

BUSINESS OF LOWER HOUSE

Johnson Introduces Bill Providing For Experimental Farm.

INCORPORATION OF CITIES.

Brink's Bill Requires Signers of Petitions to be Property Owners —Arizona Strip.

The house convened yesterday afternoon at two o'clock and in the absence of Chaplain Porter, Representative McFarland offered prayer.

The speaker announced the following additions to the committee on public health: Representatives White, Johnson, Hobson and Roberts and on manufacturers and commerce, Representatives Nash and White.

ARIZONA STRIP.

By unanimous consent Representatives Morris introduced a joint resolution providing for the appointment of two commissioners by the governor of Utah to wait on the legislature of Arizona and negotiate with that body for the annexation of the strip north of the Colorado river to Utah. The joint resolution, which is No. 8, was read three times and passed unanimously. The resolution follows:

THE RESOLUTION.

Joint Resolution No. 8—Whereas, That portion of the territory of Arizona lying north of the Colorado river, by reason of its geographical position, is cut off from said territory and the benefits of local or other government, and said river operates as an impassable barrier separating such portion from the rest of the territory, and rendering the same difficult to reach by the means of the two railroads impossible, thus depriving the inhabitants of the territory north of said river of the benefits of local or territorial government; and

Whereas, Such inhabitants have their interests in common with the people of Utah and all their associations and sympathies belong to the latter, and as desired by them that said area north of said river be detached from Arizona and annexed to Utah; and

Whereas, Such area is deprived of water and other resources by which alone it can be developed or become valuable, and its physical conditions are such that its future development, if any, will be slow and gradual, if at all possible, and it can be used only for grazing purposes, so that its segregation from the counties and territory of which it is now a part will prove of no disadvantage to them; and

Whereas, The greater portion of the property, both real and personal, within such area is owned by the inhabitants of the State of Utah, and the value of the property, within said section, will not increase because of the scarcity of water and the absence of resources therein, and the greater portion of the property consists of cattle, horses and sheep, which graze in Utah and within such sections, crossing and recrossing the state line, so that it is impossible to find a State of the State or the territory of Arizona to obtain revenue by assessment or otherwise from such property; and

Whereas, By reason of such area being isolated from the rest of the territory of Arizona, it is impossible to administer the laws of said territory or enforce criminal statutes, or the legal subdivisions, provisions, or rules of peace and order, as result of which criminals rendevous therein and obtain immunity from prosecution; and

Whereas, Such area, by reason of its physical situation and of the interests of the people owning property therein, should belong to the State of Utah, and its annexation to the State of Utah would be productive of the greatest good to all interests and would be of advantage to the territory of Arizona; now, therefore, be it

Resolved, By the senate and house of representatives of the State of Utah and the governor concurring:

That the governor be and he is hereby authorized and directed to appoint two commissioners, to be selected from the present Legislature, to visit and negotiate with the Arizona legislature, now in session, for the purpose of obtaining its consent to the annexation of that tract of country in Arizona territory lying north of the Colorado river, including the said river, the boundaries line between the State of Utah and the territory of Arizona, and also for the purpose of procuring the passage of a memorial by the Arizona legislature to the Congress of the United States, praying for the necessary legislation to be enacted in order to annex said tract of country to the State of Utah.

MORE CHANGES ON THE WESTERN

There are some more changes scheduled to transpire in the operating department of the Rio Grande Western between now and the end of the month. Among the resignations that have been handed in are those of L. Neil, chief dispatcher here, who will leave to enter the employ of either the St. Louis Iron Mountain and Southern or the Colorado & Southern, March 1; first and second track dispatchers Stake and Reigle, and Mr. Neville, chief clerk to the transfer.

Mr. Neil has two positions in view, the one named and also as trainmaster at Trinidad, Colo., under Mr. Cotter, formerly the manager for the Rio Grande. Mr. Stake and Mr. Reigle go to the El Paso & Northeastern at Almogordo, N. M., while Mr. Neville goes to Colorado to work under Mr. Cotter on the Colorado & Southern on Feb. 10.

Their successors on the Rio Grande have not yet been named.

Constipation, Headache, Biliousness, Heartburn, Indigestion, Dizziness,

Indicate that your liver is out of order. The best medicine to rouse the liver and cure all these ills, is found in

Hood's Pills

25 cents. Sold by all medicine dealers.

