

MRS. BRADLEY ON THE STAND TODAY

Proved a Very Unwilling Witness In the Case Against Arthur Brown.

REFUSED TO ANSWER QUESTIONS

Rodney C. Badger, Clinton Lowe and Mrs. Nellie C. Taylor Among The Witnesses.

"My womanhood rebels against testifying in this case and I cannot do it. This man is the father of my children and I will not do it." Such is the statement of Mrs. Annie M. Bradley when called to the witness stand this morning by County Atty. Westervelt to testify against former Senator Arthur Brown, who is being tried upon the charge of adultery alleged to have been committed with Mrs. Bradley on April 16, 1903. Several times the woman refused to answer questions put to her by the county attorney which referred to the particular transaction set out in the information. She admitted that she had pleaded guilty to the same charge and that the defendant was the father of her children, but refused to testify any more definitely in regard to the charge against Brown.

She nearly gave way to her emotions on several occasions but with a supreme effort controlled herself. After being on the stand for several minutes she was excused until this afternoon so that she might go to her home and secure letters which she had received from Brown in the past year. At that time it is expected that she will present the letters in court. She was the second witness examined by the state this morning. When her name was called, Deputy Sheriff Steele retired to the county attorney's office where he was waiting and escorted her to the court room. She was sworn in by Clerk Buckwalter.

In answer to questions by Mr. Westervelt she said that she had known the defendant for a number of years. "Did you see defendant on April 16, 1903?" asked the attorney.

Addressing herself to Judge Morse the witness said:

"If your honor please I am here in obedience to the summons of the court. I have pleaded guilty to this charge but I cannot bring myself to my womanhood rebels against testifying in this case. I cannot do it."

In answer to her statement Judge Morse said that she would not be compelled to testify to any matters that would degrade or ruin her character. Another similar question was asked of her by the county attorney to which she replied: "I don't wish to answer that, Judge, it is dishonoring my children and I cannot do it. I said my womanhood rebels against this. This man is the father of my children and I will not do it."

Judge Morse did not compel her to answer the question, so Mr. Westervelt asked her if she had received any letters from the defendant in the past year. She replied that she had but said that she did not have them with her. Upon the suggestion of the county attorney she was excused by the court until this afternoon so that she might get the letters.

The first witness called to the stand this morning was Col. E. W. Tatlock. He told of the conversation which took place between himself, Mrs. Brown, Mrs. Bradley and the defendant in the presence of a stenographer in a room at the Cullen hotel on Sept. 2, 1902. Mrs. Brown said at that time that she had caught the defendant and Mrs. Bradley in a room at the hotel the night before. The defendant stated to the witness and Mrs. Brown that he would protect Mrs. Bradley. That he would either get a divorce from Mrs. Brown or compel her to get one from him and he would marry Mrs. Bradley a week after the divorce was secured.

After Mrs. Bradley testified, Rodney C. Badger, Clinton Lowe and Mrs. Nellie C. Taylor were examined on behalf of the state. The first said that he was agent for the house in which Mrs. Bradley lived at 31 South Second West street, and that the defendant paid the rent for it with his personal checks. Mrs. Lowe testified that she owned the house in which Mrs. Bradley lived in 1901 and that he had seen defendant there very often to see her. Mrs. Taylor resided next door to Mrs. Bradley on Second West street and said that she had seen defendant there many times, that she could not keep track of them.

At the afternoon session of court yesterday Samuel Dowse was the first witness called to the stand by the state. Attorney Rogers asked him to introduce any testimony that would tend to contradict the testimony of Mrs. Hayden, which was admitted upon affidavit, she being unable to attend court. In the affidavit it was stated that she would testify that Mrs. Bradley was not at her rooming house on the night in question. It was contended by the defense that when District Attorney Eichen admitted that the witness would testify as stated, that she had admitted the truth of such testimony. The point was argued at length, but Judge Morse finally overruled the objection and the testimony was then proceeded with.

Mr. Dowse and the witness who followed him, Elliot Reed, testified that they followed Mrs. Bradley on the night in question from her home to Senator Brown's room and saw her enter and then saw both of them leave. They also saw her leave the room the next morning. Deputy Sheriff Steele and Cowan testified to the arrest of Mrs. Bradley.

JONES WINS.

Oregon Short Line Losses Condemnation Suits on West Side Property.

