters followed to pick up the dead and mangled wounded rabbits. Both sides shot until the sun was getting low in the west, after which the hunters thought it time to return. Both parties pulled up close together to count their game. The result spoke well for the Democrats as they showed 100 and the Republicans only 90. The Republicans will have to deprecate the expense of a party to be held on the 14th, to start at three in the afternoon and wind up with a dinner in the evening.

PROVO LETTER.

A Painful Arrest Through the Defendant Not Understanding Our Language.—Other Notes of Interest.

Special Correspondence of the News.

Provo, Feb. 8.—Alfred Havel, the Frenchman who swore out a complaint of assault against Postmaster McCauslin last week, was arrested yesterday on a counter complaint of disturbing the peace, sworn to by the postmaster. The arrest was made by Deputy Marshal Clark and Monahan. He did not understand, and related the officers. It became necessary to use force; the handcuffs were placed on his wrists, and he was dragged through the streets to Commissioner Dudley's office, his wife following closely behind, talking and sobbing with all a woman's tongue; but it was all lost on the deafening, who do not know a word of French. Arrived at the commissioner's office, an interpreter was sent for. A waiting his arrival, Mrs. Havel occupied the time scolding the officers, the government, etc. The fact that the husband had been used against to be considered, especially severe; it was explained that they were never used on gentlemen in France. Mr. Havel had been to the floor, writhing and moaning in a fit. Water was brought, and he was gradually restored to consciousness. The sympathy of the court and attorneys had been aroused, on motion of the prosecuting attorney, the case was dismissed, and the respective officers "kissed off" the court. Havel, who is to be an educated man, but he is not used to the manners and customs of the United States. He is a professor of languages.

The case of James Ingfield, ex-officer White, a suit brought to recover $500 damages, alleged to have been sustained by plaintiff from blows received from the defendant, when the (plaintiff) was arrested, December 23, 1892, was tried last night before Commissioner Dudley. Plaintiff and a number of other witnesses testified to the striking. The striking was denied by White and a fellow officer, A decision was rendered in favor of defendant.

John Lunsford has been found guilty in the court of Justice Craig of Lake View, of cruelty to animals, in beating his horse. Another trial has been asked for.

A county bridge is to be constructed across Provo river near the mouth of Provo canyon. This will be of great convenience to Lake View and Provo. Health resolutions, who have heretofore been compelled to make a circuit of several miles by way of Provo to reach the canyon.

Mr. Hinkley, of Fillmore, has been appointed the first member of the Jordan dam committee. The appointment gives general satisfaction among those interested in the project.

"Had Hitting Road" mentioned by local artists in the address at the Opera House on Saturday evening.

The Provo Mandolin and Guitar club go to Heber to give a musical performance on the 15th inst.

Receipts About It. "I am told that your husband has lost his hearing," said one lady to another.

"Yes," was the muffled reply. "But don't whisper so loud. He doesn't like the subject referred to."—Exchange.

ATHLETICS AND SPORTS.

Alphonsus D'Amico has some interesting things to say regarding music. As a rule, his series, "are literary people comparatively little for music. Gauthier's opinion of the humming and humming called music is well known. Many legends de LaSalle have been written with him. Gauthier turned up his nose at music as a piano was played. He insists at times that he has heard this or that piece of music somewhere, but he never knows from whom it is. The good Flaubert pretended to be a great musician, but only to please Therese, who in reality loved only the music cultivated in the Salon Versailles.

"As to myself, however, I love everything musical. The lively music as well as the slow and classical, the music of Beethoven, the music of the grand olden times, Chopin, Liszt, Mendelssohn and Saint-Saens, Gounod's Faust and Marguerite, the following, the harp, organ, the tambourine, even the bells, music for dancing and music for dreaming. It all speaks to me, thrills me, inspires me, and the violin instrument of the symphony, those scores of music, have all ways drawn me to the exhibitions. The discipline follows always stop my progress. I cannot leave them."—Paris Letters.

Second a Bible Contest.

Some newspapers, when stage traveling, will give a contest in the White Mountain region that it is now, a well known driver had a curious accident. The night was dark and cloudy, and both lamps upon his coach were brilliantly lighted. All at once he heard the gallop of an approaching team.

The road was narrow, and the driver pulled up his team to let the man on horseback go by. The next instant there was a tremendous collision with his leaders, and he jumped down the box to see what could be the matter.

It proved out that the other man, an Irishman, had ridden squarely between the leaders, and the three horses were dashing together in the mud. With much difficulty they were disentangled, and explanations were in order.

"How in creation did you get there?" asked the coach driver. "Didn't you see my lights?"

"Didn't I?" said Pat. "An I thought I'd go between 'em."—Harper's.

An Athletic Contest.

On the upper Mohawk and its large tributary, the Horn river, the young women encourage the growth of their hair, and it usually falls to their shoulders. They then braid it artificially by twisting into it hair that has come from their own heads. The long and heavy braids often sweep the earth. The braids are saturated with oil, and when a young woman is at work or on the march she rolls it around her arm. Usually the upper ends of these girls are pierced, and a very small piece of quartz, ivory or iron is introduced into the opening.—New York Sun.

Taking Snaps Down.

Memphis, Wis.—There are you going? Wee Woman—What ever to make Struckpits. Ill be right back. Mamma—What are you going down for? Wee Woman—I heard Professor Harbison tell papa that the missus hadn't been in bed all night, but only some sort of a cat-bird of those girls who Struck's got one, she'll gain to tell her.—Grand News.

JAPANESE LIVER PELETS advertisement with logo.

HARDWOOD MANTELS advertisement.

BEST OAK TANNED Leather Belting advertisement.

COBURN'S PURE OLIVE OIL advertisement.

TUBBS CORDAGE COMPANY advertisement.

C. A. SNOW & CO. PATENTS advertisement.

NERVOUS DEBILITY advertisement with logo.

DR. GUNN'S LIVER PILLS advertisement.

"The Pace That Kills" advertisement.

KIRK'S AMERICAN FAMILY SOAP advertisement.

Star Horse Nails advertisement.

GUNPOWDER advertisement.

Wool Bags advertisement.

Portrait of a man.

HALLER'S REMEDIES advertisement.

UNION PACIFIC SYSTEM advertisement.

THE THROUGH CAR LINE advertisement.

RIO GRANDE WESTERN advertisement.

CALIFORNIA BREWERY advertisement.

THE HAZARD POWDER COMPANY advertisement.

Wool Bags advertisement.

Portrait of a man.

HALLER'S REMEDIES advertisement.

"Scenic Line of the World" advertisement.

Deseret News Company advertisement.

Bookbindery advertisement.

County Blanks advertisement.

THE HAZARD POWDER COMPANY advertisement.

Wool Bags advertisement.

Portrait of a man.

HALLER'S REMEDIES advertisement.

VAN HOUTEN'S COCOA advertisement.

SHOES advertisement.

TEASDEL'S advertisement.

WOOLLEY STEAM LAUNDRY advertisement.

Sportsmen's Headquarters! advertisement.

THE MARRIAGE LICENSES advertisement.

A ROSE GARDEN FOR $1 advertisement.

Buckle & Son advertisement.