I Will Cure You of Rheumatism

Else No Money is Wanted.

Any honest person who suffers from Rheumatism is welcome to this offer. I am a specialist in Rheumatism, and have treated more cases than any other physician, I think. For 16 years I made 2,600 experiments with different drugs, testing all known remedies while searching for the best and most effective. Nine years ago I found a deadly chemical in Germany which, with my previous discoveries, gives me a certain cure.

I don't mean that it can turn bony joints into flesh again, but it can cure the disease at any stage, completely and forever. I have done it fully 100 times.

I know this so well that I will furnish my remedy on trial. Simply write me a postal for my book on Rheumatism, and I will mail you an order on your druggist for six bottles. Dr. Shoop's Rheumatic Cure. Take it for a month at my risk. If it succeeds, I will pay the doctor herself—and your word shall decide it.

I mean that exactly. If you say the results are not what I claim, I don't expect a penny from you.

I have no samples. Any mere sample that can affect chronic Rheumatism must be dragged to the verge of danger, too much drugs and it's folly to take them up. You must get the disease out of the blood.

My remedy does that even in the most difficult, obstinate cases. It has cured the oldest cases that I ever met. And in all my experience—in all my 2,600 tests—I never found another remedy that would cure one chronic case in ten.

Write me and I will send you the order. Try my remedy for a month, as it can't harm you anyway. It is free.

Address Dr. Shoop, Box 713, Racine, Wis.

Mild cases, not chronic, are often cured by one or two bottles. At all drugstores.

THE AFTERNOON CALL.

New York Was the Center of Attraction on Change.

At this afternoon's call of the stock exchange, the chief feature was New York which continued on the upgrade, rising to 24 cents. Daly brought $1,000.

The rates were as follows:

Daly, 100 at 4 1/2; Grand Central, 100 at 5 1/5; Ingol, 1300 at 8; Lower Manhattan, 200 at 59; 100 at 55%; Sacramento, 100 at 25; South Swanson, 550 at 14; Union Sam, 200 at 25; 300 at 24 1/2; Utah, 200 at 67 1/2; 100 at 68; California, 200 at 27 1/2; 80 at 38; Century, 100 at 9; Little Chief, 1,000 at 64; 1,000 at 6%; 1,000 at 6.

New York, 100 at 22; 150 at 22; 500 at 22 1/2; 2,600 at 23 1/2; 300 at 24 b 30; 400 at 23 1/2; 1,200 at 23 1/2; 1,000 at 23 1/2; 30; 500 at 23 1/2; 60.

Victor, 500 at 21; Wabash, 200 at 28.

LAXATIVE BROMO-QUININE.

Cures a Cold in One Day. Cures Grip in Two Days.

HIGHWAYMEN

COME TO GRIEF.

(Continued from page one.)