The jury in the condemnation suits of the Oregon Short Line Railroad company against W. R. Jones, Jr., et al., were tried jointly in Judge Stewart's court. This morning returned verdicts in favor of defendants. In the first action the verdict was for a total of $12,731.50 and in the second it was for $9,737.50, at which amounts the jury fixed the value of the property condemned. The property consisted of 39 rods by 82½ feet of ground located on the northwest corner of Second South and Third West streets.

Anderson Divorce.

Suit for divorce has been filed in the district court today by Christian Anderson against Carrie H. Anderson on the ground of desertion. They were married at Miami on May 9, 1893, and it is alleged that defendant deserted her husband on Nov. 22, 1893. Plaintiff asks the custody of their two children who are now living with him at Murray.

Wants to be Administrator.

A petition for letters of administration of the estate of Patrick Kinsella, deceased, who died in this city on March 18, 1904, is filed in the probate division of the district court today by S. D. Evans, a creditor of the estate, who asks that the Utah Savings &

Trust company be appointed administrator. The estate consists of cash on deposit amounting to $3,092. It is alleged in the petition that decedent left no heirs and hence a creditor of the estate is entitled to letters of administration. The petition will be heard by Judge Hall on Friday, April 8, 1904.

"OUR JESSE" SMITH.

American Sheep Breeder Says Some Very Nice Things About Him.

The March number of the American Sheep Breeder and Wool Grower, published at Chicago, publishes a large half-tone portrait of Hon. Jesse M. Smith of this city, western vice president of the National Wool Growers' association. In the complimentary notice printed with the portrait, the magazine says: "Mr. Smith has been called the father of the wool growing industry in Utah. He has been in the forefront of every advance movement for the upbuilding of the sheep and wool industry in Utah from the pioneer flock-building period in the intermountain state down to the present time, always and everywhere a wise, conservative, able and courageous leader of the shepherd forces of his state. There have been others of his kindred 'Mormon' shepherds as strong and as forceful in executive quality, but none more gifted in kindness of spirit, honesty of heart, purpose and work than Jesse M. Smith, and certainly no western man who is better entitled to or more worthily wear vice presidential honors in the leading wool growers' association of the United States. With the great army of American wool growers, nearly 1,000,000 strong, the Sheep Breeder congratulates Mr. Smith upon his well won honors and gives him a wish for many another year of honorable achievement in his chosen field of work."

THE CLARK LECTURES.

"King Robert of Sicily," "Spanish Gipsy," and Miscellaneous Readings.

Yesterday afternoon Prof. Clark gave his dramatic recital of Longfellow's "Robert of Sicily." Owing to the severe weather just at this particular time, the crowd was rather smaller than usual. But the recital was up to the standard of Mr. Clark's readings. The poem is not only one of Longfellow's best and most popular, but is so simple and so expressive in its simplicity that it is almost impossible to get out of its full meaning and beauty. Those, therefore, who attended this recital will be likely to take up this gem of literature with new zest and enjoyment.

Prof. Clark explained that the tragic ideal does not require the physical death of the hero. It may be only a death to things that he ought to be alive to. In the case of Robert of Sicily, there is a death to the estimation of the king's office, a death to the humility that ought to characterize a ruler of men. This story is exquisitely simple. It is of course an allegory. The theme is an old one and has been expressed by the poets of the world—pride and its punishment. Analyzed, it falls naturally into six acts, which are: The temptation, involving a choice; the fall; the suffering; the confession; the confession of guilt; the public confession; and, finally, the restoration.

Pr. Clark read it with excellent effect, pausing every now and then to explain the force of a word, of a description, or a general truth. In this reading and interpretation Mr. Clark showed how much one can get from such a simple piece of literature as this exquisite bit of narrative. Naturally enough, we expect when we take up a play of Shakespeare or some other of the greatest writers, to get some new and hitherto hidden meaning. We often read, that is, name over the words of the poet, and we are surprised to find that we have never thought or felt "Oh, there isn't anything here to require thought!" This latter thought, it should be justice to Mr. Clark be said, was not part of the recital. It is only a reflection of ours that we naturally deduce from what we heard.

George Eliot's "Spanish Gipsy" was the professor's theme last night and right away it was presented. The audience, too, was magnificent, considering the wildness of the night. While Prof. Clark is an ardent admirer of Eliot poetry as well as prose and reads and interprets it in masterly style, the fact must ever remain that his prose is stronger than her poetry, though the latter not infrequently approaches it. Indeed it does not reach sublimity itself.

