The tornado was accompanied by terrific thunder, the most vivid lightning, and drenching rain.

The Sun labors under a misapprehension in regard to the United States troops marching into Salt Lake City with artillery and music, and the giving up by the citizens of the plan of celebrating the Fourth of July. But that such a misapprehension should exist at the time this article was written in New York is not to be wondered at when the numerous lies which were sent from here by the "ring" and its satellites, over the telegraph wires, are remembered. The only wonder is that the San has got the matter as straight as it is. It doubtless knows before this that instead of the celebration of the Fourth of July being given up in cous quence of the action of which its peaks, it was never participated in with such great enthusiasm or greatly all classes of citizens on any recent anniversary.