wayman shot and killed by Officer Horace Heath. His body lies in the mosque partly covered by a sheet. A more careful examination of the body shows that he received two wounds before the shot which passed through his brain. One of the shots struck his left arm and shattered it, shoulder and elbow. He was unable to return an account of the deep snow there in that state. In reply to this, Mr. Westervelt said that he deeply sympathized with Mr. Newell, but that if the court granted the continuance asked for, it might be a dangerous precedent to establish. He said that he had been retained by Senator Brown, who was in Idaho on business, that he was unable to return an account of the deep snow there in that state. In reply to this, Mr. Westervelt said that he deeply sympathized with Mr. Newell, but that if the court granted the continuance asked for, it might be a dangerous precedent to establish. He said that he had been retained by Senator Brown, who was in Idaho on business, that he was unable to return an account of the deep snow there in that state. In reply to this, Mr. Westervelt said that he deeply sympathized with Mr. Newell, but that if the court granted the continuance asked for, it might be a dangerous precedent to establish. He said that he had been retained by Senator Brown, who was in Idaho on business, that he was unable to return an account of the deep snow there in that state. In reply to this, Mr. Westervelt said that he deeply sympathized with Mr. Newell, but that if the court granted the continuance asked for, it might be a dangerous precedent to establish. He said that he had been retained by Senator Brown, who was in Idaho on business, that he was unable to return an account of the deep snow there in that state. In reply to this, Mr. Westervelt said that he deeply sympathized with Mr. Newell, but that if the court granted the continuance asked for, it might be a dangerous precedent to establish. He said that he had been retained by Senator Brown, who was in Idaho on business, that he was unable to return an account of the deep snow there in that state. In reply to this, Mr. Westervelt said that he deeply sympathized with Mr. Newell, but that if the court granted the continuance asked for, it might be a dangerous precedent to establish. He said that he had been retained by Senator Brown, who was in Idaho on business, that he was unable to return an account of the deep snow there in that state. In reply to this, Mr. Westervelt said that he deeply sympathized with Mr. Newell, but that if the court granted the continuance asked for, it might be a dangerous precedent to establish. He said that he had been retained by Senator Brown, who was in Idaho on business, that he was unable to return an account of the deep snow there in that state. In reply to this, Mr. Westervelt said that he deeply sympathized with Mr. Newell, but that if the court granted the continuance asked for, it might be a dangerous precedent to establish. He said that he had been retained by Senator Brown, who was in Idaho on business, that he was unable to return an account of the deep snow there in that state. In reply to this, Mr. Westervelt said that he deeply sympathized with Mr. Newell, but that if the court granted the continuance asked for, it might be a dangerous precedent to establish. He said that he had been retained by Senator Brown, who was in Idaho on business, that he was unable to return an account of the deep snow there in that state. In reply to this, Mr. Westervelt said that he deeply sympathized with Mr. Newell, but that if the court granted the continuance asked for, it might be a dangerous precedent to establish. He said that he had been retained by Senator Brown, who was in Idaho on business, that he was unable to return an account of the deep snow there in that state. In reply to this, Mr. Westervelt said that he deeply sympathized with Mr. Newell, but that if the court granted the continuance asked for, it might be a dangerous precedent to establish. He said that he had been retained by Senator Brown, who was in Idaho on business, that he was unable to return an account of the deep snow there in that state. In reply to this, Mr. Westervelt said that he deeply sympathized with Mr. Newell, but that if the court granted the continuance asked for, it might be a dangerous precedent to establish. He said that he had been retained by Senator Brown, who was in Idaho on business, that he was unable to return an account of the deep snow there in that state. In reply to this, Mr. Westervelt said that he deeply sympathized with Mr. Newell, but that if the court granted the continuance asked for, it might be a dangerous precedent to establish. He said that he had been retained by Senator Brown, who was in Idaho on business, that he was unable to return an account of the deep snow there in that state. In reply to this, Mr. Westervelt said that he deeply sympathized with Mr. Newell, but that if the court granted the continuance asked for, it might be a dangerous precedent to establish. He said that he had been retained by Senator Brown, who was in Idaho on business, that he was unable to return an account of the deep snow there in that state. In reply to this, Mr. Westervelt said that he deeply sympathized with Mr. Newell, but that if the court granted the continuance asked for, it might be a dangerous precedent to establish. He said that he had been retained by Senator Brown, who was in Idaho on business, that he was unable to return an account of the deep snow there in that state. In reply to this, Mr. Westervelt said that he deeply sympathized with Mr. Newell, but that if the court granted the continuance asked for, it might be a dangerous precedent to establish. He said that he had been retained by Senator Brown, who was in Idaho on business, that he was unable to return an account of the deep snow there in that state. In reply to this, Mr. Westervelt said that he deeply sympathized with Mr. Newell, but that if the court granted the continuance asked for, it might be a