This afternoon Prof. Clark is giving a variety program before the higher grade pupils of the public schools and tonight he will appear at Barratt hall as usual. His subject will be "Miscellaneous Readings."

TO BE ART COLLECTORS.

Students of the L. D. S. U. Choose Committees for Decoration of Hall.

In accordance with the motion of Prof. Clark, as told yesterday in the "News," that the students of the institution form themselves into a club for the purchase of works of art with which to decorate Barratt hall, the school assembly this morning resolved to elect a committee of action. It was decided that a committee be appointed from each class, who shall have in hand the work of collecting the nominal fees that are due from each student. This committee will also select the pictures to be purchased from time to time as the funds are raised.

Nominations for committee were called for from the various class organizations. The preparatory department chose Willard Bullock, Robert Butler, Mabel Murphy and Eugene Grant. The first year class chose Henry Wood, Hattie Welsh, and Walter Stead. The second year organization presented the names of H. G. Richards, Helen Whitney, Abbie Cowley and H. E. Eakle. The representatives of the third year class on this committee are Maud Neely, Ray Gledhill, Alfonso Tanner and Laura Young. The fourth year class named the following standard bearers: Maud Baxter, Thomas Brighton, John Sharp and Addie Cannon. The short-hand department will be represented by George B. Standing, Ethel Snow, and Blair Richardson. The bookkeeping department named as its committee John W. Scowcroft, Edward Day and Jessie Maxwell. C. H. Sprague, president of the commercial society, is to be associated as chairman with the two last named committees.

It was then moved and carried that

Will You Help a Sick Friend? Get My Book For Him Now.

Send me no money. Only tell me which book to send. You certainly know of some one who is sick—some sufferer who will be grateful for the help my book offers.

And that book tells of a way to help. Tell of a way to certain that I, as a physician, offer that help on trial. The book tells how for 30 years in hospitals and at bedside I saw the nerves cure despondent and difficult diseases. It tells how I perfected my prescription—Dr. Shoop's Restorative. How by scientific treatment I traced out the causes that bring on chronic diseases.

I found invariably that where there was a weakness, the inside nerves were weak. Where there was a lack of vitality that the vital nerves lacked power. Where weak organs were found, I always found weak nerves. Not the nerves commonly thought of, but the vital organs' nerves, the inside—the invisible nerves. This was a revelation. Then my real success began.

Then I combined ingredients that would strengthen, that would vitalize these nerves. That prescription I called a restorative. It is known the world over now as Dr. Shoop's Restorative. After that I did not look for cure in each case. In the extremely difficult cases my failures for five years were one in each forty treated. I found cancer incurable. Cancer is for surgery, not medicine.

Then how to get this prescription to sick ones everywhere was my thought. I sent it in the public press. But, thought I, will they realize the truth of my discovery—the real power of Dr. Shoop's Restorative? Then I will offer it to you—like an inspiration. I will offer it to the sick on trial. Then they will know I am sincere.

I wrote a reliable druggist in each city and village in America. They agreed to cooperate with me.

Now by any sick one

Dr. Shoop's Restorative.

Can be taken on trial. For a full month I will let you use it entirely at my risk. Send no money. Just write me for the book you need. When I send it I will tell you of a druggist near by who will permit the book to be used on trial. Use the Restorative a month. Then decide. If you say to the druggist, "It did not help me," that will relieve you of any expense whatever. He will still let the book to me.

This is my way of clearing your mind of all doubts as to what Dr. Shoop's Restorative can do. No matter how prejudiced, you cannot dispute this absolute security I offer. You cannot regret an offer like this if you are at all honest. If you have a weakness, write me. If you can't do things like you used to do, tell me about it.

Write in confidence. As a physician I will tell you a way to help. Get my book now—today.

Simply state Book 1 on Dyspepsia, with book on the Heart. Book 2 on the Kidneys, Book 3 on the Liver, Book 4 for Women, Book 5 for Men, Book 6 on Rheumatism. Mild cases, not chronic, are often cured with one or two bottles. At druggists.

the president of the general Students' society, Joseph B. Harris, should be elected chairman of the committee of the whole, also that the committee meet today and proceed with the work in hand.

President Paul congratulated the students upon their unanimity in this movement and upon the honorable function which had fallen to their lot in beginning the artistic decoration of the hall. "It is a good thing," he said, "to be at the beginning of movements and at the foundation of institutions," and remarked further that the matter which had been voluntarily taken up by the student body could safely be left in their hands.

DEATH OF MRS. LIGGAN.

Well Known Resident Passes Away After Three Weeks' Illness.

Mrs. Ellen C. Liggan died this morning at 5 o'clock, at her residence, 618 south East Temple street, of kidney trouble, after an illness of three weeks. She was 53 years of age and was born in County Armagh, Ireland, and was formerly of Park City and Ogden. She leaves surviving her three daughters, Misses Margaret, Annie and Lula. No arrangements have as yet been made for the funeral.

WOMAN ROBBER CAUGHT.

Lucin Cut-off Laborer Her Victim—Apprehended in Ogden.

Lucile Barton, known to the demimonde as "Big Lucile," has been arrested at Ogden for a robbery committed here on Sunday night, March 6. She will be brought back to this city by Detective Hume who left for her this afternoon.

The victim of the robbery is a man named Frank Adair, who was employed on the Lucin cut-off. He came here for a "good time" and got it—and with trimmings he did not look for. He visited "Big Lucile" at her rooms on Commercial and Second South street, and when he regained consciousness, he was minus $40 in cash, a gold watch and chain valued at $50, a diamond ring worth $45 and an opal ring worth $12. It is alleged that the woman robbed him and then fled to Ogden. The officers have been looking for her ever since and when she was arrested at the Junction city they were much pleased. She will be tried for grand larceny.

FEDERAL COURT.

The case of Paul Akridge vs. the Daily-West Mining company has been transferred from Summit county. The plaintiff asks for $25,000 damages for injuries sustained by a cave in the mine, in which he received very serious injuries.

W. G. Bleak, F. H. Hyde, Jr., and Ella Weber have been discharged in bankruptcy, and William Peterson and Olaf J. Carlson have been adjudged bankrupts.

W. H. Sherman, William Connell, C. L. Perbasco, F. M. Cook and C. E. Hadison, applicants in bankruptcy, filed pauper affidavits along with their petitions, but Judge Marshall has issued an order for all to show cause on April 4 why they should not pay the regular fees.

BUSINESS NOTES.

Today's local bank clearings amounted to $427,009.63, as against $510,599.93 for the same day last year.

MILITARY CONTROL TWO COUNTIES.

San Miguel and Las Animas Are Both Quiet and Peaceful Up To Present Time.

NO PRESS CENSORSHIP YET.

All Mill Companies Ordered Out—Peabody's Action Declared To be Unwarranted.

Denver, March 24.—Military law is in operation today in two Colorado counties—San Miguel and Las Animas. Reports from both districts are to the effect that conditions at present are peaceful. At Telluride, San Miguel county, press censorship is exercised and no news is sent out except such as is approved by the military authorities. No press censorship has yet been established at Trinidad or other towns in the coal fields.

At the capitol no secret is made of the fact that the purpose in declaring martial law in San Miguel county is to prevent the return to Telluride of the union men who were expelled from the camp by the armed organization of business men and who have announced their intention to go back under protection of an injunction granted by Dist. Judge Theron Stevens. Capt. Bulkeley Wells, whom Gov. Peabody has appointed military commander of the district, was one of the leaders of the party that drove the union men and their sympathizers out of the camp. He has said that if the exiles should attempt to return they would be regarded as characters likely to create disorder in the district and would be dealt with accordingly.

All companies of the national guard that have not already been ordered out are under orders to be prepared to take the field at short notice. As yet troops of a Telluride only is on duty at that place but it is unofficially announced that the Meeker troops have been ordered to proceed to Telluride, and that several companies of infantry will also be sent there.

PEABODY'S ACTION UNWARRANTED.

Trinidad, Colo., March 24.—Delegates of the coal miners' unions of southern Colorado held a convention here today to consider a proposition to return to work on the terms in effect when the strike was inaugurated last fall. William Howells, president of district No. 15, United Mine Workers of America, made a strong statement in defense of his conduct of the strike. "The action of Gov. Peabody in calling out the militia and declaring martial law," he said, "is absolutely unwarranted by the conditions. There has been no violence nor any attempt of it. The only disturbance that has occurred since the strike began in November was occasioned by agents of the operators. We have counseled moderation from the beginning and we shall adhere to our policy. Reports that strikers were gathering arms is absolutely untrue. They are peaceable and obey implicitly our directions."