dangerous precedent to establish. He said that he had been retained by Senator Brown, who was in Idaho on business, that he was unable to return an account of the deep snow there in that state. In reply to this, Mr. Westervelt said that he deeply sympathized with Mr. Newell, but that if the court granted the continuance asked for, it might be a dangerous precedent to establish. He said that he had been retained by Senator Brown, who was in Idaho on business, that he was unable to return an account of the deep snow there in that state. In reply to this, Mr. Westervelt said that he deeply sympathized with Mr. Newell, but that if the court granted the continuance asked for, it might be a dangerous precedent to establish. He said that he had been retained by Senator Brown, who was in Idaho on business, that he was unable to return an account of the deep snow there in that state. In reply to this, Mr. Westervelt said that he deeply sympathized with Mr. Newell, but that if the court granted the continuance asked for, it might be a dangerous precedent to establish. He said that he had been retained by Senator Brown, who was in Idaho on business, that he was unable to return an account of the deep snow there in that state. In reply to this, Mr. Westervelt said that he deeply sympathized with Mr. Newell, but that if the court granted the continuance asked for, it might be a dangerous precedent to establish. He said that he had been retained by Senator Brown, who was in Idaho on business, that he was unable to return an account of the deep snow there in that state. In reply to this, Mr. Westervelt said that he deeply sympathized with Mr. Newell, but that if the court granted the continuance asked for, it might be a dangerous precedent to establish. He said that he had been retained by Senator Brown, who was in Idaho on business, that he was unable to return an account of the deep snow there in that state. In reply to this, Mr. Westervelt said that he deeply sympathized with Mr. Newell, but that if the court granted the continuance asked for, it might be a dangerous precedent to establish. He said that he had been retained by Senator Brown, who was in Idaho on business, that he was unable to return an account of the deep snow there in that state. In reply to this, Mr. Westervelt said that he deeply sympathized with Mr. Newell, but that if the court granted the continuance asked for, it might be a dangerous precedent to establish. He said that he had been retained by Senator Brown, who was in Idaho on business, that he was unable to return an account of the deep snow there in that state. In reply to this, Mr. Westervelt said that he deeply sympathized with Mr. Newell, but that if the court granted the continuance asked for, it might be a dangerous precedent to establish. He said that he had been retained by Senator Brown, who was in Idaho on business, that he was unable to return an account of the deep snow there in that state. In reply to this, Mr. Westervelt said that he deeply sympathized with Mr. Newell, but that if the court granted the continuance asked for, it might be a dangerous precedent to establish. He said that he had been retained by Senator Brown, who was in Idaho on business, that he was unable to return an account of the deep snow there in that state. In reply to this, Mr. Westervelt said that he deeply sympathized with Mr. Newell, but that if the court granted the continuance asked for, it might be a dangerous precedent to establish. He said that he had been retained by Senator Brown, who was in Idaho on business, that he was unable to return an account of the deep snow there in that state. In reply to this, Mr. Westervelt said that he deeply sympathized with Mr. Newell, but that if the court granted the continuance asked for, it might be a dangerous precedent to establish. He said that he had been retained by Senator Brown, who was in Idaho on business, that he was unable to return an account of the deep snow there in that state. In reply to this, Mr. Westervelt said that he deeply sympathized with Mr. Newell, but that if the court granted the continuance asked for, it might be a dangerous precedent to establish. He said that he had been retained by Senator Brown, who was in Idaho on business, that he was unable to return an account of the deep snow there in that state. In reply to this, Mr. Westervelt said that he deeply sympathized with Mr. Newell, but that if the court granted the continuance asked for, it might be a dangerous precedent to establish. He said that he had been retained by Senator Brown, who was in Idaho on business, that he was unable to return an account of the deep snow there in that state. In reply to this, Mr. Westervelt said that he deeply sympathized with Mr. Newell, but that if the court granted the continuance asked for, it might be a dangerous precedent to establish. He said that he had been retained by Senator Brown, who was in Idaho on business, that he was unable to return an account of the deep snow there in that state. In reply to this, Mr. Westervelt said that he deeply sympathized with Mr. Newell, but that if the court granted the continuance asked for, it might be a dangerous precedent to establish. He said that he had been retained by Senator Brown, who was in Idaho on business, that he was unable to return an account of the deep snow there in that state. In reply to this, Mr. Westervelt said that he deeply sympathized with Mr. Newell, but that if the court granted the continuance asked for, it might be a dangerous precedent to establish. He said that he had been retained by Senator Brown, who was in Idaho on business, that he was unable to return an account of the deep snow there in that state. In reply to this, Mr. Westervelt said that he deeply sympathized with Mr. Newell, but that if the court granted the continuance asked for, it might be a dangerous precedent to establish. He said that he had been retained by Senator Brown, who was in Idaho on business, that he was unable to return an account of the deep snow there in that state. In reply to this, Mr. Westervelt said that he deeply sympathized with Mr. Newell, but that if the court granted the continuance asked for, it might be a dangerous precedent to establish. He said that he had been retained by Senator Brown, who was in Idaho on business, that he was unable to return an account of the deep snow there in that state. In reply to this, Mr. Westervelt said that he deeply sympathized with Mr. Newell, but that if the court granted the continuance asked for, it might be a dangerous precedent to establish. He said that he had been retained by Senator Brown, who was in Idaho on business, that he was unable to return an account of the deep snow there in that state. In reply to this, Mr. Westervelt said that he deeply sympathized with Mr. Newell, but that if the court granted the continuance asked for, it might be a dangerous precedent to establish. He said that he had been retained by Senator Brown, who was in Idaho on business, that he was unable to return an account of the deep snow there in that state. In reply to this, Mr. Westervelt said that he deeply sympathized with Mr. Newell, but that if the court granted the continuance asked for, it might be a dangerous precedent to establish. He said that he had been retained by Senator Brown, who was in Idaho on business, that he was unable to return an account of the deep snow there in that state. In reply to this, Mr. Westervelt said that he deeply sympathized with Mr. Newell, but that if the court granted the continuance asked for, it might be a dangerous precedent to establish. He said that he had been retained by Senator Brown, who was in Idaho on business, that he was unable to return an account of the deep snow there in that state. In reply to this, Mr. Westervelt said that he deeply sympathized with Mr. Newell, but that if the court granted the continuance asked for, it might be a dangerous precedent to establish. He said that he had been retained by Senator Brown, who was in Idaho on business, that he was unable to return an account of the deep snow there in that state. In reply to this, Mr. Westervelt said that he deeply sympathized with Mr. Newell, but that if the court granted the continuance asked for, it might be a dangerous precedent to establish. He said that he had been retained by Senator Brown, who was in Idaho on business, that he was unable to return an account of the deep snow there in that state. In reply to this, Mr. Westervelt said that he deeply sympathized with Mr. Newell, but that if the court granted the continuance asked for, it might be a dangerous precedent to establish. He said that he had been retained by Senator Brown, who was in Idaho on business, that he was unable to return an account of the deep snow there in that state. In reply to this, Mr. Westervelt said that he deeply sympathized with Mr. Newell, but that if the court granted the continuance asked for, it might be a dangerous precedent to establish. He said that he had been retained by Senator Brown, who was in Idaho on business, that he was unable to return an account of the deep snow there in that state. In reply to this, Mr. Westervelt said that he deeply sympathized with Mr. Newell, but that if the court granted the continuance asked for, it might be a dangerous precedent to establish. He said that he had been retained by Senator Brown, who was in Idaho on business, that he was unable to return an account of the deep snow there in that state. In reply to this, Mr. Westervelt said that he deeply sympathized with Mr. Newell, but that if the court granted the continuance asked for, it might be a dangerous precedent to establish. He said that he had been retained by Senator Brown, who was in Idaho on business, that he was unable to return an account of the deep snow there in that state. In reply to this, Mr. Westervelt said that he deeply sympathized with Mr. Newell, but that if the court granted the continuance asked for, it might be a dangerous precedent to establish. He said that he had been retained by Senator Brown, who was in Idaho on business, that he was unable to return an account of the deep snow there in that state. In reply to this, Mr. Westervelt said that he deeply sympathized with Mr. Newell, but that if the court granted the continuance asked for, it might be a dangerous precedent to establish. He said that he had been retained by Senator Brown, who was in Idaho on business, that he was unable to return an account of the deep snow there in that state. In reply to this, Mr. Westervelt said that he deeply sympathized with Mr. Newell, but that if the court granted the continuance asked for, it might be a dangerous precedent to establish. He said that he had been retained by Senator Brown, who was in Idaho on business, that he was unable to return an account of the deep snow there in that state. In reply to this, Mr. Westervelt said that he deeply sympathized with Mr. Newell, but that if the court granted the continuance asked for, it might be a dangerous precedent to establish. He said that he had been retained by Senator Brown, who was in Idaho on business, that he was unable to return an account of the deep snow there in that state. In reply to this, Mr. Westervelt said that he deeply sympathized with Mr. Newell, but that if the court granted the continuance asked for, it might be a dangerous precedent to establish. He said that he had been retained by Senator Brown, who was in Idaho on business, that he was unable to return an account of the deep snow there in that state. In reply to this, Mr. Westervelt said that he deeply sympathized with Mr. Newell, but that if the court granted the continuance asked for, it might be a dangerous precedent to establish. He said that he had been retained by Senator Brown, who was in Idaho on business, that he was unable to return an account of the deep snow there in that state. In reply to this, Mr. Westervelt said that he deeply sympathized with Mr. Newell, but that if the court granted the continuance asked for, it might be a dangerous precedent